Russians Gain 12 Miles More; Dakar Won Over by Darlan

GERMANS LOSE 50,000 MEN IN PINCER DRIVE

Thousands of Nazis Face Death.

(Map on page 6.)

MOSCOW, Nov. 24 [Tuesday]—(AP).—Russian troops in their great new winter offensive have smashed across the Don river to a point 100 miles northwest of Stalingrad in a great double flanking movement, it was announced today. The Russian drive has cost the Germans 50,000 casualties and threatens to exterminate thousands of other Nazi soldiers stalled near the Volga river to the east. Today was the 92d day of the German siege of Stalingrad.

92

[British observers in London estimated that between 300,000 and 400,000 German, Rumanian, and Hungarian troops were in danger of being trapped by the Russian encirclement attempt.]

A special communique—the second in two days—said that the town of Chernyshevskaya, well inside the Don river loop, had been taken in a 12 mile continuing advance. This Red army column apparently was the same that had occupied Serafimovich on the north side of the Don river loop and was striking southward to link up with other Red army units now penetrating on the lower side of the Don river.

Cut Nazi Supply Line.

This southern Red army in its effort to close a great pincers on the German besiegers of Stalingrad also made a 12 mile advance during yesterday. Having occupied Abganerova, 40 miles southwest of Stalingrad, to cut a Nazi railroad supply line, they also took Aksai, a point 10 miles farther south, and other villages.

To date the Russians said their four or five day offensive had cost the Germans this toll: 26,000 dead, including 12,000 in Monday's operations alone; 24,000 prisoners, including 11,000 taken on Monday.

In addition the communique listed this booty taken: 556 German guns, 2,826 trucks, 1,200 railway cars, 2,625 machine guns, 32 planes in working order, 35 tanks in full working order.

Destroy 157 Tanks.

"A large quantity of other weapons and military supplies has not yet been counted," the announcement said. "We destroyed 70 planes, 157 tanks, and 186 guns."

[The German high command admitted the Nazis were on the defensive, and late last night the Berlin radio admitted that "a gap" had been torn in axis lines on the north side of the Don river bend in the Serafimovich sector. The gap later was closed, the Germans insisted.]

The regular midnight soviet communique indicated the Germans already were in difficulties at Stalingrad itself because of the punishing soviet flanking blows above and below the city.

Both in the northern factory district of the Volga river city and in the southern region soviet troops were advancing, occupying "many enemy fortifications and strongholds."

Kill Hundreds of Nazis.

"Hundreds of enemy dead remained on the battlefield," this communique said of the fight within the city.

Giving some details of the greater offensive this communique, issued after the special bulletin, said:

"Northwest of Stalingrad our troops continued advancing successfully. The enemy, in striving to stem the advance of Red army units, hurriedly sent up infantry and tank divisions and hurled them into action. A fierce battle ensued.

"Our tankmen broke into the flank of the enemy troops and disorganized their defenses. Soviet infantry following the tanks went into attack and defeated the Hitlerites. Pursuing the enemy, our troops captured several populated places."

In addition to Chernyshevskaya and Aksai, the villages seized at both ends of the Red army offensive were listed as Perelazovsky, Pogodinsky, and Tundutova.

This encouraging feat of soviet arms, sprung as winter again was gripping the vast Russian front, extended deep into the Caucasus and also as far north as the Kalinin front northwest of Moscow.

MacARTHUR MEN MOP UP JAPS IN GUINEA PORT

U.S. Troops Fight on to Take Buna.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, Nov. 24 [Tuesday]—(AP).—The Japanese New Guinea coastal base of Gona has been entered by Gen. MacArthur's Australian troops, but the enemy still is putting up heavy resistance to American troops at Buna, 12 miles to the south, a communique said today.

Supported by allied warplanes, the left wing of the allied advance entered Gona after several days of heavy fighting, then wheeled southward along the coast toward Sananda, an intervening enemy held point, in the attempt to link up with an American army drive from the south.

The southern wing of United States troops occupied Cape Endaladere in their advance to Buna, the communique said, without giving any details of the operations.

Air Forces Are Active.

Australian patrols had first entered Gona Nov. 22 and were followed yesterday by a larger force which was reported mopping up remaining pockets of Japanese resistance.

The communique made no mention of any further enemy shipping off the coast in a possible attempt to save the land forces. The presence of allied bombers in the area made any such enemy venture exceedingly risky.

The air fighters also were active from New Guinea to Timor. Attack planes and medium bombers raided Japanese occupied Beco and Raimean on Timor and an allied reconnaissance unit downed an enemy fighter which attempted an interception over Vitiaz strait, New Guinea.

ADVANCE IN SOLOMONS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 23 (AP).—Pushing steadily westward despite heavy enemy opposition, American marines are slowly driving the Japanese back toward the northern tip of Guadalcanal Island in the Solomons, the navy reported today.

Fighting and bombing planes also are joining in the attack intended to sweep the enemy back to the Japanese beachhead, and ultimately to force them from the island.

Air Force Out of Fight.

Lack of mention of either enemy planes or surface craft in the navy's short communique today was regarded as an indication that the available Japanese air force may have been damaged so severely that only ground action is practicable pending repairs or replacements.

The last aerial attack by the enemy was 11 days ago when 31 bombers and Zero fighters roared down on surface craft off Guadalcanal. Navy fighting planes sped to meet the assault, aided by deadly fire of anti-aircraft guns. Only one enemy plane escaped.

That attack was part of the slugging battle which smashed an invasion fleet headed for Guadalcanal, sending 28 enemy ships to the bottom and damaging 10 others.

Meet Stubborn Opposition.

In the fighting on land the marines and army troops have moved forward steadily for several days. But they have met stubborn opposition. The navy, telling today of the ground battle yesterday, gave no indication of how far to the west the fighting has progressed.

The fighting apparently is somewhere west of the Matanikau river, five miles from Henderson airfield, prize of the battle. Two days ago the navy said army and marine corps troops had fought their way west of Point Cruz, on the northwestern coast just beyond the river.

Roosevelt Signs Bill for Women's Coast Guard Unit

Washington, D. C., Nov. 23 (AP).—President Roosevelt signed today legislation creating a women's reserve in the coast guard similar to those already set up in the army and navy. The new organization, which will be limited to duty in continental United States, was set up to provide replacements for men needed for active sea duty. Its members will be known as "Spars."

Nimitz Wishes His Sailors a 'Round Trip'

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 23 (AP).—Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, head man of America's victorious Pacific fleet, knows how to spice his advice with whimsy.

Adm. C. W. Nimitz.

The 12th naval district said today it had a copy of an order from the admiral to his men, entitled "Memorandum from King Neptune to Destroyer Screen," and signed "Davy Jones, by direction, C. W. Nimitz."

"On this occasion of your nth crossing of the equator," it said, "I want to wish all hands a round trip. To achieve a successful round trip may not be easy. From what I read in the papers, I believe the area where you are going is lousy with Jap submarines and small torpedo boats, in addition to a battleship or cruiser here and there.

"Offense is Prayer and You."

"These little fellows have done and will do their dirty work at night. The only offense against them is prayer and you. The big ships will do the praying, which leaves you to do the work. To sink them you must find them in the dark. You have sound, radar, and lookouts. All three of these can be just as good or just as bad as you make them.

"You can't make a soundman listen, or a lookout look, or a radarman radiate information by getting tough or putting him on the report. You've got to instill morale—an eager desire to do the job not well, but perfectly.

"To this end the captain and officers must camp on their trail—explain, discuss, persuade, cajole, practice, test, teach, check, and double check.

"Drill 24 Hours a Day."

"Tell them about the little orphans back home who'll never see 'Daddy' if he doesn't keep on his toes. If you haven't any youngsters, tell them about mine—and those who'll never be born, for lack of a father.

"Instead of having the captain, navigator, officer of the deck, and junior officer of the deck, all demanding the range and bearing of an aircraft carrier, let one of them keep demanding the range and bearing of something else—even a pixie. Anybody can recognize an aircraft carrier.

"These people [the men, not the pixies] should be drilled, trained, exercised, and urged 24 hours a day.

"You have enough officers on watch to do it, and it may prevent your wife from squandering your insurance on gewgaws and bric-a-brac."

ONE OF EACH NINE JOBS IN U. S. VITAL TO WAR, MAN POWER UNIT SAYS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 23 (AP).—One out of every nine occupations or types of jobs in American industry and agriculture is now classified as vital to war production, the War Man Power commission reported today in announcing preparation of a "master list" of essential occupations. About 3,000 of the nation's estimated 27,000 occupations are so classified in the list.

WMC officials said that none of the 700 or more types of jobs specified in earlier occupational bulletins had been deleted, and the expansion in the listed number was accomplished by defining more precisely the general titles set out in the bulletins.

For example, they said, the bulletin designation of a "general assembler" in aircraft work was shown in the master list to include assemblers of wing-tips, ailerons, and other parts, so that what was listed as one occupation before now is broken down into several occupations.

The master list of occupations will be sent out to every office of the United States employment service, which will use it as a guide in transferring workers to work more important to the war effort than that which they now perform.

WEST COAST OIL REFINERY TO BE SENT TO RUSSIA

Washington, D. C., Nov. 23 [Special].—All negotiations for the sale of the Douglas Oil refinery, near Los Angeles, Cal., to the federal government for shipment to Russia under the lend-lease program, have been completed, the Office of War Information announced today.

The Douglas plant was described as a medium sized refinery completed a little more than a year ago which produces 87 octane gasoline.

Under the lend-lease program this country is sending to Russia between $15,000,000 and $20,000,000 worth of refining equipment. The machinery, it was said, will assist Russia to replace refineries lost in the fight with the Germans.

Konk Gets No Medal, but He Deserves One!

Not all the valiant American boys are in the armed forces. This is the opinion of the Evanston police, who yesterday said they wished they had a medal for Kenneth [Konk] Alm, 10 years old.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Alm of 1520 Lincoln street, in the suburb. Mr. Alm is an investment broker. Kenneth goes to Haven school, is in the sixth grade, and likes arithmetic and sports, especially sports.

Sunday evening Mr. and Mrs. Alm went to church, leaving Kenneth and his sister Lois, 17, at home. The children were in their rooms upstairs when Kenneth heard a noise in the downstairs hall.

He Gets His Air Rifle.

"It was a kind of snapping noise," he told police, "and I was kind of scared. So I got my air rifle from under my bed where I keep it, and sneaked over to the top of the stairs.

"Down in the hall was a man wearing a brown overcoat. He was going thru mother's purse which she had left on the radiator. I started down the stairs with my gun and hollered 'Stick 'em up!' The man dropped the purse and ran back thru the hall into the kitchen.

"I went over to mother's room, which is right by the stairs and I rested my gun on a drawer of her dresser, so if anybody came up the stairs I would let him have it."

Welcome Voices.

Kenneth waited there, ready to shoot, for 40 minutes. Then he heard the front door open and heard the welcome voices of his parents, returning from church.

The police said: "Good work, Kenneth, but tell us, how long was it after you heard the man downstairs before you shouted, 'Stick 'em up.'"

"It was only a minute," said Kenneth. "I had to take some precautions. First thing, I got my pocket knife and my key chain and my coin collection and put them all under my underwear in my dresser."

Axis Air Power Slows Allied Tunisian Drive

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, North Africa, Nov. 23 (AP).—Increasing German air strength has slowed the allied advance toward Tunis and Bizerte and it is apparent that it will be some time before allied air forces can beat back the German air force to permit full scale ground attacks against the axis forces.

In the North African military situation it is clear that a real "second front in the war" must be fought before the struggle is decided.

The allies are being slowed by axis air reënforcements despite air battles in the last few days in which at least nine German planes, mostly dive bombers, have been destroyed.

Spitfires in the Fray.

The German dive bombers and fighters, which had relatively little opposition in the first few days of the struggle, now find British Spitfire fighters in the fray. When the German air force tried to support an Italian attack on a French position today Spitfires and anti-aircraft fire wiped out almost a third of the attacking force and the French routed the Italians on the ground.

The German air pressure came from bases in Sardinia and Sicily and in Tunisia itself. The Germans are estimated to have now a large number of bombers operating against the allied forces, with a corresponding number of fighters.

"Fight Going to Be Tough."

A headquarters spokesman warned that the Germans were bringing in many reserves of their own and Italian troops, in addition to increasing their air force, and said:

"The fight is going to be tough and longer than might be expected."

[In Oran Lieut. Gen. Mark W. Clark, deputy American commander in North Africa, warned that getting Tunisia from the axis would be a "scrap."]

Striking to cut the effectiveness of the axis reënforcements, the RAF bombed docks and ships at Bizerte, leaving at least one ship afire and scoring near hits on others.

Faced with the problem of bringing planes and gasoline from thousands of miles away, it will be some time before the allies can get into position to launch the full scale ground attacks needed to smash the axis in North Africa.

REPORT TWO TOWNS TAKEN

LONDON, Nov. 23 (AP).—Reuters [British] news agency reported today that allied troops "advancing rapidly along the coast" west of Bizerte had occupied Ras el Koiran and Cape Blanc.

An allied headquarters communique said:

"The concentration of British and United States troops in the eastern area [Tunisia] continues according to plan. Contacts with the enemy reported today by ground forces were minor, but in one encounter 40 axis prisoners were captured.

"Gen. Emile Bethouart has report-

U. S. LOSSES IN AFRICA PUT AT 360 KILLED, 500 MORE MISSING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 23.—Upwards of 360 members of American armed forces lost their lives in the successful occupation of North Africa, according to a war department announcement today.

This includes the army and navy personnel killed in the initial landings early on Nov. 8 and up until the end of hostilities in Morocco and Algeria, but does not cover subsequent losses in aerial activities and the fighting which is still under way in Tunisia, officials said.

In addition to those definitely reported killed, the war department placed the number of wounded at 1,050, and those missing at 500, most of whom were believed drowned.

The losses were listed as follows: Army, 350 killed, 900 wounded, and 350 missing; navy, 10 killed, 150 wounded, and 150 missing.

490 Frenchmen Killed.

LONDON, Nov. 23 (AP).—The Morocco radio tonight reported that the official list showed 490 French were killed from Nov. 8 to Nov. 10 during the period of allied operations against French forces in North Africa. The wounded totaled 969.

I'M IN COMMAND OF WEST AFRICA, ADMIRAL SAYS

Petain Tells French: Resist Aggression.

Deny Petain Arrest

New York, Nov. 23 (AP).—The German radio gave circulation tonight to a rumor that Marshal Petain had been arrested by denying a so-called radio report to that effect. To some observers this broadcast in itself served to cast doubt on the status of the aged French chief of state.

The Berlin radio, as heard here, said: "While the radio Cairo announced at 6:25 tonight that Marshal Petain has been arrested, the marshal himself was making a coöperation broadcast to French West Africa."

No such Cairo broadcast had been heard in allied capitals.

LONDON, Nov. 23 (AP).—All French West Africa, including the strategic naval base of Dakar, has come under the orders of Adm. Jean Darlan, the admiral declared tonight. This indicated that Dakar, for two years a potential dagger pointed at the western hemisphere, had fallen to the allies without bloodshed.

Darlan, the former Vichy defense chief who led all North Africa into the allied camp three days after the British-American expedition of Lieut. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower had set foot in Vichy territory, made the announcement from the Algiers radio and it was rebroadcast from Marshal Petain's capital.

[Secretary of State Cordell Hull yesterday announced a satisfactory new agreement with the high commissioner at Martinique covering the status of French Caribbean colonies and French Guiana. Details are on page 5.]

Petain Counters Darlan Move.

Petain tonight countered Darlan's move with a special radio broadcast beamed at French West Africa in which the aged marshal called upon French soldiers, sailors, and aviators to resist "if you are attacked," adding: "Whatever happens you must faithfully carry out my orders."

Petain, who according to Darlan is not free to speak his mind, thus reiterated his broadcast of four days ago. At that time he denounced Darlan and Gen. Henri Giraud for aiding the allies and directed French troops not to obey Giraud but "to resist the Anglo-Saxon aggression."

The German radio quoted Fernand de Brinon, Vichy ambassador to Paris, as saying that Pierre Laval, Vichy chief of government, was forming a "volunteer corps" to be known as "the African Falange," to fight against the allies in North Africa.

Troops "Ready to Leave."

"Applications may be made thruout France and members of the French armistice army will be admitted," De Brinon said.

A French volunteer group is ready to leave for Africa "in defense of the French empire," De Brinon added.

Darlan, in his broadcast, said West Africa had "placed itself freely under my orders" and that Gov. Gen. Pierre Boisson and Gen. M. Barreau, commander of the extensive land, sea, and air forces at the Dakar stronghold, were joining Gen. Giraud, Gen. August Nogues of Morocco, and Gov. Gen. Yves Chatel of Algeria under his leadership.

Get 500 Mile Coast Line.

French West Africa is the largest unit of the French empire, embracing an area of 1,815,768 square miles and a population of 15,000,000, and including the Senegal, French Guinea, the French Sudan, the Ivory Coast, Dahomey, Mauretania, and Niger.

Its following of the leadership of Darlan gives the united nations a 500 mile Atlantic coast line and a strategic territory stretching more than 2,000 miles into the heart of the continent.

New bases from which to fight the axis U-boats and surface raiders attacking shipping lanes are acquired, and Italian Libya, from which Field

MIDWEST YANKS GET BAPTISM OF FIRE NEAR BUNA

Advance Thru the Jungle on Their Stomachs.

BY E. R. NODERER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH ADVANCE AMERICAN FORCES IN NEW GUINEA, Nov. 20 [Delayed]. — American infantrymen, many of them from the middle west, stood up well to their baptism of fire when they launched an attack against Buna area defense positions yesterday.

Squirming forward on their stomachs thru the jungle in a pouring rain, they advanced steadily in the face of heavy rifle, machine gun and mortar fire.

The first objective of the units THE TRIBUNE correspondent is with is Cape Endaiadere, three miles from Buna.

The Japs are heavily entrenched east of Buna. Well camouflaged positions make them difficult to spot, and every time a soldier puts his head up he draws fire. On the cape the Japs have what appears to be an anti-aircraft gun. It is believed to be trying to hit Australian artillery operating with the Yanks.

Use All the Old Tricks.

Artillery has been used to soften up the enemy, but it is difficult to find a target in the jungle.

As this story is being written the Japs are up to all their old tricks, according to a colonel.

"When we started moving up they let the first group go by and half of the second, and then opened fire on the other group," he said. "At the same time they exploded strings of firecrackers on our flanks. They made a lot of noise, but I don believe many Japs were there."

The officers were pleased to find that the Jap tricks of using firecrackers, shouting and spraying bullets from their weapons into the air to give the impression of great numbers, didn't disturb the American troops.

Japs Art Tattooed.

The Japs were reported to have sent in reënforcements by night. The continual rain with a haze over the sea is the type of weather the Japs use in bringing in shipping.

Soon after the action began the Americans captured a machine gun post, killing four men. Several of them had anchors tattooed on their bodies and anchor insignia on their equipment. This indicated they were members of crack marine landing units. One had a 1,000 stitch good luck belt, the stitches forming a tiger. Worked in red thread on white cloth, each stitch carried the good wishes of the person who had applied it.

The dead Japs were from 5 feet 8 inches to 5 feet 10 inches tall. Their equipment was in good condition.

Pvt. First Class Kenneth M. Sorenson, Oakland, Cal., was out on patrol when he said "I felt like I'd been hit in the chest with a baseball." Sorenson looked beneath his right arm and saw the end of a Jap .25 caliber bullet sticking out. He pulled it out and is little the worse for wear.

Sorenson, who entered the army Jan. 5, 1942, said the Japs "chattered like a bunch of tobacco auctioneers" attempting to confuse the Americans.

The officer commanding the task force has been with most of the forward elements. Once he went so far forward on a personal reconnaissance that he was fired on by both sides.

The Tribune correspondent, traveling with the task force commander, arrived at an advanced command post six miles from Buna on Nov. 16. A mile and a quarter away was a Japanese occupied airfield.

We arrived hours before the first combat troops reached the area. At 8 p. m. the Japs opened fire with mortars, altho the attack did not begin until three days later when one American force went up the coast and another attacked the air strip.

From the spot where this is being written, Australian artillery shells and American mortar bombs can be seen exploding on the Jap positions. Unlike the Milne bay campaign or the Kokoda trail battle, this offensive has been carried on without air support so far.

Corp. Delos A. Leland of Marshfield, Wis., was wounded in the hip and hand when he opened on a party of Japs with his Garand rifle when he stumbled upon them 15 feet away.

ADM. KING MARKS RETIREMENT AGE, BUT HE STAYS ON

Washington, D. C., Nov. 23 [Special].—Adm. Ernest J. King, commander of the United States fleet and chief of naval operations, today became 64 years old, the age at which most officers retire, but he gave no indication that he plans retirement while the war is in progress.

Sixty-four is the legal retirement age for all officers except those of top rank with active command. The law provides that the exceptions should not be subject to retirement until their work is finished.

Associates of Adm. King describe him as being in good health. He is slender and sharp-eyed and believes in taking care of himself. He spends as much time as possible in exercise and recreation, which consists chiefly in walking since he came to Washington last December from command of the Atlantic fleet.

42 DIE AS U-BOAT SINKS FREIGHTER IN 10 SECONDS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 23.—Forty-two seamen were killed when a submarine torpedoed and sank their freighter in 10 seconds off the northern coast of South America, the navy announced today. The sinking occurred this month.

Six crew members were rescued. The announcement said the ship, a British vessel, had been at sea for 11 months, touching at numerous allied ports, and that its crew had been looking forward to spending Christmas at home.

The sinking was one of two announced today. The other ship, also a British freighter, was sunk in March in the Caribbean area. Details were not announced. The attacks brought to 534 the number of vessels sunk in the western Atlantic area since Pearl Harbor, according to an unofficial tabulation by the Associated Press. The sinkings have cost the lives of 3,604 persons, 1,969 are missing, and 16,209 have been rescued.

FAITH, COURAGE OF RICKENBACKER AND HIS MEN TOLD

Creator Is Nearer Now, Colonel Writes Wife.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 23 (AP).—The faith and courage which sustained Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker and his men as they drifted on tiny rafts in the Pacific was described in a letter received here today by Mrs. Helen Lyon Adamson from her husband, Col. Hans Christian Adamson, Rickenbacker's senior military observer on the flight.

The letter, read in an NBC news broadcast, said in part:

"It would be difficult, or in fact impossible, for me to recall all our experiences. Just now I am trying to get a new outlook on life. I need this badly, since sitting on a rubber life raft for more than three weeks is pretty 'tough turkey.'

"An Everlasting Beacon."

"As we had neither food nor water, all I can say is that thru the hell of it all your presence was an everlasting beacon that gave me the hope and will and determination to live.

"Even when we almost went out, one of the things that made me suffer most was the torture which I knew you were facing. Rick and I knew we were alive but you did not and there was no way we could get word to you.

"On Friday afternoon we were spotted by a marine corps plane and later in the evening we were picked up, and you can't imagine the prayers of thanks we offered. While the drifting was a horrible experience something wonderful has come of it.

Found Nearness to God.

"I have found a nearness to our Creator which I have never known before and I am certain that this new feeling is going to deeply affect both of our lives in the future. . . .

"Meanwhile I am lying flat on my back in the hospital here trying to readjust all the things that went out of adjustment plus the effort of getting rid of too many salt water sores."

NO VERDICT IN PLUNGE DEATH.

A coroner's jury yesterday was unable to determine whether the death of the Rev. George Guna, 51 years old, pastor of the Zion Slovak Lutheran church, was accidental. He was killed in a plunge from the 18th floor of the Republic building, 209 South State street, early Saturday.

VOTE TO REDUCE REPORTS ASKED FROM BUSINESS

Inquiry on Motives Also Sought.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 23.—A bill seeking to soften the burden of government questionnaires and reports required of business enterprises was passed unanimously by the senate today after Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.] had expressed the fear that New Deal regimenters are trying to lay a foundation for nationalization of industry after the war.

The bill was sponsored by the senate small business committee, headed by Sen. James E. Murray [D., Mont.]. Sen. Vandenberg supported it as "a fine start in the right direction" but said it should not interfere with a proposed congressional investigation of the manner and form of questionnaires, reports, and other methods of inquiry to which citizens and corporations are subjected by government agencies.

Call for Investigation.

A resolution calling for such an investigation by the joint committee on the reduction of nonessential federal expenditures, headed by Sen. Harry F. Byrd [D., Va.], was introduced jointly by Vandenberg and Byrd today.

The bill sponsored by the small business committee, which was passed on the senate's unanimous consent calendar and sent to the house, declares it to be the policy of congress that information required by government agencies should be obtained with a minimum burden upon business enterprises and individuals.

It directs the budget bureau to investigate and coördinate the information-collecting services of all government agencies for the purpose of reducing the burden wherever possible. The budget bureau would be authorized to reject or approve all plans for the collection of information before they could be adopted or revised by government agencies.

Called "Insufferable Burden."

The congressional investigation is necessary, Sen. Vandenberg told the senate, for "a total disclosure of what has become an almost insufferable burden upon American business in respect to questionnaires, reports, regulations, and rules which are descending upon it like a snowstorm seven days a week."

"Also," he said, "questionnaires in respect to rationing are often more perplexing, confusing, and irritating than they need to be."

The burden of government reports is "nothing short of staggering, not only in expense and irritation but from the standpoint of wasting man power which ought to be used for other and better purposes at the present time," Vandenberg continued.

Heavy Extra Cost.

"For example," he said, "a manufacturer from Illinois was in my office this morning. He told me that it has cost him $55,000 in nine months to answer government questionnaires. He has a plant with 2,000 employés."

When the last tax bill was in conference, Vandenberg said, a New York manufacturer complained that the so-called victory tax provision as approved by the senate would require four freight car loads of reports from his company at the end of each calendar year. Fortunately, the senator said, the conferees were able to change the language so that reports under the social security law could be used.

"I very much fear that there is a deeper purpose in some of these reports," Vandenberg concluded. "I particularly refer to the OPA. I know of no reason on earth to justify the so-called A and B financial reports which the OPA required of 25,000 corporations last April, except to lay the foundation not only for regimentation but perhaps for nationalization after the war is over."

SOLDIERS QUELL REVOLT IN JAP INTERNEES' CAMP

Five Day Riot of 6,500 Is Put Down.

Parker, Ariz., Nov. 23 [Special].—Armed military police swarmed into the Japanese relocation center near here today and ended without bloodshed a five day uprising by a group of pro-Axis Japanese.

The "rebellion" had held the center's largest unit in a virtual state of seige and caused work stoppage among the unit's several thousand alien Japanese recently evacuated from the Pacific coast.

Described as a "small but well organized group," the rebels forced resignation of the community council last Wednesday, placed their own appointees in office and called for a work stoppage. At one time, they barricaded themselves in the community jail and defied camp authorities' demands that they surrender. At another, they raised banners bearing Japanese characters and played Japanese military music over a loud speaker system.

Closely Guarded Secret.

The uprising has been a closely guarded secret and W. Wade Head, superintendent, told of it only after military police stepped in. Head described the military group which took control as "a strong force," but declined to state their number or the methods used in restoring order. Likewise, he refused to say whether the recalcitrants had been placed under arrest and what action, if any, will be taken against them.

However Norris James, intelligence officer, said military police are patroling the entire area, including roads leading to the center and the Colorado river "to prevent escape" of any Japanese.

The revolt involved only unit No. 1—the largest of the center's three units—and Head said the governments and residents of the other two units "have coöperated loyally with the administration."

Protested Jailing of Two.

Head said the rebellious group had protested the jailing of two men on charges of assault to kill in an altercation and had taken advantage of the situation "to seize control and create a general strike." He indicated he believed the protest was simply a means to an end to "deliberately attempt to destroy the Americanism of the American born Japanese."

This failed, he said, because of "hundreds of fine, loyal American born Japanese who have coöperated and worked as a team in defeating all pro-axis groups without bloodshed or loss of property."

The work stoppage was accomplished, he said, because most of the workers are boys and women who were frightened by the rebels' threats, the nature of which were not disclosed.

The center, established in the greatest mass movement in America's history, is only four miles from the Colorado river, on which not far away is Boulder dam.

U. S. FLYERS SINK BIG JAP SHIP IN INDO-CHINA RAID

Illinois and Wisconsin Men Fly Planes.

BY J. REILLY O'SULLIVAN.

WITH THE AMERICAN AIR FORCES IN CHINA, Nov. 23 (AP).—Brig. Gen. Claire L. Chennault's Sky Dragons sprang another surprise on the Japanese at Haiphong, chief port in northern Indo-China, yesterday and sent to the bottom of Tonking gulf a big ship which was being used either as a transport or aircraft carrier.

Flying in a plane to the left of Lieut. Col. Herbert Morgan, who led the bombers, I saw three 500 pound bombs burst on the deck of the big gray ship as it lay at anchor hiding beside an island, and a fourth drop down the hatch.

The blast blew out one side of the stern, and as we recovered from the bouncing around that the ship's big anti-aircraft guns had been giving us we saw the vessel blazing and sinking.

The remainder of the 14 tons of bombs and 6,000 rounds of ammunition which the mission carried from its advanced base in Yunnan province were expended with devastating accuracy upon the crowded dock and warehouse area at Haiphong.

Warehouses Up in Smoke.

We saw warehouses go up in smoke and flame, and a string of bombs damage another 6,000 to 8,000 ton freighter tied up at a dock. The fighters went low and strafed and damaged a smaller 1,500 ton ship.

Haiphong was blasted by the element commanded by Capt. John Ruse of La Grange, Ill. All the bombs from these planes struck along the dock and warehouse district.

[Vichy broadcasts reported the death of 43 persons and the injury of 41 others in the raid. Tokio broadcasts said Jean Decoux, French governor general of Indo-China, hurried to the scene to inspect the damage, which was said to include St. Dominic cathedral and a school. The Haiphong raid was one of a series of week-end aerial blows delivered at the Japanese in Burma, China, and Indo-China by British, American, and Chinese fliers from Indian and Chinese bases.]

So cleverly planned was the Haiphong raid that the sky dragons encountered not a single Japanese fighter.

Anticipating retaliation, Gen. Chennault laid a trap, and when three Japanese bombers attacked an American airdrome in Kwangsi province this morning they found American night fighters waiting for them in the moonlight.

Two Bombers Shot Down.

Two of the bombers were shot down. A third was hit repeatedly in a hectic 40 mile chase thru the winding, narrow valleys in the mountains, but its destruction was not confirmed. One American fighter was shot down, but the pilot bailed out safely.

No damage was done to American installations or grounded planes.

Lieut. Joe Griffin of Pauls Valley, Okla., who participated in the chase, said he saw one Japanese crashing in flames. He dived after the other two.

Griffin said he poured 1,400 rounds into one of the foe while chasing him thru the moonlit valleys.

"I thought any moment he would crash into the hillsides, but the Jap apparently knew the terrain well," he said.

Wisconsin Piolt's Victory.

Griffin then returned home, his fighter splashed with oil from the bomber. Griffin's cowling was punctured by four bullet holes.

Maj. Harry M. Pike, of Portage, Wis., who, like Griffin, got his first certain victory in China in the night fight, was patrolling the field when he saw the Japanese formation power diving.

"I fired a practice burst to get the range, and as the bomber burst into flames I pulled off in order to escape the explosion," he said.

John Lombard, of Ionia, Mich., made one pass and then was forced to bail out, but may have damaged one of the bombers.

WAIVE UNION FEE FOR FURLOUGHED SOLDIERS ON JOB

Service Men Permitted to Work on Field.

Mount Clemens, Mich., Nov. 23 [Special].—An initiation fee of $28 and dues of $1.50 per month are being waived by local No. 334 of the common laborers' union [AFL], for all furloughed soldiers at Selfridge field who will accept complimentary memberships and work during their furlough period on the rush job of enlarging the field.

Andrew McFarland, president of the local, made this statement today in explaining how a number of soldiers, with overalls over their uniforms, happen to be working as employés of private contractors handling the project. The field is being enlarged from 960 to 3,100 acres.

No Charge, Says Official.

"We don't charge the boys a penny," said McFarland. "It's o. k. with us and we're glad to do it. Labor is scarce and all the help which can be found is necessary to get this job finished before bad weather sets in."

McFarland said the furloughed soldiers receive the same pay as regular union members working on the job. This is 90 cents an hour for the first eight hours of any day, with time and a half for all work over eight hours and on Saturday and Sunday.

A soldier who worked during an entire 10 day furlough without putting in any overtime would receive $73.20 for his services, while one who worked 12 hours a day, as many are reported to be doing, could earn $132.80, it was said.

Number Not Revealed.

No figure was available on the number of furloughed soldiers who have taken laborers' jobs at the field, altho Capt. Richard M. Ramey, public relations officer at the post, has said he knows of at least 30 men who have chosen to earn extra money on their furloughs in this way. Some reports have said that 200 men have taken advantage of the situation.

"Some of them told me they were trying to earn extra money for Christmas," Capt. Ramey said.

The war department has no objection to this practice, according to word from Washington. A department spokesman said there is no regulation forbidding a soldier to work while on furlough and that all the army cares about is that he gets back on time. The furloughed men working here are permitted to continue to live at the post.

CHINESE FOIL 2 JAP ATTEMPTS TO CROSS RIVER

CHUNGKING, China, Nov. 23 (AP).—The Chinese have frustrated two attempts of the Japanese to cross the Sintsiang river in Hunan province, the scene last December of bitter fighting in the third Japanese attempt to take Changsha, the Chinese high command announced today.

There was no indication as yet, however, that the Japanese were about to initiate a fourth attempt to take the Hunan province capital. The communique said the Japanese tried to cross the river Saturday morning and retreated when they encountered stout resistance.

Heavy fighting also was reported southeast of the Yangtze port of Shasi in Hupeh province.

WOMAN IS FOUND BEATEN TO DEATH NEAR UNIVERSITY

Blonde Victim Identified as Ex-Chicagoan.

Palo Alto, Cal., Nov. 23 [Special].—The body of an attractive blonde woman found in a freshly plowed field this morning near the Stanford university campus was tentatively identified by police tonight as that of Bernice Curtis, 28 years old, who moved to San Francisco nine months ago from Chicago.

Bernice Curtis.

The woman had been savagely beaten before death, and her body was covered with bruises, some of them apparently inflicted by a blood stained rock found near by. An autopsy showed death due to a fractured skull.

The tentative identification rested on the discovery that the Persian lamb coat worn by the dead woman had been purchased in Chicago in 1936 by Miss Curtis, and on the fact that she was wearing a monogrammed brooch with the initials "B. C."

Fails to Appear for Work.

The disappearance of Miss Curtis was reported to police today by her employer, R. W. Levy, proprietor of a San Francisco cigar store. He said Miss Curtis failed to appear for work today and that she had told other employés she had an engagement with a young man last night.

Mrs. Helen Ash of San Francisco, a sister of Miss Curtis, with whom the latter made her home until a month ago, gave birth to a baby a few days ago and has not yet been notified of the disappearance, police said.

Deputy Coroner Henry Ryder said that footsteps in the vicinity of the place where the body was found indicated the girl had been dragged from a car by two men, thrown over a fence into the field and then dragged 15 feet further. One fist was so tightly clenched that several fingers were broken, he said.

HAD NEW BOY FRIEND.

Fred Miller, an ironworker, of 2212 Dickens avenue, said last night he is a stepfather of Miss Curtis, and until nine months ago she made her home with her mother, Mary, and himself.

Miller said his wife received a letter from Mrs. Ash a month ago stating that Bernice has "a new boy friend named Frank."

WAR WORKERS THRONG LOOP TO BUY YULE GIFTS DURING EVENING

An unprecedented throng of pre-Thanksgiving Christmas shoppers filled the loop last evening. Entire families of war plant office employés took advantage of the Monday evening shopping hours and kept the staffs of the stores busy from 6 to 9 p. m.

"We have never experienced such an early Christmas shopping season," David Mayer, chairman of the State Street council, explained. "Our stores have done excellent business since we began to stay open on Monday evenings, but the crowds tonight indicate that defense workers are going to get their Christmas shopping in early. They sense the trend and are purchasing articles of fine quality and practical, warm gifts such as clothing and blankets. Service men's items are selling rapidly and it looks as tho there won't be a service man forgotten this Christmas."

Even a greater crowd is anticipated next Monday evening, an official of one of the large department stores stated.

ENGINEER STEPS ON IT DAILY, SO HE GETS C BOOK

Charles E. Taylor, 48 years old, 1236 Columbia avenue, a construction engineer who drives between the Great Lakes Naval Training station, Camp Grant, and the Rock Island arsenal, became yesterday the first man in Chicago to be issued a C gas ration book.

The book was granted by the ration board at 6352 Broadway. Taylor averages 75 miles a day, seven days a week, all considered essential to the war effort.

STICK OF GUM IN A DUSTY CELLAR SAVES GEN. CLARK

Stops Captain's Cough in Secret African Trip.

LONDON, Nov. 23 (AP).—There was a moment when the whole success of the dangerous mission by Lieut. Gen. Mark W. Clark and his party to the North African coast before the American invasion depended on a piece of American chewing gum brought along from England in a submarine.

These and other details of the trip were told for the first time today by a British Commando officer who accompanied the party. The officer was Capt. G. B. Courtney, who, with Capt. R. P. Livingston and Lieut. J. P. Foote of the same command, was assigned the job of landing the party and getting them back to the submarine after they had negotiated with French officials.

Clark, who has been promoted from major general for his successful mission, was accompanied by Brig. Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, Col. Julius C. Holmes, Col. Archelaus L. Hamblen, and Capt. Jerault Wright of the United States navy.

They Broke Discipline.

At a prearranged place on the North African coast a signal was given from shore, but dawn was approaching so the submarine waited another night off shore.

Then followed an exciting brush with French police in a deserted house. While the American and British officers were hiding in a cellar Clark tried to load his carbine, whispering:

"Hey! How the hell does this thing work?"

Courtney's account said:

"When we heard ominous clicking sounds from the general's direction we broke the bonds of discipline and asked him to put it away."

Courtney got dust in his throat, coughed, and was about to repeat when Clark whispered, "Here, take this." It was a piece of chewing gum. Courtney obeyed and the cough stopped.

Surf Capsizes Boat.

The next night they decided to risk it. Clark and Livingston tried first and Courtney related:

"We got them most of the way thru the surf when a big wave threw the boat over backward with Clark and Livingston underneath it. We got them out of the water and decided to wait."

The surf went down about 4 o'clock in the morning and they tried again and made it.

ECUADOR CHIEF PLEDGES HELP TO ROOSEVELT

Washington, D. C., Nov. 23 (AP).—President Carlos Arroyo del Rio of Ecuador, second Latin-American president to visit the United States in wartime, came to Washington today to be welcomed personally by President Roosevelt as he landed at Bolling field.

In an address of greeting to the American President, President Arroyo spoke of hemispheric collaboration and asserted: "To the America of the present, which is active in cruel war, and to the America of future days, which will be active in the effort to rebuild civilization, my country, Ecuador, has offered and will ever offer as its loyal, sincere, and unstinted contribution, its love of liberty, which shall survive all attacks and its faith in justice, which shall overcome all specious reasoning."

From the airport, the two Presidents rode to the White House, for a formal state dinner. Arroyo spent the night as a White House guest. The Ecuadorean chief was received with a 21 gun salute as he stepped from his plane.

French Fight Axis Infiltration.

A British column was reported by the Morocco radio to have clashed with Italian forces of the axis Tunisian garrison south of Tunis and to have forced the Fascists to "retreat hurriedly."

The Morocco radio reported axis infiltrations along a 100 mile front from Gafsa oasis, 180 miles southeast of Tunis, to Kairouan which is 75 miles south of Tunis at a junction of two allied thrusts to the ports of Sousse and Sfax on the coast. Liberated French garrisons were fighting these infiltrations.

The Morocco radio, quoting a French general headquarters communique, reported French troops, counterattacking, repulsed enemy forces which had infiltrated their lines in the region of Sbeitla on the railway midway between Gafsa and Kairouan.

10 Tanks Destroyed.

About 10 tanks were destroyed and numerous prisoners taken, the broadcast said.

[The official German news agency, DNB, claimed in a broadcast heard in America that in "the first major clash between British and German armored troops in North Africa" on Sunday a Nazi tank column captured an important railway junction in the frontier area and threw British forces back to the Algerian frontier. Axis troops also seized the Gafsa oasis in southern Tunisia and now control the Tunisian coast down to Tripoli, the German Transocean news agency said.]

American and British bombers cascaded tons of explosives on the vital Bizerte airport, where the axis has been landing reënforcements, and shot down six more enemy troop transports ferrying troops across the narrow Sicilian straits. They made three sharp raids on Sicilian airdromes and three on Tripoli in Italy's last remaining colony. The Tunis airport also was bombed.

Meanwhile, the British 8th army in Libya smashed thru axis rear guard resistance at Agedabia and was pressing within 70 miles of the El Agheila bottleneck between the sea and the inland salt marshes where the enemy may try one more desperate stand.

The British kept in contact with the withdrawing German and Italian forces. "Our troops successfully engaged the enemy and made progress in the neighborhood of Agedabia," the British communique said. "Enemy troops to the south of the village were forced to withdraw."

[A German communique said German forces repulsed fairly strong thrusts by the British in the region of Agedabia on Sunday. The Italians said the British "lost some tanks."]

U. S. FLYERS RAID U-BOAT BASE ON COAST OF FRANCE

LONDON, Nov. 23 (AP).—Flying Fortresses and big Liberator bombers of the United States air forces raided the German submarine base at St. Nazaire, France, heavily today, shooting down 15 attacking Germans in a followup of a strong British night raid on Stuttgart, arms and transportation center in southern Germany. Four United States bombers were lost.

"Many bursts were seen on the target," a joint communique by the British and Americans said, "RAF fighters made supporting and diversionary sweeps during this operation." St. Nazaire is on the French coast near the mouth of the Loire, and has been a frequent target of allied bombers.

The Britons hit Stuttgart in the light of a full moon. The raiders were described as a strong force, meaning hundreds of the four motored bombers participated. Ten were lost.

Heifetz, Concert Violinist, Suffers Influenza Attack

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 23 (AP).—Jascha Heifetz, the concert violinist, was recuperating today from a mild attack of influenza which forced him to cancel two engagements scheduled for this week. Marvin A. McDonald, Atlanta concert manager, said Heifetz was forced to bed after a recital here Saturday night during which he had a temperature of 102 degrees.

BIZERTE SHIELDED BY DEFENSE RING 10 MILES INLAND

The defenses of Bizerte and Tunis, now in hands of axis forces, stand as the major barriers before the British and American troops attacking in northern Tunisia.

Bizerte was known to be the most strongly fortified of the French North African ports, tho the French, when constructing the defenses, maintained secrecy concerning their details. After the fall of France, however, the German and Italian armistice commissions became familiar with them.

Unofficial sources in Washington, D. C., yesterday said that around Bizerte within a radius of about 10 miles from the coast, are gun emplacements and pill boxes. But these fortifications chiefly command the sea and coastal approaches.

Airfields in Axis Hands.

Defenses in the rear were believed to be much weaker than those facing the sea. It was expected that the axis forces would form their defensive lines and make their stand about 15 to 20 miles outside the rear defenses. The area is studded with some good sized airfields which are in axis hands but are under allied bombing.

The best defense against attack from Algeria—the line of the British 1st army's approach—lies in the natural terrain, southward from the coast where there is high ground and a natural convergence of rail and road routes toward Tunis, Washington sources said.

Guns Have 25 Mile Range.

Most of the inland approaches from Algeria lead only to roadless waste, desert, mountain, or gravel plains without water, and the Sahara desert almost reaches the Matmata mountains which is the western flank of the Mareth ["Little Maginot"] line in southeastern Tunisia.

One of the most recent bits of information concerning Bizerte defenses was the statement of Vice Adm. Emile Musilier, former commander of naval forces at Bizerte and later of the Fighting French navy, that the Bizerte batteries had a range of 25 miles and that the landward defenses were "very strong."

Musilier estimated that the axis would need between 20,000 and 30,000 troops to man the defenses of Bizerte properly. Axis forces in Tunisia last week were estimated at 10,000 and reënforcements have been arriving daily by air and sea.

ACCORD REACHED WITH MARTINIQUE ON ISLES' STATUS

U. S. Agreement Includes Guadeloupe, Guiana.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 23 (AP).—The vexing and vital question of the French possessions in the western hemisphere remaining under nominal Vichy rule was straightened out today by diplomacy rather than force of arms.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull announced the conclusion of a satisfactory agreement with Adm. Georges Robert, French high commissioner at Martinique, regarding the French Caribbean possessions of Martinique and Guadeloupe and of French Guiana, as a result of which American occupation will be unnecessary. The Fighting French already control France's islands of St. Pierre and Miquelon off Newfoundland.

Details Withheld.

Hull, in announcing the agreement with Robert at his press conference, gave no details but said that additional information might be made public soon.

Hull recalled that negotiations designed to remove the threat of axis seizure of French Caribbean bases were begun in 1940, shortly after the fall of France, and that those negotiations led to an agrement on various points. The new agreement, he explained, constituted a continuance of the previous arrangement, with modifications and additions.

He said its primary purpose served American security, while a secondary purpose was the stablization of economic conditions in the Caribbean colonies now cut off from France.

The secretary emphasized that Rear Adm. John H. Hoover of the United States navy and Samuel Reber of the state department, who went to Martinique last May 9 to negotiate the new agreement, dealt directly with Robert as the ultimate French authority there. It was made clear to Robert, Hull said, that the United States was not having anything to do with the Vichy government in this matter.

Offered to Guard Assets.

President Roosevelt thru Hoover and Reber, assured Robert that if satisfactory arrangements were reached safeguarding western hemisphere security the United States would be prepared to "safeguard the interests of France in these areas, to maintain their economic life, and to assure that all assets of the French government in the French Caribbean possessions be held for the ultimate use of the French people."

Five days later it was disclosed that American naval officers, with the collaboration of French authorities on the spot, had begun the immobilization of the French warships at Martinique. Also involved in the negotiations was the status of some 170,000 tons of French merchant shipping in Caribbean harbors.

Rupture of diplomatic relations with the Vichy government early this month simplified the Martinque situation by emphasizing the United States determination to deal alone thru Robert on Caribbean questions without reference to Vichy.

Hear Mussolini May Have Stomach Ulcer Operation

New York, Nov. 23 (AP).—Premier Mussolini of Italy is considering an operation for stomach ulcers, reliable information from the continent said tonight. Il Duce's stomach trouble first developed about four years ago, these independent sources with axis connections said. A recent diagnosis disclosed the ulcers, which were said not to be serious at the present stage.

French Territory Turns to Allies

Central Africa, showing extent of Vichy French territory which has gone over to Adm. Jean Darlan, the former Vichy leader who has thrown in his lot with the allies.

DARLAN TAKES OVER COMMAND OF DAKAR BASE

French West Africa Is Ruled by Admiral.

France's Third Largest Port.

Dakar is France's third largest port after Marseilles and Le Havre. Only about 1,800 miles from Brazil, it has a large, well protected harbor, seaplane base and air field from which trans-Atlantic planes can operate.

In the harbor, according to recent reports, a sizable flotilla of French warships has been based, including the new 35,000 ton battleship Richelieu, three cruisers, the 7,600 ton Gloire, Montcalm, and Georges Leygues; three destroyers, 17 submarines, and scores of light units.

What their status would be was not certain, but presumably they now become available to the allies since the defense chief had come under the orders of Darlan.

The Richelieu was taken to Dakar in an unfinished condition at the fall of France and damaged by a mine dropped under it by a daring detachment of British who slipped into the harbor one night in July, 1940. At last reports the battleship still was able to use its guns as a floating fortress. It was not believed to be in maneuverable condition, however.

The government of Petain had lavished most of its defense resources upon Dakar, according to report, and Fighting French quarters had estimated the armed forces there at 50,000 or 60,000 men, most of them native colonials with white officers. Other quarters have estimated the forces at much less, perhaps only 20,000.

"West Africa Under My Orders."

The Fighting French have estimated, too, that the defenses included several hundred tanks, the most modern that France could provide under the armistice conditions, and several hundred planes, some of\them outdated fighting craft delivered by the United States before the fall of France.

"Inhabitants of French Africa, I have this evening good news to announce," Darlan was quoted as saying in his broadcast.

"French West Africa has placed itself freely under my orders. Therefore French West Africa remains faithful to the person of the marshal."

For the record, Darlan thus persisted in his contention that he is acting in accord with Petain's wishes, altho Vichy announcements have emphasized Petain's repudiation of Darlan's actions and declared him stripped of all offices and commands.

"Inhabitants of French Africa: We are on the right road. Follow me with discipline. Vive la France!" the broadcast concluded.

First Inkling Last Week.

The first inkling that Dakar might come into the allied camp was given last week when a dispatch from Monrovia, Liberia, reported a military mission had left the city for North Africa, presumably to confer with Darlan.

The status of Dakar has been of intense interest to Berlin and Rome in recent weeks. They frequently insisted that it would be the objective of a large British and American expedition.

When Gen. Eisenhower's expedition landed in North Africa, however, allied strategists pointed out that the action probably would bring about the fall of Dakar automatically, since it became isolated from axis support.

WORLD WAR SOLDIER AT 15, VET RE-ENLISTS AND WINS 3 STRIPES

When the United States entered World War I. April 6, 1917, Charles Bass, a colored boy 15 years old, and big for his age, was able to join the 8th Illinois infantry after telling the recruiting officer he was 18 years old. The 8th became the 370th infantry, and in France served with the 59th division and the 10th French army. Bass was less than 18 years old when he was discharged from the army. He became a steel mill worker and joined Giles post, American Legion. Two months ago Bass reënlisted in the army and was assigned to air base headquarters at Paine Field, Wash. Nineteen days after he was enlisted Bass was made a corporal and three weeks later he was promoted to sergeant.

House OK's Free Entry for Gifts from Yanks Abroad

Washington, D. C., Nov. 23 [[Special].—The house unanimously passed and sent to the senate today, a bill granting free entry into the United States of bona fide gifts from members of the armed forces abroad, provided the value of the gift does not exceed $50. All custom duties, as well as internal revenue taxes imposed upon goods represented by the gift, would be waived, provided there is filed in connection with the entry satisfactory evidence that the articles for which free entry are claimed are bona fide gifts. The bill, if enacted, would expire immediately upon termination of the war.

WIDOW BEATEN, BURNED TO DEATH IN HER KITCHEN

Boston, Mass., Nov. 23 (AP). — Mrs. Catherine McGinley, an 85 year old widow, known thruout the Charlestown district for her charitable deeds, was brutally beaten and burned to death tonight in the kitchen of her home. Her nude body was found lying on the floor by her son, John, when he returned from work.

Her head had been beaten with a flatiron and an inflammable fluid had been spread over her body and set afire while she was still alive. McGinley's shouts to neighbors brought firemen to the McGinley's apartment.

Investigators said Mrs. McGinley, whose husband died a year ago, was in the habit of carrying as much as $200 to $400 on her person. Police suggested robbery was the motive for the attack.

SKOKIE YOUTH, 18, TELLS OF NAVY'S SMASH AT AFRICA

Says Task Force Stopped 90% of Resistance.

A husky young middle western boy who last year was playing football on the Niles Township High school team returned to Chicago yesterday with a first hand story of the battle of North Africa which he witnessed as a sky lookout aboard one of the first United States ships to attack one of the French ports in the allied invasion.

He is Dick Rogers, 18 years old, son of Harry K. [Smoky] Rogers of the Underwriters bureau, an honorary chief of the Chicago fire department. He lives at 7939 Kenton avenue, Skokie.

Dick was a torpedoman aboard a ship which was part of the first United States task force to reach that section of the North African coast. One of his officers was Lieut. Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., whom he described as a "mighty fine guy."

Saw French Battleship Burn.

"We were around the North African coast for a week," Dick said. "I saw the whole battle. We were in plenty of action. I can't say much more about it now, except that our task force got rid of about 90 per cent of the resistance and we left the other 10 per cent for the army and the marines.

"I had a fine view of the whole action as sky lookout and I saw the French battleship Jean Bart go up in flames.

"Ships of our type are the hardest working ships in the whole fleet," Dick declared, "and I think we got the roughest treatment of anybody there."

Sailed from U. S. Port.

Dick said he sailed out of an Atlantic port four weeks before he saw action. On the way across the rough Atlantic his ship had a few "contacts" with submarines, he said, and hailed several neutral ships.

During the week of action around North Africa his ship was at "alert" constantly, Dick said.

"It was an All-American fight," he declared. "I didn't see an English ship during the whole time. We were ahead of the troop convoy."

He said that he and his shipmates didn't get ashore in Africa, but left the landing to the army and marines.

"I've got a six day furlough," Dick said, "and the time is going pretty fast. But I want to get back into the fight and clean it up so I can come home for good."

"Of course, I was scared to death," he replied when asked how he reacted to the battle. "But I consider myself damned lucky."

Spanish Deny Refugees Are Returned from France

RIO DE JANEIRO, Nov. 23 (AP).—The Spanish embassy issued an official statement today denying that Francisco Largo Caballero and Santiago Casares Quiroga, leaders in the defunct Spanish republic, had been surrendered to the Spanish government. The Berlin radio had reported that the pair had been arrested by the Germans when they entered southern France and turned over to the Franco government. This report stirred widespread reaction in Latin America.

VIRGIN ISLANDS URGE NEGRO FOR SUPREME COURT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Judge H. E. Moore.

ST. THOMAS, Virgin Islands, Nov. 23.—The Virgin Islands legislature has sent to President Roosevelt a resolution urging the appointment of Federal Judge Herman E. Moore, a former Chicago attorney, to fill the Supreme court vacancy caused by the resignation of Justice James Francis Byrnes. Judge Moore was for five years an assistant commissioner of the Illinois Commerce commission, and in that position he drew up the case for the universal transfer system on Chicago street car, elevated, and bus lines. In 1939 he was nominated to the federal district judgeship for the Virgin Islands, the second Negro to hold that post.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

WAR ADVENTURE PUTS ALASKA ON U. S. ROAD MAPS

But New 1,681 Mile Route Isn't for Tourists—Now.

BY WARREN BAKER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WHITEHORSE, Y. T., Nov. 21 [Delayed]—[Passed by Canadian censor].—Alaska is no longer an "island," dependent on sea and air. The war has put it on America's highway map.

The pioneering adventure of pushing thru the Alaskan highway is over. It has been formally opened.

Trucks already have started moving on a 24 hour schedule. They form a moving belt from the heart of industrial America to United States military zones in the north country.

Small Towns at Each End.

A small town at each end of the road henceforth will loom large in the Pacific war effort. Supplies come in from the United States by rail to Dawson Creek, a little Canadian farm village with a normal population of 355. Here they go into army trucks and hit the road. At the northern end is Fairbanks, Alaska, with a population of 2,500, where, once again, munitions can be loaded on a railroad.

This writer would like to warn away any who may have notions of traveling on the highway.

In the first place it is for the present strictly a military road. In the second place it is not the kind of traveling to which a tourist is accustomed in any season, certainly not in winter.

Troops stationed along the newly opened Alaska highway, a desolate, 1,681 mile route, are preparing for a bitter winter.

Active construction of this great undertaking started last March under the command of Brig. Gen. William M. Hoge. He opened the lower end at Dawson Creek, then moved his vanguards north and pioneered the northern half while Brig. Gen. [then Col.] James O'Connor, chief of the new northwest service command, went ahead in the south. When Gen. Hoge was moved to a new command Gen. O'Connor took over the whole job, together with the organization of the new service command.

Builders Are Praised.

Few who looked at the task ahead then believed it could be done. Completed far ahead of schedule, the highway is America's Burma road. Much credit for the job done must be given not only to the engineers but to the quartermasters who supplied them.

The highway is an engineering, supply and construction job probably unequaled since the Panama canal.

It was opened formally when E. L. Bartlett, acting governor of Alaska, holding one prong of a shears and Ian Mackenzie, member of the Canadian cabinet, holding the other, cut a red, white, and blue ribbon. Three army trucks rolled thru on their way to Fairbanks.

The event took place on the shores of Lake Kluane, a great body of water high up in the Canadian Rockies. A spot known as Soldiers Summit was chosen because of its natural beauty altho the actual Canadian-Alaska border is seven miles to the west.

Two great fires were built above the road on the mountainside for the sake of the suffering onlookers, many of whom were in the frigid regions for the first time and had come none too well prepared.

4 Yanks Line Up.

Alongside the American file on the west were ranged four army enlisted men, chosen by their commanders as outstanding for their work on the roadway. They were Corp. Refine Sims, Jr., of Philadelphia and Pvt. Alfred Jalufka of Kennedy, Tex., the pair whose bulldozers met when the two halves of the road came together, and Master Sergt. Andrew Doyle of Philadelphia and Corp. John T. Reily of Detroit, representing the southern half of the highway.

On the other side of the ribbon under the British flag were seven Northwest Mounted policemen. They were asked to take off their big bearskin coats, and take their posts in their colorful scarlet jackets and yellow striped trousers. They stood there like the soldiers, for more than an hour, rigid as ramrods but twitching in the vicious cold.

There were the usual speeches by dignitaries. Gen. O'Connor traced the development of the project. He reviewed the history of exploration. The general pointed to the new highway as a token of the determination of our peoples to be their own masters and not other men's slaves.

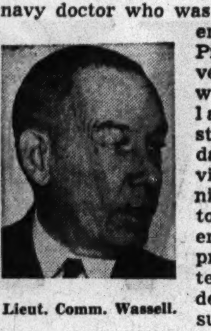
HERO VISITS CHICAGO WAR PLANTS; TELLS NEED FOR SUPPLIES



Lieut. Comm. Wassell.

Lieut. Comm. Corydon Wassell, a navy doctor who was cited for bravery in Java by President Roosevelt in a nation-wide broadcast last spring, stopped yesterday in Chicago to visit several munitions plants and to urge the workers to increased production by telling them how desperately war supplies are needed in combat areas he saw.

Wassell cared for 12 wounded men taken from the cruisers Marblehead and Houston, which were forced to a Java port by damages. Wassell decided to remain and be captured by the Japanese army in order to stay with the injured who were too dangerously wounded to be moved. However, before the enemy arrived, he found the men so improved that he loaded them all on an overcrowded Dutch steamer and braved a hail of fire from Japanese planes to make a run to Australia.

Lieut. Comm. Wassell is on his way to Hollywood where a movie version of his life and his war experiences is being made.

BOGUS DOCTOR BECOMES BEGGAR; PENALTY IS $200

A beggar, complete with tin cup, white cane, and smoked glasses, walked down Cottage Grove avenue Saturday night, led by a woman. He looked familiar to Police Sergt. John Mangin. Mangin looked familiar to the "blind" man, too. The beggar dashed away thru the crowds. Overtaken, he was found to be George Stahlbush, 26, of 1229 West Madison street, who in March, 1941, was sentenced to a year in the county jail for posing as a physician. Arraigned before Judge Thomas A. Green in South State Street court yesterday, Stahlbush was fined $200 and costs for begging. Unable to pay the fine, he was taken to the House of Correction to work it out at $2 a day. Elsie Helknap, 46, of 6343 Ingleside avenue, Stahlbush's companion, was held for questioning by the narcotics detail.

NAZI SABOTEUR'S GIRL FRIEND AIDS IN TREASON TRIAL

Identifies Defendant as Helping Spy.

New York, Nov. 23 [Special].—Hedwig Engemann, Yorkville brunette, who admits she loved Edward John Kerling, one of the six Nazi saboteurs executed in the nation's capital last August, placed a well-manicured finger today in federal court on the man who arranged her reunion with Kerling after he landed from a German submarine last June.

Testifying at the treason trial of Helmut Leiner, 33 year old German gardener, Miss Ingemann said she accompanied Leiner and Kerling to a Broadway night club the evening of June 22—just five days after Kerling landed at Ponte Verda Beach, Fla., on his mission of destruction.

Faces Death Penalty.

Leiner is accused of aiding both Kerling and his executed accomplice, Werner Thiel. If found guilty, he may be sent to the chair.

"Was there any conversation as to how Kerling arrived here?" United States Attorney Mathias Correa asked.

"Yes. He said he came in a submarine."

Pressed for details, Miss Engemann glanced furtively at Leiner. "He said he came ashore in a rubber boat," she answered.

Under cross-examination by Leiner's assigned counsel, Charles A. Oberwager, she admitted, however, that the night club orchestra was playing and Leiner "may not have heard" Kerling's remarks about the U-boat.

Confesses Love for Saboteur.

"You're not sorry those men were put to death, are you?" Oberwager pressed.

"I loved Eddie," Miss Engemann replied. "I still love him."

Miss Engemann has pleaded guilty to misprision, or concealment of treason. She may be given up to seven years' imprisonment.

Leiner, according to the government, not only arranged for meetings with Miss Engemann and Kerling's wife, but aided the saboteur by changing large bills and executing other errands. He communicated for them with Anthony Cramer, Yorkville mechanic, who was convicted last week of treason, it is charged, and sought to protect Kerling and Thiel in statements to the FBI.

PLEA OF PAROLE VIOLATOR FOR FREEDOM HEARD

A plea for a writ of habeas corpus on behalf of Clarence Lowe, alias Roy Decker, now serving an unfinished 1 to 20 year burglary sentence in Warren penitentiary because he violated an Illinois parole by going to California, where he attempted to kill a policeman and served seven years, was taken under advisement yesterday by Judge James V. Bartley in the Will county Circuit court, Joliet.

Attorney Francis J. Higgins, representing Lowe, based his plea on a ruling by Judge Bartley last August in a hearing for a writ on behalf of Hugh McLaughlin.

FARLEY SIZES UP VOTE AS REBUKE FOR NEW DEAL

Asserts People Are Tired of Push-Around.

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 23 (AP).—The Omaha World-Herald quoted James A. Farley, former national Democratic chairman, as saying in an interview here today that "a definite trend against the national administration resulted in a protest vote and made possible the defeat of Democratic candidates" in the Nov. 3 election.

Farley said his statement applied to New York state and the nation. The former Democratic leader said he preferred not to be quoted on what caused the defeat of Sen. George W. Norris [Ind., Neb.] for reëlection.

Farley's View of La Guardia.

As to the preëlection indorsement of Norris by Mayor Fiorello La Guardia of New York, Farley asserted: "It's perfectly silly to pay any attention to anything La Guardia says or does."

"It is quite evident that the American people got just a little bit tired of being pushed around, to use the language of the street," he said. "I have decided that you can always depend upon the American people to do the right thing sooner or later.

"They will go along with a situation, but when they become convinced that they are dissatisfied they will change their minds almost overnight and undo the things they did willingly at earlier elections.

War Factor Cited.

"What happened in New York state happened in all states. There is not a family not connected with the war. Every family has its stake, a brother, son, uncle. They are very concerned about the prosecution of the war. When anything rubs them the wrong way, they do their own thinking."

[In New York, Thomas E. Dewey, Republican candidate for governor, was elected overwhelmingly over John J. Bennett, Democratic nominee, who was indorsed by President Roosevelt.]

Regarding the election outlook for 1944, Farley said: "Anything I could say would be wishful thinking. It all depends upon the war."

BOY, 14, IS GIVEN $40,000 VERDICT FOR LOSS OF LEG

Daniel Briney, 14 years old, 1537 North 17th avenue, Melrose Park, was awarded a $40,000 judgment against the Illinois Central railroad in a sealed verdict opened by Circuit Judge Robert J. Dunne yesterday. The judgment was returned by a jury Friday night after trial testimony showed the boy's left leg was severed when he fell beneath the wheels of a train on July 7, 1937.

2 Cooks Held in Poison Deaths of 47 at Asylum

Salem, Ore., Nov. 23 [Special].—Two Oregon State hospital cooks, A. B. McKillop and Mrs. Mary O'Hare, were held today by Circuit Court Judge E. M. Page in connection with the deaths of 47 inmates after they had eaten scrambled eggs last Wednesday. McKillop was held on a charge of manslaughter and Mrs. O'Hare as an accessory after the fact. McKillop admitted that he put what he believed was powdered milk in the scrambled eggs. Following the deaths of the inmates he admitted he had sent an inmate for the powdered milk and instead he brought insecticide.

SENATE REJECTS CLOTURE; BURIES BAN ON POLL TAX

Move to Limit Debate Voted Down.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 23 (AP).—The senate buried the poll tax bill today with a vote of 37 to 41 against limiting debate on the measure which had been filibustered since Nov. 13 by southern opponents. The proposal to limit debate needed a two-thirds vote but failed to win even a simple majority.

Sen. Claude Pepper.

The bill, which would ban the payment of state poll taxes as a requirement for voting for federal offices, technically went back to the senate calender, but its author, Sen. Claude Pepper [D., Fla], acknowledged that it was dead for this session.

Pepper Asks for Rule Change.

Decrying the senate's action in rejecting a cloture motion, Pepper filed a proposal to change the rules so that a majority of the senate could force any bill to a vote. Pepper asserted the senate had established a precedent by which a minority could prevent the consideration of any bill against which it was prepared to filibuster.

Carrying out an agreement he made last Friday in order to obtain a vote on cloture, Democratic Leader Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky saked unanimous consent to lay the bill aside and take up other measures on the calendar.

Seldom Invoked Procedure.

This consent was forthcoming and the southern opponents of the bill triumphed in their efforts to prevent final action at this session. The measure, passed in different form by the house, will die with adjournment of congress Jan. 2. Its sponsors then will have to start all over to obtain approval by both houses.

The cloture vote, the fourteenth the senate has taken since adoption of the rule in 1917, was opposed by 31 Democrats and 10 Republicans, including several supporters of the bill who said they were unwilling to take such drastic action to limit debate. Voting for the motion were 21 Democrats, 14 Republicans, a Progressive and an Independent.

COLORED LEADERS PRAISE BROOKS FOR FIGHT ON POLL TAX

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 23.—The Roosevelt administration was held responsible for the defeat of the anti-poll bill in the senate today by Edgar G. Brown, director of the National Negro council, the Rev. J. L. Horace, president of the Illinois Baptist convention, and the Rev. D. Z. Jackson, representing the Chicago Baptist Ministers' conference. Their views were expressed in a joint statement issued after the senate had refused to invoke its cloture rule to pass the anti-poll tax bill.

The statement praised Sen. Wayland Brooks [R., Ill.], successful champion of the anti-poll tax amendment to the law facilitating absentee voting by men in the armed services.

"Northern Negroes note that Sen. Brooks did not desert them after election day, but stood firmly and positively for the cloture rule and so voted today, while on the other hand, Scott Lucas, the Democratic senator from Illinois, voted against invoking the cloture rule, which would have limited debate and provided for the passage of the anti-poll tax legislation at this session," the statement said.

White House Gets Petition to Curb Liquor in Service

BROOKS WINNER FOR SENATE BY 202,876 MARGIN

Official Nov. 3 Figures Are Announced.

Springfield. Ill., Nov. 23 (AP).—The plurality by which Republican Sen. Wayland Brooks won reëlection Nov. 3 over his Democratic opponent, Raymond S. McKeough, was placed at 202,876 today by the official vote canvass. The compilation also established that 3,049,312 ballots were cast in Illinois, the lowest state election total since 1934.

Brooks led the Republican ticket with 1,582,887 votes. He carried downstate counties over McKeough by 314,906, while losing Cook county by 112,030. Sen. Brooks' net plurality, however, was topped by that of G. O. P. Treasurer Elect William G. Stratton, who scored the widest victory in defeating W. Don Forsyth for the treasurership by 253,853. Republicans swept all state-wide contests.

Total Vote Falls Short.

Official compilations showed the total vote—1,616,801 in Cook county and 1,422,510 downstate—fell almost a quarter of a million below the 1938 "off year" election total of 3,274,814. It was the smallest voter turnout in Illinois since the election of 1934, in which 2,935,192 votes were recorded.

The state canvassing board announced that no protests were filed in any of the close races for seats in the state legislature. Dan McGlynn, East St. Louis Republican leader, appeared at the board's session, however, and announced that contests would be filed before the legislature in January challenging the seating of Sen. Louis J. Menges and Rep. Frank Holten, Democrats, in the 49th district.

Ballot Box Disappears.

The canvassing board certified Menges as elected by 283 votes over John T. Thomas, Republican. Holten was declared elected by 623 over R. H. Huschle, Republican. Attorney McGlynn charged that the ballot box in precinct No. 1 in Stites township, St. Clair county, disappeared and then reappeared during an election day polling place quarrel. The precinct returned heavy Democratic majorities.

The canvass confirmed the election of 19 Republican and 7 Democratic congressmen, a net gain of 3 congressional seats by the Republicans. It also established that Republicans retained their 28 to 23 majority in the state senate, while winning the house 84 to 69, a G. O. P. gain of 5 seats.

Bearing out previous unofficial totals, the canvass also showed the proposed constitutional amendment to permit the legislature to exempt foods from the state sales tax failed of adoption by more than half a million votes.

Official State-wide Figures.

The official figures on state-wide contests:

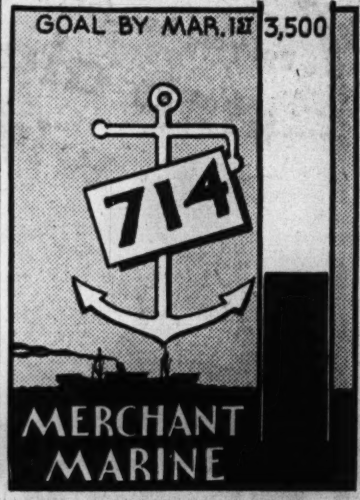
United States senator—Brooks [R.] 1,582,887; McKeough [D.] 1,380,011. Brooks plurality 202,876.

Congressman at large—Stephen A. Day [R.] 1,481,419; Benjamin S. Adamowski [D.] 1,395,053. Day plurality 86,366.

Treasurer—Stratton [R.] 1,553,944; Forsyth [D.] 1,300,091, Stratton plurality 253,853.

Superintendent of instruction—Vernon L. Nickell [R.] 1,497,550. John A. Wieland [D.] 1,333,679. Nickell plurality 163,871.

Sea Recruiting



Progress of the maritime service recruiting campaign.

In a ceremony symbolical of the united effort being put forth by the nation's land and sea forces on the fighting fronts of the world 200 youths, 18 and 19 years old, yesterday were sworn into the navy and army in a ceremony on La Salle street in front of the city hall. One hundred were enlisted in each branch.

Enlistment of the youths shortly after noon was preceded by the passing of a cavalcade of 70 army vehicles—tanks, scout cars, jeeps, and guns—which left Chicago immediately after the ceremony for a two-week recruiting tour of Michigan. The Cavalcade spent the last two weeks in Wisconsin.

James E. Washington, 22 years old, 824 South Harvey avenue, Oak Park, a fifth generation descendant of George Washington's elder brother, Lawrence, became an army aviation cadet when 49 men were qualified for flight training. In the campaign for 20,000 cadets which started Sept. 1, 1941, the examining board in the federal building has accepted 13,223 men.

Recruiting for the United States merchant marine service in the office at 53 West Jackson boulevard was unusually brisk and up to last night 714 recruits had been enlisted in a drive for 3,500 which started Nov. 1 and will end March 1.

GENUINE PHILLIPS' MILK OF MAGNESIA

FEEL LIKE A MILLION Tomorrow

TAKE PHILLIPS' MILK OF MAGNESIA Tonight

WANT TO START the day with a smile instead of a frown? Then don't let your stomach go sour during the night because your dinner disagreed with you—or you overindulged at a gay party. Take Phillips' Milk of Magnesia at bedtime. It does more than merely neutralize excess stomach acidity—it finishes the job by acting as a very gentle laxative. Helps you to wake up "feeling like a million". Read the directions on package and take as directed thereon or as prescribed by your physician.

ONE-TWO ACTION

1 NEUTRALIZES EXCESS STOMACH ACIDS—and does it almost quicker than it takes to tell. Relieves that uneasy feeling of discomfort almost immediately.

2 ACTS AS MILD LAXATIVE. Gentle—does not upset the system and leave you feeling "all wrung out". Take any time—does not act with embarrassing urgency.

GREEN SAYS G.O.P. HASN'T CHOSEN MAYORAL ENTRY

According to Gov. Dwight H. Green, there is plenty of time for the making of Republican plans for the mayoral primary next February.

"What's the hurry?" he asked with a laugh when, on his arrival in Chicago last night, he was asked whether any decision had been reached concerning a candidate.

He returned from Florida to Springfield yesterday, sat as a member of the state canvassing board which proclaimed the results of the election three weeks ago today and then boarded a train for Chicago.

Helps Induct Judge Today.

He will take part this morning in the induction of Patrick B. Prescott Jr., a colored attorney, as an associate judge of the Municipal court, the second of his race to attain that post in Chicago.

Gov. Green appointed Prescott to fill the vacancy caused by the elevation of William S. Scheffler to chief justice upon the death of John J. Sonsteby. Legal questions about Prescott's appointment were raised and his case went all the way to the Illinois Supreme court, which recently decided in his favor.

Now Chief Justice Scheffler intends to administer the oath of office to Prescott in room 913 of the city hall and assign him to the tort nonjury branch where he will sit until Dec. 7. On that date his place will be taken by one of the full term winners of Nov. 3.

Gov. Green said he had only one social engagement of a private nature this evening. He must be back in Springfield tomorrow.

Parries Political Queries.

"No political conferences?" he was asked.

"Just what is a conference?" he queried in return.

"Didn't you just return from one with Sen. Wayland Brooks and others in Florida?"

"Well, I suppose you might say that any time two or more members of the same party get together there is a conference," answered the governor. "Naturally among the many subjects we discussed in Florida was the mayoralty. But there wasn't even a thought of approaching a decision."

He was asked whether real conferences on that subject will be held later.

"That goes without saying," he replied. "The conferences will be numerous and of many varieties. And you may be sure if there is to be an organization candidate selected it will be the organization as a whole that will pass on that matter."

Aldermen to Consider Parking Meters for City

Proposals to install parking meters in Chicago, a subject of revived interest since the state Supreme court ruled last week it is legal for cities to use them, will be considered at a meeting of the parking meter subcommittee of the city council Dec. 1.

HOW IS IT BEING DONE?

HOW is it that the airlines are performing so efficiently their dual job of transporting military cargo and of maintaining the scheduled passenger, mail and express service over their widespread domestic routes?

How is it that they carry on almost world-wide military missions and simultaneously maintain schedules which speed military as well as civilian men and goods across the nation overnight?

From long years of actual operation, the airlines know what to do and they know how to do it.

For example, back of United Air Lines' activity for war stands its record of 250,000,000 miles of flying experience.

That experience, equivalent to over 90,000 coast-to-coast flights, dates from the time, a decade and a half ago, when a United Air Lines plane carried the first fare-paying passenger from coast-to-coast and flew the nation's first commercial transcontinental air mail.

From this great reservoir of airline experience have come many of the facilities and techniques which today give this nation the world's greatest air transport system.

Flight and ground personnel trained together over these years work smoothly as a unit. It is their experience in functioning as a well-drilled team that makes the war activity of the airlines so effective.

That is how the airlines are performing so efficiently their dual job of transporting military men and materials and at the same time moving civilian passengers and goods swiftly over the established airways.

CANADA SCRAPES BOTTOM IN HUNT FOR MAN POWER

War Plants Take Million; 600,000 in Uniform.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont. [By mail].—Wartime Canada is beginning to feel the squeeze on man power and it is getting tighter every day. The dominion is starting to scrape the bottom of the barrel to fill the needs of the armed services and essential war industries.

Today, going into the fourth year of the struggle, Canada has 600,000 men in the uniformed forces. Officials like to point out that this is the equivalent of 7 million men in the United States on a proportionate population basis whenever the question of conscription is raised. Canada has no draft for overseas service.

Approximately 1,000,000 persons have been absorbed in the newly built munitions factories, turning out tanks, guns, shells, aircraft, other weapons and war supplies. Of these, 200,000 are women. The female of the species is being called on increasingly as the drain on man power grows.

Shortage of Miners.

Some phases of the war effort have suffered because of the man power shortage.

Production of some base metals has been curtailed as a result of the shortage of hard rock miners. The coal industry is not turning out enough fuel to support Canada's own needs. At Sudbury a blast furnace was closed down for lack of workmen. In British Columbia the output of spruce used in airplanes is "considerably below requirements" because there aren't enough men. Agriculture is having a tough time of it.

Measures have been taken to "freeze" workmen in some of the mines and base metal industries, it has been reported. Needed workers in agriculture were frozen into their jobs March 23 of this year. Only bountiful nature this last season kept up production on the farms which had been depleted by help going into the uniformed services or to the big city and the munitions factory.

Labor Tightly Controled.

Canada's man power problem has been thrust into the capable hands of Elliott Little, one time Toronto university football player, who was called from his pulp paper interests to become director of national selective service.

[Little gave The Tribune reporter an interview on various man power problems in Ottawa recently, but a few days ago resigned his post. He said bluntly he had encountered "friction and obstructionism" which had resulted in "virtual paralysis" of his organization. This story was written and passed by the Canadian censor before Little resigned.]

Under Canadian law, labor is tightly controled. A man cannot leave his job, or be laid off, or fired in less than seven days from the time of notice. Then he can't get another job without a permit from the selective service officer.

"We must know where everybody is," explained Director Little, "and direct labor into channels of the highest essentiality. If a man is out of work for seven days he has to take work of the highest essentiality or he may be subject to a maximum fine of $500 or 12 months in jail."

Little dug into his records and disclosed that to date there have been eight prosecutions under this law, four of which are still in progress. There have been fines but no imprisonments. One of the cases still pending involves a man who refused to accept employment. The law covers infractions by either the employé or employer.

Small Stores May Be Shut.

There have been reports that 20,000 small retail establishments in Canada will be shortly closed down by the government to provide men for the military forces and the factories. Little said the wartime prices and trade board was making a survey to determine what industries could be curtailed, but any over-all figure on the number was in the realm of speculation.

A few days ago Donald Gordon, chairman of the prices board, "froze" Canadian business at its present level. He issued a "stop order" on expansion, covering manufacturing, wholesale and retail business, prohibiting new enterprises or expansion without special permit.

Besides curtailing "nonessential" activity to provide man power, Canadian authorities have gone a long way down the road toward pressing women into service.

All Canadian women from the age of 16 up to 65 years were registered in June of 1940. The registration was compulsory. Another compulsory registration of women from the age of 20 to 24 years took place this September.

260,000 More Register.

"The second registration was taken because we needed additional help in industry," said Little. "The women are not compelled to work but the registration was compulsory, whether married or single. Two hundred and sixty thousand women registered the second time.

"We wanted to find out the immediate, willing supply of labor in the second registration. Twenty per cent agreed to go into war work immediately if needed and 7 per cent agreed to go on part time.'

Little said the government would probably first exhaust the supply of those women indicating willingness to work before holding any further registration. There was a point, he added, where women could not be used because of their heavy home responsibilities.

Some communities are setting up nurseries for the children of mothers who go into war work.

Annual Drive

Maj. Gen. Henry S. Aurand, commanding general of the 6th Corps Area Service Command, yesterday purchased the first 1942 Christmas seal sold in Chicago from Homer J. Buckley, president of the Tuberculosis Institute of Chicago and Cook County, sponsor of the local drive. The ceremony, which took place in Gen. Aurand's office, opened this year's Christmas seal campaign.

Dale Nichols of Glenview designed the seal. His design was selected from other ones submitted by artists thruout the nation. A red barn featured in the rural scene on the seal is near Glenview. The barn also served as a model for one of Nichols' paintings which now hangs in the New York Metropolitan Museum of Art.

TRIBUNE STEEL GIVEN UP FOR ALASKA HIGHWAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

THOROLD, Ont., Nov. 23.—Arthur Schmon, general manager of the Ontario Paper company, Ltd., a subsidiary of THE TRIBUNE, announced today that steel sheet piling purchased by the paper company several months ago is to be shipped to Fort St. John, B. C., for United States army work on construction of the Alaskan highway.

The piling was originally intended for the wharf at Heron Bay, Ont., work on which was to have been done last spring. The steel, however, did not arrive until July. By that time it was evident the steel was badly needed in the war effort, and company officials decided to defer the work on the wharf until they learned whether the government needed the piling.

Schmon said the steel is to be used in the construction of a retaining wall for a project on the Alaskan highway.

SPEED 70 MILES; FINED $50.

26 Inspectors Will Curb Short Weight for Holiday

Eighteen extra city inspectors will be on the job today and tomorrow to protect housewives from short weight in their Thanksgiving buying, City Sealer Joseph P. Geary said yesterday. Eight inspectors normally are assigned to food shopping. The additional 18 inspectors will be transferred for the two days from other inspection work. The penalty for short weight selling ranges from $25 to $200 and costs.

SAYS FREE PRESS IS DEMOCRACY'S BEST 'INSURANCE'

OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 23 (AP).—Arthur Hays Sulzberger, president and publisher of the New York Times, said today that "no leader of any major nation has been able to plunge into a war of conquest any people who had a truly free press." He added, in his address, prepared for delivery before the Rotary club of Ottawa:

A. H. Sulzberger.

"Not until Hitler was able to keep the truth from the German people and poison their minds with his monstrous lies, and not until Mussolini and the Japanese war lords were able to do likewise, were they able to drag their people into war."

Terms Press "Insurance."

The publisher said that it was "we in the newspaper world who serve as the insurance that when this war is over the power we have all so gladly deeded over to our respective administrations and fighting forces will be returned to the community.

"We of the press must be strong if that is to come to pass. We must be vigorous, we must be alert. But, more than that, we must also be responsible."

He asked his listeners to remember "that no press can be responsible unless it is free, and also that freedom does not necessarily spell responsibility."

Warns on Careless Curbs.

"So when you come in contact with what, in your judgment, is an irresponsible newspaper, remember that if you seek to curb it by careless means you run the risk of self-destruction thru destroying the responsible press."

Sulzberger warned against what he described as "three popular fallacies" threatening a lasting peace at the end of this war. He named them in order as "the fallacy of Anglo-Saxon superiority," the fallacy that "everything in our old prewar way of life must be changed" and the fallacy that "nothing must be changed."

SLAYER OF WAR PLANT OFFICIAL IS HUNTED THRU NEW TIME CLEW

Kensington police attempting to solve the slaying on Saturday of Roy H. Mabey, 46 year old war plant official, said yesterday they were tracing his movements during the six hour interval between his arrival from an out of town business trip and the hour he was discovered unconscious less than a block from his home at 11745 Wallace street.

Capt. Thomas Kilroy announced last night that Mabey was reported to have been seen in the Illinois Central station at Randolph street shortly before 9:30 Saturday night, about two hours before he was found unconscious by a passerby.

Mabey, who was chief of the ordnance inspection department of the West Pullman works of the International Harvester company, had returned Saturday afternoon from a business trip to Decatur, Ala.

Our Country being at war, "travel as usual" is out for the duration. So the fine old American custom of traveling home in comfort for Thanksgiving now becomes another "war casualty."

For there just are not enough cars to carry troops and, at the same time, provide the travel comforts to which you have been accustomed during holidays in peace times.

Under the circumstances, if you make a train trip this year, please understand that there may not be seats available. Soldiers and sailors fortunate enough to get a few days leave to be with their families will probably be traveling in substantial numbers.

We are sorry it is necessary to warn you that conditions will not be what you are accustomed to, but military transportation needs come first. With the equipment remaining for civilian use, we shall strive to do our best to serve the public.

Stop a moment—

Take a look at the Tough Spot your Grocer is in!

It isn't just the holiday rush! It isn't more customers, big orders and lots of them!

No! Your grocer's problems today are far more serious than that.

Already, he's beginning to face shortages of certain foods.

Not that there won't be plenty to eat!

But we're certainly not going to find the same lavish assortments and the big displays we've been used to. We won't be able to pick and choose with the same pre-war freedom.

We're not going to like that. None of us. We may even be annoyed and impatient.

So, when your grocer says, "Sorry, I'm all out," or, "I hope to have what you want next week—it ought to be in—" how should you take it?

In the name of fair play—don't blame your grocer. Instead, remember—

IT IS NOT YOUR GROCER'S FAULT. It is not the packer's fault. Nor the grower's. It isn't anybody's fault.

It's Just Plain War

That's what the trouble is! Last summer, for instance, Del Monte put up more fruits and vegetables than ever before. We filled every can and every glass jar we could handle—and still keep Del Monte Quality right up where it always has been.

This called for teamwork all along the line. We needed all the help we could get. So even our salesmen pitched in. Stenographers traded typewriters for canning tables. Week ends meant work—but work meant more food for you.

Even at that—it wasn't enough.

America has more hungry mouths to feed than ever. Millions more! Our fighting men at home and all over the world. Our allies! Our home folks—with bigger pay checks and bigger wartime appetites!

Who Takes It On The Chin?

Who's caught in the middle? Why, your grocer.

He wants to give you the foods you want. That's what he's in business for.

But he has less to sell. Deliveries to him are often slow and uncertain because the men and machines of war must move even ahead of food. That's why you'll sometimes find empty spaces on his shelves.

He's hard-pressed for help, too. And he feels the pinch on tires and gas far more than most of us do. Of course he can't come through with the service he used to give you. It isn't humanly possible!

What Can We All Do About It?

Your grocer can't work out these problems —all by himself. It's a job we've all got to tackle together.

On our part, we are dividing up, among our distributors, what Del Monte Foods there are—fairly and squarely.

But we, as producers, are doing much more than that. Right now, in the big national magazines, we are introducing a brand-new wartime shopping program based on the broad plan of

HELP FOR THE CONSUMER
HELP FOR THE GROCER
HELP FOR THE WHOLE COUNTRY

—through the intelligent cooperation of all.

We call this the Del Monte "Buy-for-a-Week" plan. And it's based on just the kind of cooperation we are talking about.

All you have to do is plan meals ahead—a week in advance. Then buy as many as possible of the foods you need for a week in one grocery order. Not just canned goods, but other foods, too.

Also, shop early in the week if you can—and when the store isn't crowded.

Make one trip do the work of several. Every trip you don't make saves time. It saves steps, work, tires and gasoline. It gives your grocer a fighting chance to give the kind of service you want.

Then, to get right down to cases, we are distributing, through grocers, hundreds of thousands of copies of the Del Monte Wartime Meal Planner.

This little folder explains the whole plan —gives you a permanent form for writing out your own menus for a full week. If your grocer can't supply you, clip the coupon shown below and mail to us.

And remember, when you run into shortages of any kind, it's up to all of us to adjust our needs accordingly. No one can be selfish now. We must work out the problem of using what there is to the advantage of everybody.

Learn to "Switch and Swap"!

In Del Monte, this is especially easy because of the wide variety of foods under this one quality label.

If you can't find Del Monte Pineapple at your grocer's, for instance, it's quite possible you may find he has Del Monte Peaches, or Pears, or Fruit Cocktail. If he doesn't have Del Monte Corn, perhaps he has Del Monte Peas, or Green Beans, or Asparagus.

Learn to "switch and swap" and revamp your menus around the Del Monte Foods your grocer does have. That helps you—helps your grocer—and you still don't sacrifice on flavor or goodness.

Won't you try this whole plan? Think what it can mean if you and 32 million other American housewives get wholeheartedly behind a movement that can help so many—so much!

> The struggle for freedom of speech has marched hand in hand in the advance of civilization with the struggle for other human liberties. History teaches that human liberty cannot be secured unless there is freedom to express grievances.
>
> —ILLINOIS SUPREME COURT.

A PRACTICAL MILITARY PROGRAM.

Lieut. Gen. Lesley J. McNair, commander of army ground forces, has warned in two recent speeches that the shipping bottleneck is such that this country cannot bring the whole of the armed force it is mustering to bear on the enemy. America's tremendous productive capacity is overtaxed and the nation must economize in both personnel and material, the general has said.

This is the first sign of sense in Washington since the war started. It is elementary to Lieut. Gen. McNair that the size of our army must be related to the shipping available to set it down overseas, and thereafter to supply it. It would seem that this would be elementary to any one in a position of authority in the matter, but in reality this has not been so.

Hitherto there has just been a mad scramble to produce unlimited soldiers and unlimited equipment, without any coördination. There has not been any great effort to see that the equipment is the sort the soldiers need for the tasks awaiting them. Instead, the effort has been to produce a surplus of everything. Whenever it has been objected that the production of particular articles of equipment is far beyond the necessities of an American force of any possible size, the pat answer has been that we are the arsenal of democracy. The theory is that what we can't use we can always give away. Such policies have inflicted the greatest economic embarrassment on the country, while producing very little military efficiency. They could not do otherwise.

Now we may hope that the size of the army may be fixed at what can be efficiently used; that the armament program will likewise be geared to our shipping facilities and that the rest of the man power being wasted at present, both in training camps and in plants producing unneeded articles, will be turned back to industry and agriculture to remedy the economic dislocations which the planless planners have inflicted on the nation.

We cannot expect any such sensible course from the ambitious totalitarians in the administration. It will not even occur to them, for they are not planning for the purpose of winning the war. They are using the war as an excuse to remake society, and the greater the confusion and the economic distress the better are their purposes served. Neither can we expect the armed forces to be self-limiting bodies. It is unfortunate but true that too many of its officers, lacking Lieut. Gen. McNair's thoughtfulness, think of unlimited expansion of the army and navy only in terms of promotions for themselves, rather than in terms of the tasks these forces are expected to accomplish.

Only congress can restore our defense program to a sane basis. The sky-is-the-limit, government-run-everything boys must be reminded constantly that the last election constituted a repudiation of their program. They are making a frantic effort to ignore the election returns and proceed on a basis of confusion as usual. This they must not be permitted to do. Much of their present hysteria results from the fear that they cannot complete the wrecking job before the new congress meets in January.

PUBLIC PAY ROLLERS IN THE OCD.

More than 200 public employés on the pay rolls of the city, county, school board, park, and sanitary districts, and other departments are working full time for the Office of Civilian Defense. The figure comes from Ralph H. Burke, deputy metropolitan coördinator, who is himself chief engineer of the park district, but gives full time to the OCD.

The public perhaps will not wish in this matter to insist upon strict adherence to the rule that a government employé paid to do a particular thing should not wander off into another pasture. A fire department official or a city health officer, for instance, might reasonably be asked to lend his services to civilian defense. There are, however, several considerations that should be taken into account.

The Civic federation, noting that public agencies are able to spare 200 salaried employés to the OCD, asks if it is to be assumed that they were superfluous in their old jobs. If so, the fact will be of interest to the nonpolitical budget survey committee, which has urged the elimination of 624 pay rollers in the interests of economy.

It may be urged that the OCD should be well able to pay for the salaried workers that are required, inasmuch as congress appropriated 100 million dollars last February for OCD work thruout the nation. Apparently, however, most of this is being spent on gas masks, gasproof capes, steel helmets, stretchers, arm bands, identification tags, and other articles, so that local OCD organizations are reduced to begging from door to door or holding block parties to raise funds. Mayor Kelly, who is coördinator of civilian defense for this district, has apparently endeavored to achieve a showing of economy by shifting personnel from public pay rolls, altho admitted expenses exceed $372,500 this year.

This device could more readily be justified if the pay rollers were not assigned to extraneous and irrelevant activities. Within the last 10 days the mayor has established an OCD "rumor clinic," staffed with psychiatrists, propaganda analysts, and publicity men, to scotch gossip deemed injurious to morale. The executive director, Attorney A. O. Tapper, is a city pay roller from the department of public works. Mr. Tapper's usefulness to the city may not be great, as it is said he conducts a private law practice on the side, but to the OCD it is nil. A "rumor clinic" is pure nonsense.

There is nothing wrong with the morale of the people and, if there were, no such clinic is ever going to improve it. The clinic's only other conceivable function would be to deal with enemy propaganda circulated in this country, and that is the business of the department of justice. Mr. Tapper's talents, whatever they may be, are wasted in this sort of enterprise. It would seem that his job is one of the 624 that the budget survey committee is looking for, and undoubtedly there are more like him roosting in the OCD.

RICKENBACKER'S STORY.

Two marine corps reporters have interviewed Capt. Rickenbacker and the men who shared his ordeal with him. There are a good many gaps in the story that remain to be filled in; indeed, there are more gaps than story.

There is, for example, no explanation of the fact that the rafts on which the party floated for three weeks carried little, if any, food and water. Capt. Rickenbacker is quoted as saying the men were not seasick because after a day or two they had nothing on their stomachs. There is mention of fishhooks, but beyond this nothing to suggest that foresight had been used in outfitting the emergency equipment.

It isn't as if shipwreck were a new experience for the human family. It's been happening ever since men ventured out of sight of land. Men can live for weeks without food if they remain quiet, but they cannot survive more than a few days without water. It is particularly important, therefore, to provide emergency supplies of water on life rafts, but evidently these rafts were not so equipped. Presumably Rickenbacker and his comrades were dependent upon what dew and rain they could collect. It couldn't have been much because a few days before the rescue came one member of the party yielded to the temptation to drink sea water, with results which were almost fatal.

In all probability, Rickenbacker, who was merely a passenger on the plane, was not responsible for any failure to provision the rafts. The presumption is that the staff work was deficient. Certainly the experience of the Rickenbacker party should be made the subject of an inquiry to make sure that the mistake, if there was a mistake, is not repeated. It is possible, of course, that the provisions were lost when the rafts were launched or were washed overboard by a wave but, if so, that experience itself is proof that the equipment should be redesigned to prevent such misfortunes from occurring.

The army and navy have refused to avail themselves of the services of many of this country's most accomplished airmen, and notably of Col. Lindbergh. He has flown in a small plane all over the world without serious mishap, and he was able to do so largely because he had made a painstaking study of the dangers he would face and had provided against them. The government could have had his experience and his advice for the asking, but the administration didn't like his politics and he remains in outer darkness. It can safely be said that to nobody in the world so well as to Col. Lindbergh could have been entrusted the task of specifying the emergency equipment to be installed in planes flying over wide expanses of open water. If he had been consulted the lives of many gallant airmen lost at sea might have been saved. His kind of planning might even have resulted in safe landings for the planes that bombed Tokio.

NOTE ON NOBILITY.

Some of the anticipated difficulties in abolishing titles of nobility in the columns of THE TRIBUNE for the promotion of democracy have been encountered. One of the first was presented by a wedding in Nassau, the Bahamas. Miss Jean Pedley became the bride of Col. Thomas Hayes of the United States army. She is the daughter of Col. Pedley of Camp Holley, Texas. The colonel is the son of Maj. Thomas Hayes of the United States army.

The ceremony being in Nassau, there were two guests so high in rank that they seemed to rate the headline in The Tribune story and the question was, what to do? The difficulty might have been met then and could be met hereafter by noting that Gov. Windsor of the Bahamas, formerly Edward VIII., and his wife were present as witnesses.

Editorials of the Day

THE GERMAN MEPHISTO.

[St. Louis Post-Dispatch.]

Of all the sinister characters marching thru the current chapter of history, none may be so balefully intriguing to posterity as Franz von Papen, Hitler's Talleyrand. The original Talleyrand, asked what he had done during the French revolution, said: "I survived."

Von Papen has a genius for survival that borders on the miraculous. He won honors under the kaiser even tho he bungled his mission of sabotage and espionage in Washington before we entered the first World war. He remained in the government of the Weimar period even while he plotted its overthrow. Hitler gave him the most important of conspiratorial assignments, even tho his distrust of the man almost added his name to the purge list of 1934.

And now this Von Papen, sitting in the German embassy in Ankara, is apparently convinced that the third reich is doomed. So, he is plotting the creation of a fourth. He is dreaming dreams of a Catholic federation including Germany, Austria, Hungary, Slovenia, Croatia, and Slovakia.

Having risen under autocracy, survived democracy and prospered under tyranny, this "Satan in top hat" now yearns to rule in a theocracy. For Von Papen, patriotism is only the second last refuge. He would find the last one in religion. Above all, he would survive.

NOTE FOR THE DISCERNING.

[Baltimore Evening Sun.]

Tucked away in the report of man power of the subcommittee of the senate committee investigating the national defense program was this unexpected recommendation:

All industry training programs should be stepped up; unskilled men who are physically and otherwise eligible for military service should be excluded from such training [this will require action by the congress to eliminate the limit on National Youth administration training], and all such training programs should be supervised and controled by the man power agency.

The President suggested and the congress voted a good many million dollars to be spent by the NYA on its training program for war industries. By law, such training can be given only to young men from 17 to 24, inclusive. Trained, they are supposed to go into the munitions factories.

But men of this age who are in good physical shape are precisely the men the army and navy are crying for. Thus we have the anomaly that the public money is being spent to train young men for jobs which the draft will automatically prevent them from filling. The industry which employs them does so only to lose them. The time and money spent on them is all but wasted.

It doesn't seem to make sense.

CONTRIBUTORS' DINNER.

There was a sound of revelry the other night, and this ancient column forgathered with its beauty and its chivalry. In other words, there was a Line O' Type contributors' dinner, attended by a galaxy of poets and punsters. The Linemaster's heart was filled with pride as he surveyed this who's who of pseudonyms, ranging from veterans of the B. L. T. and R. H. L. period to flaming youth of his own discovery, and like the parent of the Gracchi he said, "Haec gemmae sunt"—"These are my jewels."

* * *

The count of heads ran to about 90, and the number of autographed Linebooks in circulation may have been 900. If this were a society column, we would supply an "among those present" list of names, but steady readers can call the roll from memory. Special mention, however, must be given to Duke Bakrak [which is almost his real name] for an admirable job of toastmastering, and to Flossie [Florence Edlund] for being manager, secretary, box-office girl, and place card arranger for the entire soirée. Every one spoke, and the full text of addresses will be published in the Congressional Record, thru the influence of Richard Henry Little, emeritus editor of the column, who has a pull in Washington because he is brother-in-law to Arthur Sears Henning.

* * *

Awards of honor for long-distance traveling were given to Marjorie F. W., who came from Warsaw, Ind.; Cholly, who came from Milwaukee; and Incunabulus, who came from St. Louis. The Chicago hinterland sent delegates from Arlington Heights, Park Ridge, Beverly Hills, South Chicago, and other stations on the outer belt railways.

* * *

The most dramatic moment of the dinner came after a minute of silent prayer for contributors in the armed forces. [There are several.] As if in answer, like a spirit summoned from the vasty deep, in walked a stalwart figure in navy blue and gold braid--Lieut. Comm. A. A. Gilbert, alias Incunabulus, two hours late because the train service from St. Louis isn't what it used to be.

* * *

The speaking contained remarks by various philosophers on the subject, "Why do contributors contribute?" No verdict was reached, and the matter will be held over until next year's bigger and better.

SOLILOQUY OF A TURKEY.

When strolling around in the barnyard,
I overhear what people say;
They speak of a villain called Reynard,
And vow that they'll keep him away;
They talk a great deal about taxes,
And automobiles gath'ring mold;
And ofttimes they speak about Axis;
(Uhe! that word makes my blood run cold!)
And now they're about to be thankful
(Admitting some big ifs and buts),
And boast that they'll take on a tankful
Of goodies, and liquors, and nuts.
But Thanksgiving day to this chappie
Is wicked as wicked can be.
Would you be so thankful and happy
If you were a turkey like me?

W. L. Hudson.

Indian Chipping Station.

If you are not in a hurry to see a newborn babe or to visit the bedside of a sick friend, your attention will be arrested by a stone in the Evanston hospital grounds bearing the inscription, "This stone marks the site of an ancient Indian village and chipping station, last occupied by the Potawatomis, who were removed from the location in 1835." The chipping station was probably just outside the burying ground, for there is evidence of an Indian cemetery to the north of the hospital.

Early residents of Evanston bear testimony to the fact that the Charles Deering place on the lake was the site of an Indian village. Carney, one of the first police officers of the village, remembers the Indian village, just north of the Gross Point lighthouse. Chipping places or workshops were located near the lake, where pebbles could be easily obtained. It is believed that an Indian arrowhead could be made in a few minutes.

A New Idea for Thanksgiving.

In addition to praising the Lord and passing the turkey, we could all profitably adopt the suggestion of William L. Stidger in the Christian Advocate and give new, rich meaning to Thanksgiving by writing a simple note of gratitude to those who have helped us in the past in one way or another. Each of us knows at least one person to whom we owe a debt of gratitude, and in most cases we have never told them about it.

POET'S PAY.

The poet write for pay? Not he!
His pay's to cleanse the heart
Of some swift stain of ecstasy,
Some ancient ache of art,

So lovely, poignant, nigh to grief,
And fellowshiped with fate,
That only singing's wild relief
Can ease its fatal weight.

His wage is in the pain withdrawn,
The cry released, the glory
Thrown like a sudden dream of dawn
Sheening a promontory.

And given again in dread and daze
To the wonder-winds that brought it—
Content that by such fortuned ways
'Twas humble he who wrought it.

First Aid in Coffee Famine.

If you run short of coffee, et cetera, I suggest that you try an infusion of wintergreen leaves. Fill the pot about half full, cover with water, and boil for five minutes. No cream or sugar required. Just keep on adding water until it no longer tastes of wintergreen and, of course, boil briskly for a few minutes after each addition of water.

A HOPEFUL OUTLOOK IN PNEUMONIA.

MOST of us have learned how to avoid pneumonia. Instead of ignoring the common cold we regard it as a possible entering wedge for a more serious disease. In like fashion, we are careful about influenza, particularly when the bronchial tubes are involved. Proper precautions against every coryza will forestall a severe bout with a dangerous affliction of the lungs.

The usual siege of pneumonia betokens a short, sharp fight. Portions of the breathing apparatus become inflamed and fluid from the blood fills the air sacs. In consequence, too little oxygen will reach the circulation. Respiration will be embarrassed and poison from the growing bacteria will sap vitality.

But the causative organism has been challenged and more often than not defeat can be turned into victory. In other words, a mortality rate of 30 per cent or higher has dropped to less than 10 per cent. Many series of cases will show but two per cent.

The physician has many strings to his bow. First of all we think of oxygen. With the patient struggling for breath, the effort of expanding and contracting the lungs is decreased enormously during the administration of this vital gas. So much comfort is induced that restlessness will give way to relaxation. In addition, irritability will disappear, while numerous signs of circulatory collapse will change for the better. But this is not a remedy of last resort. It may do far more good when it is used early in the course of the ailment.

Antitoxin [serum] holds an important place. Large doses may be injected and this specific may be obtained for several varieties of the germ. The type must be determined and the proper neutralizing substance utilized.

The effectiveness of the sulfonamides has gratified the medical world. Sulfapyridine, sulfathiazole, and sulfadiazine are all valuable. But as with any chemical, the patient must be able to tolerate a sufficient quantity to produce the desired effect—that is, the blood must be well supplied with the dye. Daily checks, however, upon the condition of the kidneys and the leucocytes are necessary safeguards.

If the first of these preparations disagrees with the patient and is responsible for vomiting, the second may be tried. Apparently sulfathiazole is somewhat less toxic but probably not quite so vigorous as sulfapyridine. With many, sulfadiazine will be the drug of choice.

Good nursing must not be forgotten. No victim should be left alone for more than a minute or two, as delirium may come quickly. Some attention will need to be paid to diet, as well as to the digestive tract. As a rule, liquids may be given freely, especially fruit juices. Small feedings every hour or two will usually be well handled.

The vital thing is to attack the malady with every weapon at our command as we are dealing with a vicious infection which deserves no quarter.

BEAUTY NAP.

E. T. writes: My husband sets the alarm for 7 a. m. When it rings, he shuts it off and goes back to sleep. After he gets up finally, he is tired for hours. I claim he should set it for 7:30 and then get up at once—thus getting the full benefit of the extra half hour. Who is right?

REPLY.

Breaking one's rest unnecessarily is not conducive to good health. After the alarm has sounded, enough anxiety will fill the mind to defeat repose.

NOT AN ISSUE.

H. G. writes: I have been told that eating only lean meat will result in a floating kidney. I do not like fat.

REPLY.

No danger. The kidneys can sail on a voyage of adventure only when the body becomes emaciated. The pads of fat which hold them in place are reasonably permanent. History does not record that Jack Sprat complained of wandering renal organs.

EASTERNERS "OF STERNER STUFF."

Millers Falls, Mass., Nov. 18.—We folks here in the east have just been told that after next Sunday our A coupon for rationing gasoline will be good for just three gallons instead of four. Surprising as it may seem, I haven't heard much complaining about the change, either. You people in Illinois and surrounding states have been stewing ever since the possibility of your being rationed arose. It just proves that we folks of New England are made of slightly sterner stuff, and it's logical that we should make the bigger sacrifices—because we can take it. I really hope that, to avoid thousands of nervous breakdowns, offended feelings, and hampered schedules in the middle west, our gasoline will be taken away entirely before you pampered pansies are caused any inconvenience whatsoever.

MISS SALLY M. DYKES.

OLD STUFF IN 1888.

Chicago, Nov. 13.—There is nothing new in what Dr. Charles Allen Thomas, research director for Monsanto Chemical company, says about women getting meals, from soup to nuts, from a central source by way of tube. In 1888 a book was written by Edward Bellamy, a reporter formerly on a local paper, which predicted just that, and also the submarine, the pneumatic tube, World war, radio, and television. It was called "Looking Backward." Each baby was given a card at birth from which all materials were punched during the lifetime, and if they did anything wonderful later for mankind, they did not need the card. There was to be no money. It was a dream of so-called communism.

LOUIS L. BEEHLER, M. D.

REFERRED TO THE NEW DEAL PHILANTHROPISTS.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—In today's TRIBUNE appears a news story stating that two complete oil refineries, a complete steel mill, a complete aluminum rolling mill, several complete railroad systems, including locomotives and cars, are being shipped to other nations of the world under lend-lease. This, of course, means the American taxpayers are paying for this equipment.

Who owns this equipment after it is installed abroad? To whom will the profits from the use of these tools and machines accrue? As taxpayers, we think we are entitled to know.

INTERESTED TAXPAYERS.

FREE RIDES FOR WAVES.

Chicago, Nov. 8. — During the last week-end I had five WAVES as my guests. They were very much surprised when the street car and elevated lines did not recognize women who are in the navy and allow them the same courtesy as they do men — that is, free transportation.

Women are playing a very important part in this war, and should be given a little consideration. The railroads give them special rates, so why not the Chicago transportation companies? M. M.

IMPROVING TRAFFIC CONTROL.

Chicago, Nov. 16.—With the coming of gas rationing and a winter of snow and ice, our street cars and buses will be loaded beyond capacity. Wouldn't it be wise for our city government to give a hand toward helping transportation before a breakdown occurs, which may mean the loss of many man hours in our war plants? The street car men and bus operators may not be able to cope with the additional load unless the city wakes up and regulates traffic so that vehicles of mass transportation can move about the streets without interference from other traffic or obstruction by parking.

Parking along streets used by street cars and buses should not be permitted at any time. Motor cars and even trucks should be discouraged from using streets which are used by street cars and buses. Traffic lights can be so arranged that they will cause the least possible delay, and left turns at intersections with traffic signals should be abolished. Traffic officers at busy intersections could be instructed to assist in the movement of street cars and buses by helping to control their loads, as well as the movement of traffic. Motor vehicles should not be permitted to operate in street car tracks except when turning around some obstruction. Working hours could be staggered. Nondefense workers could so arrange their hours as not to conflict with the movement of defense workers.

Such an arrangement would make transportation much more comfortable for the user, would speed up the movement of the war worker, and would make the movement of these vehicles and their loads much safer. W. G. ECHOLS.

THE THREE R'S.

Flat Rock, Ill., Nov. 11.—I want to congratulate the state superintendent of instruction-elect, Mr. Nickell, on his statement that he was going to get back to the "three R's" in the schools. I had occasion to be in a grocery Nov. 7 and a lady called for a peck of potatoes. The clerk, a high school student in her second year, started to weigh them, then called me to ask how many pounds were in a peck of potatoes. I think Mr. Nickell is on the right path.

COFFEE BY RAIL.

Chicago, Nov. 15.—Discussing the coffee "shortage"—charged only to lack of bottoms, not to lack of stocks in the producing countries of Latin America—I would point out that on Nov. 1 of this year, the half mile long bridge over the Rio Suchiate between Mexico and Guatemala was opened with impressive ceremonies.

This means an all rail route from Chicago or any other rail center of the United States to the great coffee fincas of Central America, thru Mexico, reaching into El Salvador on a branch line, and tapping Honduras by road. Our sister republic Nicaragua lies south of Honduras. Mail to Nicaragua, including parcel post, now goes overland via Mexico.

Some of the finest coffee grown comes from the uplands of Guatemala and neighboring highland districts. There is a stock pile big enough to supply all needs [our own and our allies], and all that is needed is a smart traffic manager.

JOHN G. ROBEL.

YOO-HOO, MR. EARL.

Park Ridge, Ill., Nov. 14.—W. E. Earl's name does not appear in our telephone book, so he is either "in hiding" or a newcomer to Park Ridge who does not know that he is living in a township [Maine] that polled a vote of 7,484 for Sen. Brooks against 3,274 for McKeough. As proof that the two party system still operates, we here in Park Ridge are glad to have a few [very few] Democratic votes. If Mr. Earl is a bona fide resident of Park Ridge, let him take a look at our service record in this war and he will find out why we voted for Mr. Brooks.

NEGLECT OF THE FLAG.

Chicago, Nov. 9.—From a friend's window I witnessed a flag dedication. It was raining. After the ceremony every one ran for the tavern to celebrate. At 9 o'clock our once beautiful flag was hanging limp and wet, wrapped around the flagpole like a rag. This is only one of many. M. H.

OPA WARNS 100 IN CITY TO OBEY CEILING ORDERS

Director Hints Penalty for Violators.

More than 100 Chicago merchants are included in the 303 merchants in a six state region to whom the Office of Price Administration announced today it had sent warning notices of violation of price ceiling rules.

Warning notices are required by the price law as a preliminary to action to suspend business licenses, John C. Weigel, regional director, pointed out. "The OPA desires to be fair," he said, "but merchants must obey price rules or suffer the consequences."

This is the second list of merchants made public by the OPA; 790 violators were named on Nov. 7, of which 286 were Chicago merchants. The warnings charged violations of the general maximum price regulation, which provides that retailers must:

1. Maintain for examination by any person during business hours a complete statement of all commodities which are under ceiling prices, together with prices charged for them during March.

2. Display plainly ceiling prices of cost of living items.

3. File with local war price and rationing boards lists of ceiling prices.

4. Keep lists up to date.

The OPA does not specify the types of violators or whether any merchant has violated more than one of the regulations. Those listed as violators are:

Slaevitz Meat Market, 4106 Roosevelt road.
Kennedy and Johnson, Inc., retail liquor. 49 East Chicago avenue.
Bastian Brothers' Bakery, 3971 Elston ave.
Karzen Pharmacy, 158 South Western ave.

Rockford, Ill., Nov. 23 [Special].—Thirteen members of the Rockford police department have filed applications for examinations to succeed Chief of Police Charles G. Manson. Manson will retire Tuesday.

INDUSTRY ASKS PRICE INCREASE FOR CRUDE OIL

Washington, D. C., Nov. 23 (AP).—Congress, already involved in a controversy over nation-wide gasoline rationing, heard today that the petroleum industry wants a general increase in crude prices—which determine the cost of gasoline for the consumer.

Ralph K. Davies, deputy oil coordinator, told a house interstate commerce subcommittee that the plea by the industry for an increase was under consideration but that no recommendations yet had been made to price officials.

He testified in an open afternoon session, after the group had met three hours behind closed doors to hear Price Administrator Leon Henderson defend the nation-wide gasoline rationing proposal and reiterate that it must go into effect on Dec. 1 as scheduled.

Truman Promises Inquiry.

At the other end of the capitol, Chairman Harry S. Truman [D., Mo.] of the senate defense investigating committee asked that the country "go along" with the rationing program and that in the meantime his committee would prepare and lay the facts before the country.

Jeffers' office made public during the day a statement by leaders of railway labor organizations indorsing nation-wide gasoline rationing, and calling upon all members of their organizations to observe the program. The statement, signed by six union leaders, said rationing was opposed "by those who regard the waging of the war as secondary to their own selfish interests."

Passed on to Consumer.

The statement was signed by J. G. Luhrsen, executive secretary, Railway Labor Executives' association; A. J. Whitney, president, Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen; B. N. Jewel, president, Railway Employés department [AFL]; George M. Harrison, president, Brotherhood of Railway Clerks; D. B. Robertson, president, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, and S. J. Hogan, president, Marine Engineers.

[A copy of this statement was received by mail in The Tribune office last night, indicating that it had been prepared some time ago.]

A Pittsburgh business man, officials of the chamber of commerce, motor clubs, and oil companies, protesting the prospective three gallons per week gasoline ration for western Pennsylvania, will seek higher allotments tomorrow from the OPA, a spokesman said tonight. The request is based upon comparatively large available gasoline supplies in oil producing western Pennsylvania.

Answering a question by a committee member, he said that any substantial increase in crude costs inevitably must be passed on to the consumer.

SMUTS ON WAY HOME.

LONDON, Nov. 23 (AP).—Field Marshal Jan Christiaan Smuts, prime minister of South Africa, is on his way home after a several weeks' stay in London, it was disclosed today with announcement of his arrival in Cairo, Egypt.

ADULTS BLAMED BY STRITCH FOR JUVENILE CRIME

The adult stands equally guilty with the delinquent boy, Archbishop Samuel A. Stritch last night told 2,000 members of the Holy Name society's Big Brothers, meeting in the Palmer House to discuss problems of juvenile delinquency.

"The delinquent is the business of everybody in the community," he said, "because society is responsible for the injustices that create the juvenile delinquent."

Juvenile Court Judge Frank H. Bicek said that in the last few years the average criminal age has dropped from between 20 and 25 to between 12 and 20. He added that the control of juvenile delinquency means the control of adult crime.

Chief Justice Edward S. Scheffler of Municipal court said 13 per cent of all crimes are committed by persons between the ages of 16 and 21; that youths of that age are responsible for 50 per cent of auto thefts and 42 per cent of all other robberies.

Other speakers included the Rev. Edward J. Kelly, executive director of the Holy Name society, and the Rt. Rev. Thomas P. Bona.

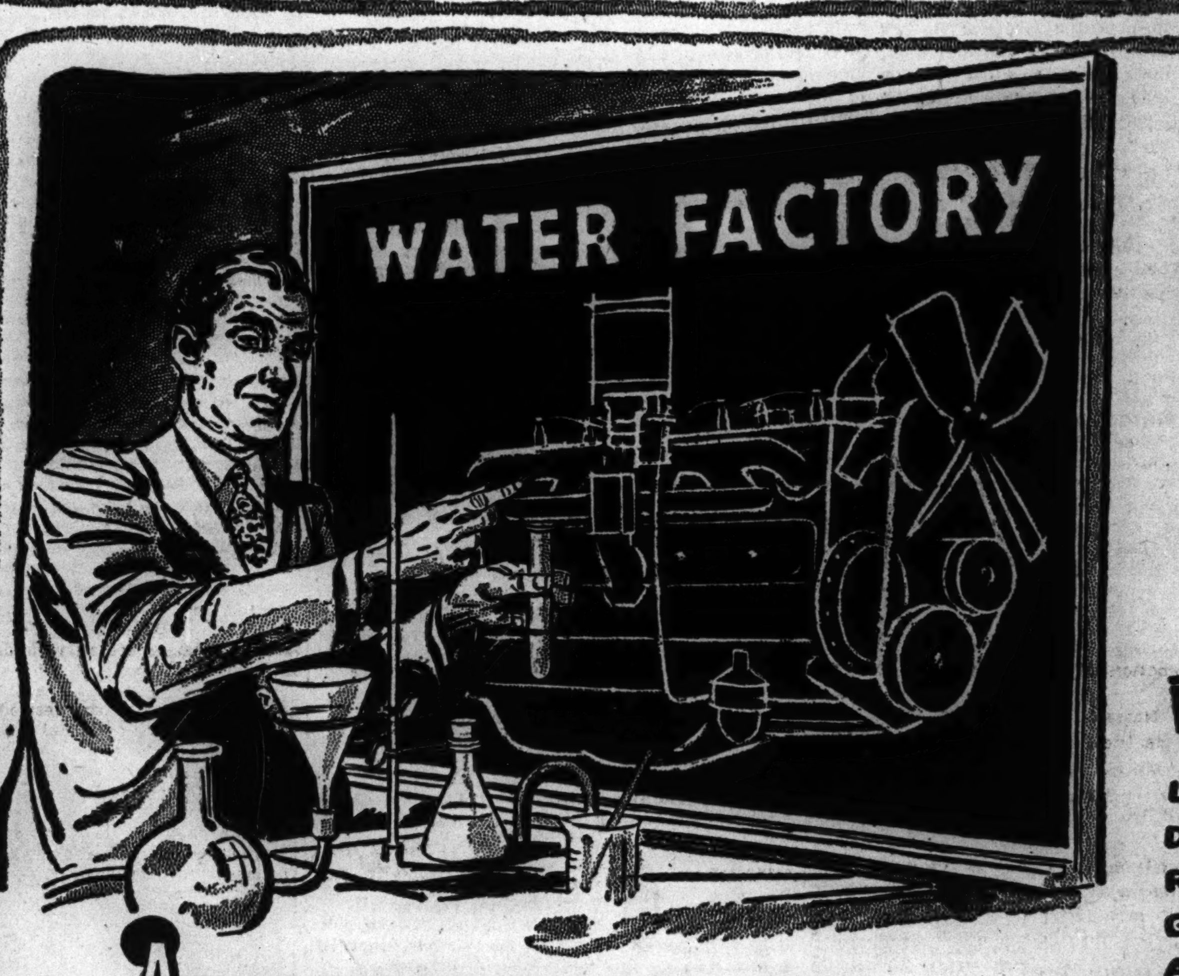
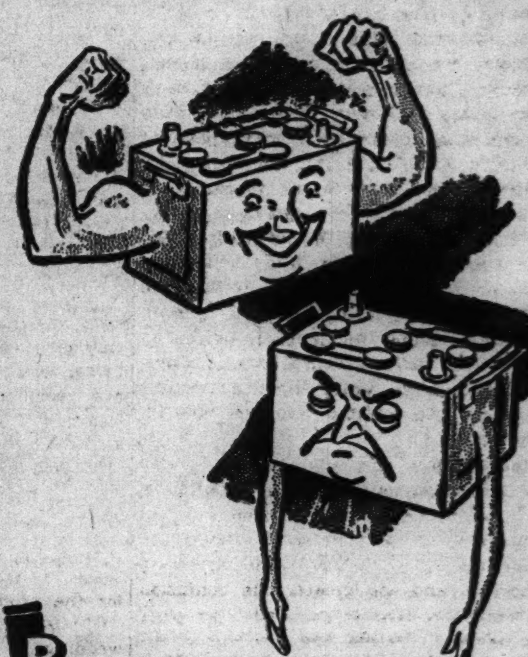
Speaking of GAS RATIONING





BATTERIES WEAKEN FROM LACK OF "EXERCISE." LESS DRIVING MEANS INSUFFICIENT RECHARGING BY THE GENERATOR, CALLS FOR MORE ATTENTION, NOT LESS.

AUTO ENGINES PRODUCE NEARLY A GALLON OF WATER FOR EVERY GALLON OF GAS BURNED. UNDER MINIMUM DRIVING, MORE OF THAT WATER THAN EVER CONDENSES IN THE CRANKCASE TO CONTAMINATE ANY OIL FASTER. NOWADAYS BE EXTRA PARTICULAR ABOUT CHANGING OIL.

MOISTURE ALWAYS GETS INTO LUBRICATION POINTS. WITH MINIMUM DRIVING, IT STAYS THERE LONGER, CAUSING RUST. BE PROTECTED. GET A GOOD GREASE JOB AT LEAST EVERY 2 MONTHS.

GUARD THAT RUBBER! RUBBER SHACKLES AND BUSHINGS LOSE LIFE WHETHER THEY'RE USED OR NOT. WITH EVERY GREASE JOB, ASK YOUR DEALER TO APPLY SPECIAL RUBBER PRESERVATIVE TO PROLONG LIFE.

SAVE AS YOU DRIVE —UNDER 35

Now your car needs better care

● Gas rationing now joins cold weather to make your car need better care per mile. Under minimum driving, automotive technicians advise shorter mileage intervals between grease jobs, oil changes and other important services. Your Standard Oil Dealer does expert "winter conditioning", now more necessary than ever. See his list of vital services at the right. You'll want their protection. You'll also want the protection supplied by Iso-Vis Motor Oil. Top quality, high in protective powers, Standard's Iso-Vis Motor Oil is the fastest starting motor oil you can buy.

CHICAGO FIRMS CO-OPERATE IN SHIFT OF HOURS

Schedule Changes Already Listed by Several.

Charles E. DeLeuw, Chicago administrator for the Office of Defense Transportation, said yesterday that public reaction to the proposed stagger plan—whereby 150,000 of the 300,000 loop workers will have their working hours changed Dec. 1 to aid traffic congestion—has been coöperative and that no firms have refused the request. The program is voluntary, altho the ODT has the power to make it compulsory, he said.

"One of the first firms to announce acceptance of our recommendation was the Union Tank Car company, 228 North La Salle street, whose office force of 250 persons will come to work 15 minutes earlier and leave 15 minutes ahead of their present schedule," De Leuw said.

4,000 in One Plant Shift Hours.

Four thousand employés of the B. Kuppenheimer and company at their Franklin street plant will come to work 15 minutes earlier at 7:45 a. m., take 15 minutes less at lunch, and leave work at 4:30 p. m., according to a plan announced by B. J. Cahn, president. The plan will go into effect Dec. 1.

Elmer T. Stevens, president of the State Street council, said State street stores are making arrangements to comply with the program of staggered hours. He said merchants will complete revision of work schedules and put them into effect Dec. 1. The revisions will not change opening and closing hours of the stores.

Garment Workers to Comply.

Another large group arranged to comply with the program is the ladies' garment industry, for which plans were made by union officials.

The general request for staggering of hours for different classifications of offices and factories in the area bounded by Oak street on the north, Halsted street on the west, Roosevelt road on the south, and Lake Michigan on the east, follows:

Banks [employés not affected by public banking hours]	15 min. earlier
City of Chicago	30 min. later
Cook county	30 min. later
Department stores and shops	Close no earlier than 6 p. m.
Engineers, architects, and contractors	30 min. earlier
Federal government [certain departments to be notified]	30 min later
Financial offices [other than banks	15 min. earlier
Insurance offices	30 min. earlier
Law offices	15 min. later
Millinery manufacturers	30 min. later
Miscellaneous offices [north of river only]	30 min. earlier
State of Illinois	30 min. earlier
Textile trades	Start 15 min. earlier, leave 30 min. earlier, difference to be made up in lunch periods.
Railroad and utility offices.	30 min. earlier or 30 min. later with specific changes to be recommended to each office.

FLYNN ENTERS NOT GUILTY PLEA IN RAPE CHARGE

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 23 (AP).—Screen Actor Errol Flynn appeared in court today and pleaded innocent to charges of statutory rape upon two 17 year old girls. Flynn sat quietly beside his counsel, Jerry Giesler and Robert Scott, while Superior Judge Edward R. Brand set trial for Jan. 11.

The appearance was a brief formality, following the recent preliminary hearing at which the two girls, Betty Hansen, former Lincoln, Neb., soda fountain girl, and Peggy Satterlee, made their accusations. Miss Hansen testified Flynn raped her during a party at the Bel-Air home of Fred McEvoy, British sportsman. Miss Satterlee charged in her complaint that the actor had twice raped her aboard his yacht when she was 15.

Under California law the age of consent is 18 and relations with girls under that age are defined as rape.

ENJOINS HOTELS FROM BOOSTING ROOM RENTALS

Judge Michael L. Igoe of the federal district court yesterday issued permanent injunctions restraining five hotels from violating rental ceilings. They are the Belland apartment hotel, 2258 Cleveland avenue; Cass hotel, 640 North Wabash avenue; Carlin hotel, 1512 North La Salle street; Marshall hotel, 1232 North La Salle street; and Traemour hotel, 5427 Kenmore avenue. The government charged them with overcharging army officers. The Croydon hotel, 618 Rush street, is under a temporary injunction in the same case, and the Carlos hotel, 3841 Sheffield avenue, accepted a consent decree, likwise in the same case.

BRITISH WOMAN TELLS OF TRIP TO U. S. IN A WARSHIP

A British lady who said she came from England aboard a battleship, appeared yesterday in Judge John F. O'Connell's court in connection with the estate of a cousin.

She is Miss Josephine Plows-Day, a founder and trustee of the National Adoption Society of England, an organization which placed 462 babies for adoption last year.

"I cannot give any details of this Atlantic crossing," she said. "The persons who made it possible for me to travel on a battleship would not allow that. I can say, however, that I traveled by special visa.

"I have made many crossings but this was the most wonderful. The weather was perfect and the time exceptionally speedy. All I can say of the rest is it's a military secret."

Miss Plows-Day appeared to prove heirship in Probate court to the $1,500 estate of Miss Ada Maude Baggett, 6656 Stewart avenue, who died Nov. 17, 1940. Daughter of Harry E. Daggett, wealthy coal dealer, she was Miss Plows-Day's first cousin once removed. Miss Plows-Day offered proof of heirship and said she will remain here until the estate is settled.

FCC ORDERS LIST OF ALL SURPLUS RADIO EQUIPMENT

All broadcasting stations have been ordered by the federal communications commission to report the amount and condition of all surplus equipment. Stations must describe the size, power and effective range of transmitting equipment.

The listing of this information, the FCC said, does not necessarily constitute an offer to sell such equipment. The survey represents primarily a means of making the information available to stations in need.

The FCC said it expects this equipment survey to permit many broadcasting stations to stay in operation which would otherwise be forced to remain silent for at least temporary periods. The plan also is expected to lessen pressure on manufacturing facilities urgently needed for military equipment, it said.

William Benes, 1410 Gunderson avenue, Berwyn, was judged the outstanding star of tomorrow in a contest conducted on W-G-N by the Sunday evening amateur hour. Benes, a violinist, was judged the best of nine finalists and received a $500 war bond.

Defer Bund Chief's Draft Hearing as Mother Dies

Arraignment of William Bernard Wernecke, former German bund leader, charged with violating the selective service act, was continued yesterday to next Monday because of the death of his mother, Mrs. Martha C. Wernecke, 6250 Wayne avenue. Judge William J. Campbell will hear the arraignment.

EVER SIP A $2,000,000 OLD FASHIONED?

● Here's the recipe below! We call it a $2,000,000 "dream of a drink"—because that's what Fleischmann invested in grains, skill and research before we released one golden bottle of this rich, luxurious, straight bourbon whiskey. We make it in limited amounts. We have to—it's so delicious!

FIRST, GET FLEISCHMANN'S BOND THEN DO THIS!

1
Place ½ level teaspoon of granulated sugar in Old Fashioned glass! Add 2 or 3 dashes of Angostura bitters, and just enough water to dissolve the sugar!

2
Muddle thoroughly. Add ice cubes, and 1½ oz. of smooth, delicious Fleischmann's BOND! Then stir!

3
Twist a strip of lemon peel over top and drop rind in drink! Garnish to suit with Maraschino cherry, a slice of orange, or a strip of pineapple!

CURB OF BUTTER CUTS SUPPLY TO CITY CONSUMERS

Grocers Begin Limiting Sales to Trade.

Chicagoans yesterday felt the impact of the War Production board's order on Friday setting aside 40 per cent of the nation's total warehouse reserves of butter for the exclusive use of government agencies. Grocers thruout the city began limiting sales to customers to conserve supplies, contradicting the assurance of a WPB official that consumers would not begin to feel the effects of the order until January.

Wholesalers and distributors, who have been rationing butter informally for several weeks in order to stretch stocks as evenly as possible, said they were preparing to institute further cuts as the result of the WPB order, which the public was told was to insure the government an adequate supply for the armed forces and lend-lease shipment to other nations. Large grocery chains have been limiting sales for several days, usually one pound to a customer.

Supplies Below Normal.

One retailer reported that his store ran out of butter early in the day because it was not his policy to limit purchases and his supplies were below normal.

Statistics tell the story of why wholesalers and retailers are unable to obtain their usual supplies. On Nov. 7 the reserve stock of butter was 61,724,104 pounds. Last Saturday, the stocks in the 35 market centers affected by the WPB freeze totaled 39,941,624 pounds. The order directs that 50 per cent of all butter in these warehouses be set aside for the government, the percentage to be based on Nov. 6 or Nov. 20, whichever is the larger.

31 Million Pounds Frozen.

Since the 35 centers represent 80 per cent of the national total of butter in storage, the freeze was estimated to cover 31 million pounds on the basis of Nov. 6 holdings. Subtracting the earmarked butter from Saturday's total, there is left only about 10 million pounds available for civilians from the 35 centers.

The Nov. 21 national butter reserve was estimated at 50 million pounds, and on the basis that the 35 centers held 80 per cent of the total, the amount available for civilians was placed at about 19 million pounds.

Reserves Below 50 Per Cent.

Chicago reserves on Nov. 6 were 19,877,210 pounds. Yesterday's total was slightly in excess of 9 million pounds, or less than the 50 per cent set aside by the government, leaving none available for civilians as far as storage butter is concerned.

This means that civilians soon must depend upon current production for their butter. Production during the fall and winter months provides about two-thirds of the amount consumed, leaving one-third to be taken from storage.

Current production is below a year ago because of the farm labor shortage and increased use of milk for other purposes.

BEATEN MAN, 62, DIES.

Maxwell street police are investigating the death of Elbert Tvaroh, 62 years old, found dead of a fractured skull at his home, 1924 South Throop street, by his sister Anna yesterday. The sister told police her brother had left home Sunday, and returned 24 hours later bruised and battered, but that he refused to talk about his injuries. Tvaroh was a box maker.

THE QUESTION.

Do you think it's an advantage or a disadvantage to be the oldest child in the family?

WHERE ASKED.

Consumer's Building, 220 South State street.

THE ANSWERS.

Beverly Taylor, clerical worker, 8030 Harvard avenue—If a child is the oldest, he is assured for at least one or two years of undivided attention. As long as the first three years are the most important, they're off to a good start. The second child receives the benefits of having experienced parents.

H. J. Erlenbach, supervisor of inspection, 2807 Hawthorne street, Franklin Park.—In my family the older children enjoyed more advantages than the younger ones. Their mother died six years ago and so the younger boys were deprived of extra years of love and guidance. The older children took on heavier responsibilities, but that is not always a disadvantage.

Mrs. Edward Grossman, housewife, 6719 Ridgeland avenue—If difference in ages is too great it's a disadvantage to be the oldest. There is a difference of seven years in the ages of my two sons and after so many years of individual attention it must be quite an adjustment to share that cherished position.

Harvey Schiller, jewelry salesman, 1256 Independence boulevard—It's definitely a disadvantage. Inexperienced parents don't always understand the behavior of a new little individual and sometimes make mistakes. After they've had one or two years of training they're much better qualified to cope with the next problem. But it's the first born who pays.

Patricia Schaub, stenographer, 3703 McLean avenue—To be the oldest child in the family is a distinct advantage. At least I've always been glad I was. We older ones are able to dominate the others and that's good for the ego. It also bolsters self-confidence to have younger brothers and sisters come to me for advice.

Harold Anderson, stock record clerk, 2310 Lawrence avenue—I've always considered myself lucky I was the oldest. I've never known what it was to wear "hand-me-down" clothes. Of course, because I am the oldest, people expect more of me, so I keep myself toeing the mark, which is good discipline.

FLEES ASYLUM; KILLED BY TRAIN.

Kankakee, Ill., Nov. 23 [Special].—The body of Melvin Kimery, 33 years old, a patient at Kankakee State hospital, was found today along the Illinois Central tracks an hour after he had escaped from the institution. He was run over by a freight train.

DRIVERS DEMAND PAY INCREASE IF MILK PRICE RISES

Union Holds Agreement Will Be Voided.

Chicago milk wagon drivers warned yesterday that if dealers are granted the ½ cent per quart price increase they ask, the drivers will demand an immediate increase in pay. This was the announcement of James G. Kennedy, president of the milk wagon drivers' union, who also lodged a protest against curtailment of milk deliveries to one every other day.

The union head said that if the price increase is granted, the drivers will consider void the wage agreement of last May in which the drivers, demanding $5 a week additional pay, accepted $2 on the representation that a price ceiling would be imposed on milk. No decision had been made yesterday on the amount of pay increase to be demanded.

Kennedy also said that any plan for cutting down on deliveries is unnecessary because distributors already have made route mileage reductions approaching the 25 per cent cut demanded by the Office of Defense transportation, and can comply fully thru other economies.

Sees Commission Losses.

"Our drivers now get $50 a week, plus commissions," Kennedy said. "If deliveries are halved, they'll lose much of their commission business, and they'll also lose home deliveries to companies making their routes on their off days. It would throw at least 600 drivers out of work.

"The $2 a week increase is the only pay boost they've had since 1940, but their living costs have gone up the same as every one else's."

Paul Potter, executive secretary of the Associated Milk Dealers, said that prior to the $2 increase on May 1 of this year the drivers had received a $4.26 weekly increase on May 1, 1941, bringing their total increases to 15 per cent of their wages on Jan. 1, 1941. In addition, Potter said, the milk dealers hold a contract with the drivers which has until May 1, 1943, to run.

Potter said he had informed the union leaders by telephone yesterday that the new delivery plan does not contemplate wage reductions nor extensive layoffs. It would be regarded purely as a war emergency measure, made with the full sanction of the ODT, he said.

Says Farm Price Rises.

Potter said the dealers hope to meet with representatives of the union Wednesday in an attempt to settle any differences arising from the announced plan.

"A price increase to consumers is necessary," he said, "because the farm price, unchecked by any ceiling, has gone up since the dealers' ceiling went on in March. The rise might be accomplished without a change in the present ceilings if the government buys the milk at the source and sells it to the dealers at a lower price.

6 More Enter Guilty Pleas in Whisky Receipt Fraud

Cedar Rapids, Ia., Nov. 23 (AP).—Six more defendants pleaded guilty in federal court today in the whisky warehouse receipt swindle in which John [Jake the Barber] Factor is involved. Pleas of guilty to conspiracy and mail fraud were entered by Henry Bernstein, Albert A. Slater, and Sam Seinfeld, all of Chicago; Sidney Davis and Joseph KonWiser, both of New York, and Frank Husak, Cedar Rapids. Sentence was deferred. Factor of Chicago also has pleaded guilty.

Mrs. Burton gets some helpful hints on the use of her Electric Ironer

Helen Scott, home advisor, suggests many economical, time-saving ideas for ironing clothes

Miss Scott: When clothes come off the line they're usually too dry for ironing, so it is necessary to dampen them. To do this a bottle with a perforated top like the one you have is recommended. Using warm water we'll dampen each piece evenly, roll it up to spread the moisture through, and let it set for at least two hours. The linens will need more sprinkling than the cottons.

Mrs. Burton: I usually start with the flat work.
Miss Scott: That's right—and if you alternate the large pieces with the small ones, it will keep the ironer at a more even temperature. When you send linen articles through folded, have the crease in a different place each time so the folds will not become worn. Iron with weave of the goods, hem first. When the flat work is finished, let's do the wearing apparel.

Miss Scott: The roller represents your ironing board . . . the shoe is your iron. The left end of the shoe here is the point of your iron which fits into ruffles and gathers. Any garment can be ironed by the same rules as in hand ironing. Find the shoulder, sleeve or underarm seam which leads to the flat side of the garment; place on roller and iron as far as you can iron flat, then stop and turn garment to a new angle.

Mrs. Burton: When ironing shirts I always start with the sleeves.
Miss Scott: That's right. Always iron belts, ties, ribbons and sleeves first. Follow the seams just as you do in hand ironing. Keep the weave running the same way as the roller, and smooth materials from the center to the left and right. Do not pull garment toward you because this will cause sagging and uneven edges. Just let it go through easily as the roller turns.

Miss Scott: Pleating woolen material is simple, and can be done with a real "professional" finish. Pin pleats in place on the underside of the material . . . cover with a damp cloth . . . set ironer on "press" so the roller will not turn . . . then move the garment until all surfaces have been steamed. To steam velvet, turn the shoe face up . . . place a wet Turkish towel over the shoe-face and lay velvet on it nap side up. Brush lightly and briskly with a soft brush.

Important facts to remember about using your electric ironer

Never iron Turkish towels or baby diapers because this reduces their absorbency. It is not necessary to iron chenille and candlewick materials.

It will prolong the life of your flat pieces to vary the creases each time you iron them, because materials creased in the same place too often have a tendency to break along the crease.

A pinch of salt added to the starch will keep it from sticking to the ironer shoe, causing you to work more slowly.

If you have any questions regarding the proper use of your electric ironer, visit one of the Commonwealth Edison Victory Home Centers where home advisors are ready to help you.

"Wedding Postponed"

CHANGE IN HEART.

The intern and the two nurses were still there, frankly eying them now. Bart could only press Tessa's hand again, hard, harder, and then he was gone, and she was walking down the long corridor of the nurses' wing, opening a door softly, taking off her cap, her apron, shoes, undressing in the dark, lying awake for a long time. . . . Wednesday, 10 o'clock . . . 57th street subway . . . Bart! . . .

But she never got to 57th street at 10 o'clock, because there was a note delivered by special messenger just as she was about to start.

"Tess—Forgive me for not saying good-by, but there wasn't time. I decided to take that Denver job after all and I'll be on the westbound plane when you get this. I'm sorry about Monday night. But by this time you probably realize as well as I that it didn't mean a thing. Just the old biologic urge rearing its ugly head for a moment. You know how men are. Good luck on the India project.—Bart."

The note slowly slipped from her nerveless hands, and she clutched a chair for support while the world about her dissolved into a horrible chaos.

"Well, you couldn't hardly blame her."

"Just the same, it's too bad. Devlin was made for nursing."

"And he must be years older than she. Her father's business partner or something."

"May and December."

"O, he isn't so Decemberish. Look at his picture." A blue and white student pushed the Sunday paper across a table in the nurses' recreation room and a group of curious young heads bent over it.

"Handsome, I calls it."

"And how. No wonder she fell for him."

"You know, I always thought there was something between Devlin and Dr. Carson. And then when she up and quit right after he went out west I was sure of it."

"She acted kind of queer at the time, didn't she?"

"Queer? She acted like something at the wrong end of a blunt instrument."

"Anybody here seen her since?"

Nobody had.

"Right after she left she went to Bermuda with her family, and since they came back she's been out at the country place at Stapleton. When's the wedding?"

"It doesn't say. Just 'in the late summer.' Orange blossoms for Tessa, and the eight hour shift for us. Just the same, I wonder. . . ."

* *

"Of course, my dear, ready made things are all right in an emergency." Alice Devlin, breakfasting with her stepdaughter on the sun dappled terrace, paused to pour herself a second cup of coffee.

"Those I got before I went to Bermuda in March were very nice."

"There wasn't time then. You know how suddenly you made up your mind to go with us. But now for your trousseau we must, of course, have everything made to your measurements by Phoebe."

Tessa, sitting across from her, smiled wryly. "I guess I'll never learn to do things in the grand manner, will I? And you try so hard to teach me." She patted her stepmother's hand with a certain affection. "Is Phoebe that nice little person who said I had good hips?"

Alice Devlin nodded, preoccupied with plans. "Now if we get the 9:23 this morning that should give us an early start in town and we can——"

"But I can't possibly go today. I have a lesson this morning at the club with the pro. I'm really trying hard to learn golf. And I have a lunch date, and then this afternoon there's some sort of Junior league committee, and after that I'm meeting Jayson for cocktails at somebody's house—I forget who—and then this evening——"

"Tessa, dear, you mustn't. You simply drive yourself. Why do you do it?"

"O—I'm used to being busy, I suppose." Tessa looked at her watch and rose hurriedly, her eyes hard and bright. "Couldn't you get along without me the first day? Anything you select will be right with me."

"Well, I suppose today perhaps. But you'll have to squeeze in time for fittings later on."

* *

"Just leave the papers here, Emma. I'm not quite thru with them." Phoebe Carson, dressmaker extraordinaire, bent over her sketching board and gave the brief order to a maid, while a gallant, romantic evening cape that looked like it might belong to a cossack grew under her swift pencil.

But when the maid had withdrawn, the pencil lagged suddenly and Phoebe's hand dropped from the sketching board. She rose and crossed to the table where the maid had left the pile of Sunday papers. She hunted out the society section, where two photographs held the center of the page. Jayson Plaice and Tessa Devlin.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Devlin of Stapleton have announced the engagement of their daughter, Tessa, to Mr. Jayson Plaice of New York. The wedding will take place in the late summer.

She looked at the photographs for a long time. Presently she went back to her sketching board. But the cossack cape was still unfinished a half hour later when Kate McLaughlin came in.

"Mrs. Thomas Devlin's downstairs, Phoebe. She wants to plan her stepdaughter's trousseau."

The sketching pencil rattled to the floor. Phoebe bent over to retrieve it and to cover the sudden confusion that had flooded her face. She rose, replaced the pencil, but her hand clung to the edge of the board as if to steady herself.

"I told her you'd be right down and that—what's the matter?"

"Nothing—I——"

"Phoebe, dear, don't you feel well?" Kate's strong, solicitous arm sought to support her, but she drew away, faced her business partner, spoke slowly, with difficulty—but firmly.

"Kate—I can't—make Tessa Devlin's trousseau." The words came out like little hard stones . . . dropping. . . .

"Phoebe, are you crazy? Mrs. Devlin's one of our best customers."

"I know—but I can't do it."

"We're not overloaded with work now. Why can't you?"

"I can't tell you."

"Look here, Phoebe, what's going on?" Solicitude changed to impatience.

But Phoebe Carson only stood there, all color drained from her face, and repeated the statement. "I can't—make Tessa Devlin's—trousseau."

"But we can't turn down one of our best customers without some explanation. You're being outrageous."

And for the first time in their long association they quarreled.

But they did not make the trousseau of Tessa Devlin. That commission was entrusted to Axinia by Alice Devlin, indignant and outraged, who vowed never again to cross the threshold of Phoebe, Inc.

* *

Three weeks later the Sunday papers announced the wedding date of Tessa Devlin and Jayson Plaice . . . on Aug. 12, the 21st birthday of the bride, at the Stapleton home of her father, Thomas Devlin. Among the prenuptial affairs which have been arranged in honor of Miss Devlin are a dinner party at Sherry's by Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Sturdevant, a garden party at the home of . . .

"Phoebe, what on earth's the matter?" Kate McLaughlin eyed her partner across the living room of their top floor apartment. The Sunday paper which Phoebe had been reading had slipped from her hands and she was staring into space.

"Phoebe!" Kate's voice repeated the name sharply.

A little chill shot thru Phoebe. She rose from her chair, walked unsteadily to the window, looked out into the street. But she wasn't seeing what she was looking at. At the touch of Kate's hand on her arm she started and recoiled slightly.

"Look here, Phoebe," Kate's voice softened. She took the two small shoulders and brought them round to face her directly. "Tell me what's wrong."

"I—I can't. I mean I'm not sure—I must——"

She broke away from Kate, crossed the room to her bedroom, to the closet that held coat and hat, to the dresser for her bag.

"Well, wherever you're going, I'm going with you."

EVEN ON LIMITED BUDGET, YOU CAN PREPARE A FEAST

Savory Brown Roast Will Delight the Family.

It doesn't take an elaborate, expensive dinner to make Thanksgiving day a festive one, for a simple, well cooked meal which suits the family's taste and pocketbook can create a holiday mood just as successfully. No one will miss the traditional turkey when a savory brown roast appears at the table with all the trimmings.

Low Cost Thanksgiving Menu.

Grape Juice-Ginger Ale Cocktail
Crisp Wafers
Cheese Stuffed Celery   Radish Roses
Cranberry Glazed Pot Roast of Beef
Mashed Sweet Potatoes in Apple Cups
Green Beans with Lemon Butter
Hot Cloverleaf Rolls
Salad of Watercress, Chicory and Carrot Strips with French Dressing
Tutti-Frutti Gingerbread Squares
Whipped Cream
Coffee

Cranberry Glazed Pot Roast.

Buy chuck or rump roast, preferably boned and rolled at the meat market. Wipe with a damp cloth, dredge with flour, and brown on top of the stove in a heavy pan in which a small amount of fat has been melted. When browned, sprinkle well with salt and pepper, add two cups of cranberry sauce [sieved or whole berries], and cover the pan. Let cook very slowly until the meat is tender. This may be done in the oven or on top of the stove. Allow 30 to 35 minutes per pound of meat.

Mashed Sweet Potatoes in Apple Cups.

[Serves 4.]

4 medium sweet potatoes
½ teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons sugar
4 baking apples
4 marshmallows

Cook the potatoes in their skins until tender, then peel while hot; mash and add salt, butter or margarine, and sugar. Scoop out the apples, leaving a fairly thick shell. Fill apples with mashed potatoes, piling them high. Place in a baking dish or pan and bake at 325 degrees until apples are tender, about 20 minutes. Place a marshmallow on top of each serving and bake a little longer until marshmallows are brown.

Tutti-Frutti Gingerbread.

[9 inch square pan.]

½ cup butter or other shortening
½ cup sugar
½ cup molasses
1 beaten egg
½ teaspoon soda
½ cup buttermilk or sour milk
1¾ cups sifted cake flour
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
¾ teaspoon ginger
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup mixed candied fruit, chopped

Cream butter and sugar, add molasses and egg, and beat thoroly. Sift dry ingredients together twice; add alternately with milk to creamed mixture. Beat well and fold in chopped candied fruits. Turn into buttered pan. Bake in moderately hot oven [375 degrees] for about 25 minutes or until done. Cut into squares when cool, and serve with whipped cream, topped with bits of candied fruit if desired.

Storing Apples.

When apples are stored, they should be kept in a cool, moist place, free from odors that the fruit might absorb.

A BETTER DRESSING for This and Other Birds

DRESSING for a 4-lb. Fowl

1⅓ pkg. Hekman's Dutch Tea Rusk; ¼ lb. Butter; 2 Stalks Celery; Small Onion; Salt, Pepper, Pinch of Sage.

Melt heaping tablespoonful of butter in frying pan. Chop celery and onion very fine and fry in butter until soft. Crumble rusk very fine, preferably with rolling pin. Add seasoning. Melt rest of butter and add to the crumbled rusk. Mix well. Add fried celery and onion, and place in turkey. Sage can be eliminated, if desired.

For larger birds increase quantities in direct proportion to weight of fowl.

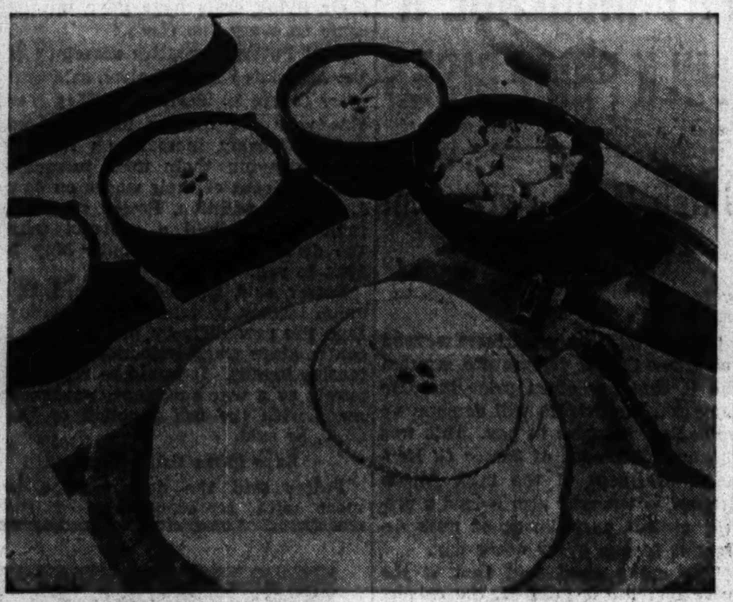
Left-Over Turkey in Tasty Dish



There are those who look forward to the day-after turkey dish as much as to the hot roast turkey. To make a left-over dish of unusual flavor, combine the turkey with vegetables and chicken soup. Here are the directions: White sauce of 2 tablespoons butter, 3 tablespoons flour, and 1 cup milk. Add 1 can condensed chicken soup, 1 cup diced turkey, ¾ cup cooked green peas, 8 small onions, ½ teaspoon salt, and ⅛ teaspoon pepper. Pour into a greased casserole or individual pie dishes. Cover with biscuit dough and bake at 450 degrees F. for 15 to 20 minutes. Serves four.

Save Meat and Eat It, Too; Sounds Like Good Trick

Here's a good way to save your meat and eat it, too. Cut a 2 pound Hubbard squash in half lengthwise. Remove seeds and stringy portions. Cut in quarters and place in baking dish or pan. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Dot with butter. Cover and bake in moderately hot oven, 375 degrees, until tender, 45 to 60 minutes. Remove pulp; mash well. Add 1 cup chopped cooked leftover meat, 1 teaspoon grated onion, salt, and pepper. Refill squash shells; return to oven for 15 minutes. Serves 4.

BREAKFAST, TOO, CAN BE A SPECIAL MEAL ON HOLIDAY

In your efforts to plan a successful holiday dinner, don't forget that breakfast can be a special occasion, too. An extra fancy hotbread, filled with bits of candied fruit, will make it so.

Sugarplum Loaf.

[8 inch round pan.]

1 cake compressed yeast
2 tablespoons lukewarm water
½ cup shortening
½ cup sugar
2 eggs
¾ cup milk
5 cups enriched flour, sifted
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup seedless raisins
¼ cup chopped walnut meats
½ cup chopped citron
½ cup chopped candied cherries

Dissolve yeast in water. Cream shortening and sugar. Beat eggs; add to creamed mixture. Add milk and yeast. Add 1 cup flour; mix well. Cover and let rise in warm place for 1 hour. Add salt, raisins, walnut meats, citron, and cherries. Add remaining flour; knead thoroly. Put into greased pan. Cover and let rise in warm place about 2 hours or until double in bulk. Bake in moderate oven at 350 degrees for about an hour and fifteen minutes. Remove from pan and frost lightly with plain confectioners' sugar icing.

Form Cake.

[1 large or 2 small cakes.]

1 cup milk
1 tablespoon sugar
2 cakes compressed yeast
3 cups sifted enriched flour
½ cup butter or other shortening
1 cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon lemon extract
3 eggs, beaten
½ cup chopped citron
½ cup seedless raisins
½ cup currants

Scald milk, add 1 tablespoon sugar, and cool to lukewarm; crumble in yeast and stir until dissolved. Add 1½ cups flour; beat until smooth. Cover and set in warm place, free from draft, and let rise until light, about 1 hour. Cream butter, add sugar and salt; add to yeast mixture. Add flavoring, beaten eggs, fruit, and remaining flour; beat 10 minutes. Pour into well greased, lightly floured pans to half fill. Cover and set in warm place, free from draft. Let rise until pans are nearly full. Bake in moderate oven at 350 degrees from 45 to 60 minutes.

Cups for Left-overs.

To make attractive, edible cups for creamed leftovers, remove crusts from slices of bread. Brush slices generously with butter or margerine. Press each slice lightly into muffin tins, leaving four corners erect. Toast in a moderately hot oven, 375 degrees, for about 10 minutes, or until brown.

Plans Slowly Shape for Yule Party Season

BY JUDITH CASS.

SLOWLY plans for the approaching Christmas holiday season are being made, with parties for debutantes lagging away behind usual. The night of Saturday, Dec. 19, at the very start of the season, will be a gay one for the Lake Forest neighbors of Miss Blissy King and Miss Mary Mabbatt. The James B. Forgans are giving them a supper party that night, followed by informal dancing—a "war party," the hosts are calling it, for it is to be an extremely simple gathering at the Forgans' Lake Forest house.

Miss King, who was christened Sarah Fenton, and Miss Mabbatt are debutantes of the season. Mr. and Mrs. Elmer J. Dick have spoken for the afternoon of Sunday, Dec. 27, for a tea for their daughter, Barbara, to mark her introduction into adult society. The Dicks' affair will be a simple one at home, just an old fashioned tea to which the family's close friends will be asked to meet the bud.

Chaplin and Sandburg Will Be Guests at Tea.

Invitations to meet Charles Chaplin, movie comedian, and Carl Sandburg, author, at tea tomorrow afternoon at the Ambassador East have been sent to members of the various committees that have been working all fall for the Russian War Relief society. Robert Mathan of the War Production board and Dr. Francis E. McMahon of the University of Notre Dame also will be present to meet the committee members from all parts of the city.

The party is being held from 4 until 5:30 o'clock. Mrs. Laird Bell, chairman of the women's division of the society; Mrs. Irving Florsheim, Mrs. William McCormick Blair, Mrs. Walter S. Brewster, Mrs. Loyal Davis, Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank, Mrs. Byron S. Harvey, Mrs. Clay Judson, Princess Galitzine, and Mrs. Mitchell Follansbee are some of the women on Mrs. Bell's committee.

Mr. Chaplin will be among the speakers at a rally at Orchestra hall tomorrow night sponsored by the All Chicago Committee for "Salute to Our Russian Allies" to celebrate the ninth anniversary of diplomatic relations between the United States and the U. S. S. R. Prof. Samuel N. Harper of the University of Chicago heads the committee.

Saddle and Cycle Plans Holiday for Midshipmen.

A fund for entertaining service men that has been created by members of the Saddle and Cycle club will provide a happy Thanksgiving for a number of midshipmen at the naval reserve training school at Northwestern university. They have been invited to have turkey and all the trimmings at the club on Thursday and to remain for an entertainment program afterward.

Mrs. Henry R. Gross is chairman of the entertainment of service men and Dr. O. E. Van Alyea and Paget Cady are serving as trustees of the fund, which will provide many other parties during the winter. Some of the Saddle members who will be having Thanksgiving dinners at the club are Mr. and Mrs. Winfield Ellis, the John Roots, the Aldis J. Brownes, and the Henry Wedelstaedts.

Miss Rosemary Doyle's Engagement Announced.

At a dinner party last night at the Edgewater Beach hotel Mr. and Mrs. Edward John Doyle of Winnetka announced the engagement of their daughter, Rosemary, to Allen Parker Shelly, son of Mrs. Edwin Taylor Shelly of Denver, Colo. Miss Doyle attended Connecticut college for two years and was graduated from Northwestern university in 1939.

The engagement of Miss Jane Chandler to Edwin Harlow Smyth was announced last week-end by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin W. Chandler of Lake Park avenue. Miss Chandler was graduated from the University High school, Stephens college, and the University of Illinois. Mr. Smyth, son of Mrs. Joseph P. Smyth of Everett avenue, attended the University High school and was graduated from the University of Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Wesley Varney of Winnetka and Washington, D. C., announce the engagement of their daughter, Louise Ellen, to Lieut. Perry Lincoln LeWalt, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. LeWalt of Vincennes, Ind. The wedding will take place early next month in Washington. Miss Varney, a graduate of Smith college, at present is communications secretary for the National Red Cross. Her fiancé was graduated from Columbia university.

Mrs. Joseph Nolan Taking New Baby Home Today.

Mrs. Joseph E. Nolan and baby Michael are going home today from the Presbyterian hospital to Northfield, where young Peter and Moira Nolan are waiting anxiously to see the newest member of the family. Mr. and Mrs. John L. Fortune are the children's grandparents.

Mr. and Mrs. William L. Felton [Shirley Logan] became the parents of a son, named Stuart Logan for his maternal grandfather, last Saturday at the Presbyterian hospital. Mrs. Frank G. Logan is tiny Stuart's great-grandmother.

Dr. Krishnalal Shridharani, Hindu scholar and author, will speak at 11:30 o'clock today at the Woman's Athletic club on the subject, "My India, My America." After the program the visitor will have luncheon at the directors' table, with Mrs. George Cragg as hostess. Others with reservations for luncheon include Mrs. Boaler Rowles, Mrs. Arthur Bentley, Mrs. Arthur W. Wakeley, Mrs. Dana Slade, Miss Nettie Baumann, Mrs. Robert Peacock, Mrs. Frederick Watson, Mrs. Fred J. Sauter, Mrs. Albert H. Barber, Mrs. H.

Trio Active in La Rabida Red Cross Production Unit

Women in War Work ..... By Kate Massee

An opportunity to serve, adequate pay, and full maintenance and equipment made up the summary of reasons why qualified nurses should go into service given by Maj. Julia C. Stimson, stopping here yesterday on a nation-wide tour to aid the army nurse corps recruiting program.

Maj. Stimson.

"Such an opportunity to help will never come to them again, I hope," she said in an interview yesterday. "Moreover, the pay is $1,080 a year, with a 20 per cent increase for overseas and there are possibilities of salary advancement up to nearly $5,000."

Maj. Stimson came to Chicago to address members of the Illinois State Nurses' association at the John Murphy Memorial hall last night. She said she usually confined her recruiting talks merely to answering questions about the possibilities of service. This she can do by drawing on the wealth of her experiences.

War work began for Maj. Stimson—who is first cousin to the secretary of war—when she enrolled as a Red Cross nurse reserve in the first World war. She went overseas with a St. Louis unit and was in Europe more than two years, becoming director of nursing service of the AEF, which put her in charge of 10,000 women. Maj. Stimson's medals are significant of her outstanding attainments in the nursing field.

Nurses now hold commissions, but the bill granting them was not passed until 1920. Maj. Stimson and the AEF nurses were accorded officers' privileges according to the rules in 1918, but no one had time to read them, she said. Thus there were often transportation troubles, because no one knew where a nurse belonged. Her uniform was so enigmatic, in fact, that a Londoner asked Maj. Stimson whether she were a lady constable.

Maj. Stimson retired in 1937 as superintendent of the army nurse corps. But an army nurse is subject to recall if she can pass the physical examination—"quite a feat when you're past 60," Maj. Stimson says.

The army reserve nurses may be 21 to 40; regular corps, 22 to 30. Airline stewardesses who are nurses are being urged to enroll for the flying hospital units. Complete information is available in room 914, new postoffice building. Capt. Ida W. Danielson is in charge. Army nurses may now be married, provided they have no dependents. Navy nurses must be unmarried. Women interested in that corps should write to the Bureau of Medicine and Surgery, Washington, D. C.

More nurses may be released for active service if the "hidden" nurses will go back into the hospitals at home. Refresher courses are open to these women, and names of hospitals giving them are obtainable at the Illinois State Nursing association, 8 South Michigan avenue.

The army needs 2,500 nurses a month, the navy 500 a month.

Women of the Chicago area put their shoulders to the wheel yesterday to open Women's National War Bond week. The nation-wide program of the treasury department, sponsored locally by the women's division, Chicago and Cook county war savings staff, has set a tentative 6 million dollar goal for the six day period.

Yesterday's program in Chicago included several radio broadcasts, an afternoon and an evening fashion show, and luncheons, as well as enlarged staffs at war bond and stamp booths thruout the city. Today has been designated as Club day, with several hundred club presidents invited to hear Mrs. Charles C. Gates of Denver speak at a war bond rally at the Chicago Woman's club.

The community groups of Cook county towns, north, south, and west, also are proud of the part they are playing in this elaborate program. Mrs. Donald McPherson, Mrs. Mark Bates, and Mrs. Joseph Juric, respective chairmen of these groups, have organized numerous events for the week, with the coöperation of community agencies.

Included in the drive to set a record in the sale of war bonds and stamps are breakfasts, luncheons, teas, tag days, and special booths. Some towns will accept war savings stamps as admissions to movies, othesr will have dances at which stamps will be the price of admission, and the local schools are lending their facilities toward the success of the week's effort.

Following a conference here of WAVES ensigns in the 9th naval district, Lieut. Mary Daily, in charge of procurement of women for the district, has announced that, effective immediately, applicants for enrollment as officer candidates may apply in the new V-9 course at headquarters in seven cities in the district. Heretofore candidates had to apply at the Chicago offices in the Board of Trade building. The cities in which ensigns, officers of naval procurement, are stationed are Indianapolis, St. Louis, Cleveland, Des Moines, Detroit, Minneapolis, and Kansas City.

This new course, conducted at Smith and Mount Holyoke colleges, is a midshipmen's course in general communications, and instead of being given commissions outright prior to enrolling, successful candidates will receive them upon completion of the course.

Mrs. Walter R. Kirk, chairman of the speakers' bureau of the Chicago war savings staff of the treasury department, had some good news for those who heard her talk on "Women in War Work" at 4:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon over W-G-N. Speaking on the "Women for Victory" program, she announced that Chicago is ahead of any other city in the United States, including New York, in the sale of war bonds and stamps. Mrs. Kirk was interviewed on the program by Mary Afflick.

[The Women in War Work department reports on women's activities in war and defense work and answers questions of women wishing to take part in these activities.]

Women Musicians Hold Monthly Meeting Tonight

The Organized Women Musicians of Chicago will hold their monthly meeting at 8 o'clock tonight in the headquarters at 175 West Washington street. The program will include a lecture on Indian culture and selections by a bass viol quartet from the Woman's Symphony orchestra. There will be a display and sale of articles made by veterans at Hines hospital.

Nurses Happy at Their Jobs in New Guinea

SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA, Nov. 23 (AP).—In the heat and dust of an advanced army base are 18 American young women who believe that, of all the nurses in the United States army, they are the happiest.

They live in tents under a blazing tropical sun. Sometimes they have to run for the trenches when Jap bombers come over. There is little in the way of recreation. But they are happy.

"Despite these things, every one of us is content because we're doing the job we signed up to do," said Second Lieut. Irene R. Gabryolek of Johnstown, Pa. "We didn't sign up to nurse colds and treat sore feet. We asked for foreign service to nurse wounded, and we're content."

The 18 are serving in one of the northernmost outposts of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's Southwest Pacific command. This was a "no woman" area until their arrival.

Maj. Alfred J. Cooper of San Diego, commanding the medical unit, complimented the young women highly.

Life is vastly different in this tropical outpost from anything the nurses experienced prior to their assignment here.

Chief nurse is attractive, brunet First Lieut. Helen J. Gray of Washington, D. C.

From morning till nightfall the women work, eat, or sleep. There is nothing else to do. They moved into a camp which had been prepared for them. The tents in which they sleep are too hot to idle around in during the day. The area is out of bounds for officers and men.

The tents are fixed up as brightly as possible. It's a strange sight to behold a brightly colored quilt on an army cot. The girls had been here less than a week before they began to arrange their quarters to their own liking. One important addition was a swimming pool in a nearby river. They planted tomatoes, onions, and other vegetables.

All the nurses and officers eat in screened mess quarters. A typical lunch consists of hamburgers, mashed potatoes, gravy, onions, iced tea [without the ice], and a vitamin pill thrown in for good measure, with the oranges.

Recreation consists primarily of talk—and more talk—in a long grass hut with a gasoline operated refrigerator at one end. The refrigerator always is full of water canteens. There are no soft drinks, no ice cream.

"We miss the little things most," said Miss Gray. "One of the most important things is to receive mail regularly. But we miss not being able to get a soft drink, or ice cream, or something like that."

It looked for a time that there might be a little trouble from air raids. Not that the nurses are afraid of the Japs and their bombs; they can take that just as well as the men.

But Miss Gray jumped into a trench one day and came face to face with a spider. She jumped right out again, preferring the bombs to the spider. Now she always carries a shovel with her when she drops into a trench—just a little weapon in event of trouble.

Lieut. Akers, PT Boat Hero, and Newport Beauty to Be Wed

Newport, R. I., Nov. 23 (AP).—Society's choice as the most popular and beautiful girl in Newport in 1936 will soon become the bride of one of Bataan's PT boat, squadron heroes who helped evacuate Gen. Douglas MacArthur from the Philippines to Austarlia.

Mrs. J. Russell Pope of New York and Newport has announced the engagement of her daughter, Jane London Pope, to Lieut. Anthony Akers, a native of Beverly Hills, Cal. She said the couple would be married in the near future.

The romance began shortly after Lieut. Akers, a graduate of the University of Texas, returned from the Pacific area for a temporary assignment here.

Miss Pope's father, the late John Russell Pope, was a nationally known architect. She made her debut in 1935.

Social News.

Some one has said that America's secret weapon is its sense of humor. That it exists even in Japanese prison camps is seen in a clipping in the possession of Mrs. H. T. Frost, wife of the architect and city planner who was planning Quezon City, a new capital for the Philippines, in the halcyon days of 1941. The clipping was sent her by a friend who returned from Manila on the exchange ship, Gripsholm, and is from Internews, one of the two papers published by Americans interned at the University of Santo Tomas. [The other paper bears the ironical name, Campus Health.] The clipping is entitled "Society Item" and reports:

"Carl Gabrielson [general passenger agent for American President Lines in Yokohama] gave a party on the first anniversary of his wife's departure for Honolulu, near the garbage dump. The ten guests brought their own sardines. [Mr. Gabrielson was head of the insect and rodent control department.]"

More Etiquet.

Apropos of a few excerpts from etiquet in the '70s published here a few days ago, Mrs. Paul Semrad cites that of 1809 as delineated in "The Female Friend" or "Duties of the Christian Virgin." The preface of this treasure states that it was written at the request of "a number of ladies who see, with pious concern, the growing loose, forward and immodest behavior and unthinking conduct of the youth of their sex." Among its admonitions are:

"Man is a seducer by nature; you cannot too cautiously arm yourself against his artful insinuations.

"She certainly ventures too far and risks too much who dances in mixt company, which must necessarily happen in public.

"A wife should be always armed with resolution to stand unmoved at the attacks of temper of her husband. The most prudent thing she can do is to make a discreet retreat; or I would advise that good old fashioned remedy of holding a sup of water in the mouth till the husband's madness ceases.

"If a drunken man is well received at home, the liquor will naturally work out in kindness."

The Human Race.

The well dressed woman marched staunchly into the loop shoe salon and sat down. A dapper young salesman hurried up and with a polite "May I help you, madam?" placed his footstool before her. "Yes," she said, placing a foot on the stool, "tie my shoe, please." He did. She thanked him and left.

Overheard.

"My mind was a blank," the girl was saying. "I didn't have a thing to say. So I just sat down and wrote him a 22 page letter."

Turn About.

Frank Rand, Chicago advertising man who is a volunteer worker for the Air Force Sponsors, has adopted a score of boys stationed here in the air force. Last week when he was unable to buy razor blades, a boy in the air corps procured some for him at the post exchange.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

Always enjoyed Louis Joseph Vance's stories, and always liked Warren William. . . . So, a quite nice time was had by deponent watching "Counter-Espionage," with Mr. William in the featured rôle.

This picture details another adventure of "The Lone Wolf," a gay rascal, long the despair of international police. . . . This time, however, he is aligned with Scotland Yard in its endeavors to break up a Nazi spy ring.

The picture opens in the home of Sir Stafford Hart, head of the British intelligence, and you know almost immediately that snakes are slithering around right under Sir Stafford's oblivious nose. . . . Michael Lanyard is discovered by Hart's assistant rifling the safe in the Britisher's library. He gets away with plans to the English war effort—and the sleuths of Scotland Yard are put on his trail.

What a chase he leads them—and when, at last, they think they have him cornered—they find? This being a mystery, we'll let it stay mysterious.

Mr. William is subtle, speedy, and likable as always. An untroubled soul who lets the waters of evidence and suspicion wash over him without ever a shudder. . . . He is aided and abetted by Eric Blore as a trembling, but devoted handy man. . . . The picture has a soupçon of romance which has nothing at all to do with the hero. . . . Complicated in that are Sir Stafford's daughter and his secretary. . . . Hilary Brooke is a charming girl and you'll like Leslie Denison. . . . A couple of American detectives are not too brilliantly there in the persons of Thurston Hall and Fred Kelsey. . . . Able men, the two—the script's just not kind to them. . . . Several "bit" rôles are handled neatly.

The action moves along at a lively clip, spilling some laughs, and considerable suspense along the way.

Hinsdale's Unit of Bundles for America Meets Today

A new Hinsdale unit of Bundles for America is having its first meeting today at a tea at the residence of its president, Mrs. R. W. McKinstry. During the process of formation the unit already has sold 300 Christmas stockings, to be distributed to the sailors at Great Lakes. These will be part of some 65,000 stockings which bundles for America at 337 North Michigan avenue is planning to hand out to service men in this area. The regular activities of the Hinsdale unit also will include salvage sewing, making of layettes, and other activities of the parent organization.

The Aid also has scheduled for this morning at 10:30 o'clock study class at which Miss Dorothy Clure will give information on the care and maintenance of household appliances.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

Mark Sandrich.

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 23.—Here's how Sonny Tufts [a member of the Boston society family that founded Tufts college] got one of the leads in "So Proudly We Hail": After singing in clubs in New York and Florida, he came to Hollywood, walked up to the gate at Paramount, asked the gateman where they hired actors. Mark Sandrich, who's producing the picture, was standing by, heard the question, and asked Sonny whether he wanted a test. He said, "Sure." Paulette Goddard made the test with him, and he got the part. But don't get your hopes up, kids—it doesn't happen that way more than once in that old blue moon. . . . And now that George Reeves is playing opposite Claudette Colbert in the same picture, that makes him the last of the three friends from Pasadena playhouse to make the grade. Other two are Robert Preston and Victor Mature. The three of them used to be tentmates while studying together.

Who Said Men Are Scarce?

"Bataan Patrol," Metro's contribution to the current epidemic of all male pictures, will have a high powered cast if plans work out. The studio's now dickering with George Raft for one of the leads, and they've penciled in Thomas Mitchell for the rôle of Sergt. Goldfine, with Lloyd Nolan slated for another important part. Robert Taylor, Phil Terry, Desi Arnaz, and newcomer, Barry Nelson, already have been announced for it. . . . I hear Cecil B. De Mille is trying to get Maria Montez from Universal for the top feminine rôle in "Rurales."

Old Man River.

Bill Pine and Bill Thomas have taken an option on Louis Armstrong's story, "River of Jazz," and are so enthusiastic about it they're rushing plans to get it into production. It's really Armstrong's life story, covering a period of 25 years, and deals with the Mississippi river boats, on which he used to work, and he'll probably work on the production as either actor or technical adviser. . . . Incidentally, Armstrong, who's always been a great favorite in England, has received a request from the Duke of Windsor for an autographed copy of his book, "Swing That Music."

Apple for Teacher.

I found Deanna Durbin on the set of "Forever Yours" busily engaged reading "Party Wire." When I asked her why she happened to be reading a novel instead of her script, she pointed to the name of the author. It was by Bruce Manning, who's producing and directing the picture. Deanna is making a short which will be sent to Australia as a Christmas greeting to our forces there. She told me that the records she recently made will be dropped by parachute to almost every outlying camp in England and Africa. Every unit has its own phonograph. . . . Evelyn Ankers reported back to work in "Bad Company" with a burn on her right hand, a blister on her forehead, and a cut on her left wrist. She blames it all on cooking for Husband Dick Denning before he went into the service!

Home Atmosphere.

With all the glamor at the Hollywood canteen Sunday—Ginger Rogers, Marlene Dietrich, Mary Astor, etc.—there was one soldier boy from Dublin, Ireland, with eyes for no one but Mary Gordon, our Irish character actress. Guess the boys miss their mothers more than their sweethearts. . . . Barbara Bushman, granddaughter of Francis X. Bushman, is studying dramatics at the Geller workshop, where Maria Manton [Marlene's daughter] also studies. . . . Now that he's stationed in Sacramento, Tom Brown is trying to revive his romance with Republic starlet, Lynn Merrick via the mails. . . . Judy Canova tells about the draftee who complained about weak eyes. "Don't worry," said his sergeant, "we'll put you up front."

Some of the OPA girls in Washington, D. C., have written the Samuel Goldwyn studio as follows: "Will you tell us if Philip Reed who, we read, is having a big romance with Ginger Rogers, is the same one who went around with Mary Byrne when she was in Hollywood to appear with Bob Hope and Dorothy Lamour in 'They Got Me Covered'? Mary told us that Philip and she went out several times a week while she was there, but she never even got his autograph." Yep, girls, it's the very same Philip.

Sign of the Times.

Barbara Stanwyck has always limited her son, Dion's, Christmas gifts to a price of $1.95. "I wanted him to learn the value of money," she said. "He's learned all right. He's asked me to raise the limit to $2.39 this year." . . . Allan Jones had a nasty spill on his motorcycle which gave Irene Hervey a bad scare, as she was following him in their car. However, he got out of it with nothing worse than a muddy suit. Allan's keeping the phone tied up on the "Isle of Romance" set these days trying to locate a home for Smoky, his horse. It's now at Robert Young's ranch, but Bob and his wife are soon moving into town.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 diamond	1 heart	1 no trump	Pass
3 no trump	Pass	3 no trump	Pass
Pass	Pass

This deal formed the basis of question 25, above.

West duly opens the heart seven to East's bid. Dummy's five spot is played—and now, the best way to prove the need for East's playing the eight or six is to show what inevitably happens if he makes the usual "normal" play of an honor.

The honor wins, of course, but East then cannot wage any defense that will defeat the contract. If he returns a low heart [no other play has the slightest hope] dummy's ace wins and the diamond queen is returned.

If East ducks and West wins, West is out of hearts; if East wins, he can knock out declarer's remaining heart stopper but can never regain the lead to cash his established heart.

When East plays a low heart on dummy's five, all this is changed. Declarer must win in his own hand, and he cannot take nine tricks without clearing the diamonds. On the first diamond lead West wins and returns the heart which East's play has preserved for him. Dummy's ace is knocked out, and when East gets in, as he must, with the diamond ace, he can cash his king, queen, and low heart for the defeat of the contract.

What call do you make?

YESTERDAY'S QUESTION.

Question 25: You are East, defending against South's three no trump contract, the bidding have gone [North-South vulnerable]:

North	East	South	West
1 diamond	1 heart	1 no trump	Pass
2 no trump	Pass	3 no trump	Pass
Pass	Pass

West, your partner, opens the seven of hearts. Dummy and your hand are as follows:

DUMMY	EAST
♠ A Q 8	♠ 9 5 3
♥ A 5	♥ K Q 8 6 2
♦ Q J 10 9 7	♦ A 5 2
♣ K J 4	♣ 10 8

The five of hearts is played from dummy. What card do you play and why?

Answer: At the first trick East must play a low heart [preferably the eight or six as a "come-on signal"]. He must not play an honor. The only hope for defeating the contract rests on the possibility that West has a vital suit stopper and a second heart. East must force declarer to use his own marked heart stopper before West's suppositious second heart is drawn. For further explanation of this point see "Today's Hand" below. [No demerit for improper play, but for playing as indicated, and for the correct reason, take 30 points credit.]

"MISS CLOCK, YOU HAVE SORTED THESE APPLICATIONS ALPHABETICALLY BUT WITHOUT ANY CONSIDERATION OF WHETHER THEY ARE FOR FUEL, GAS, SUGAR OR RUBBER.
I'M SORRY, MISS CANKER. I DIDN'T UNDERSTAND THAT THEY WERE TO BE DONE THAT WAY.
PERHAPS I DIDN'T SAY SO, BUT ANYONE WITH A LITTLE COMMON SENSE WOULD HAVE DONE IT, ANYWAY.
I CAN ARRANGE THEM UNDER THOSE HEADINGS VERY QUICKLY.
DO IT, AND HEREAFTER USE YOUR HEAD AS WELL AS YOUR FINGERS, MISS CLOCK.

Noted Nature Photographer Will Lecture on Waterfowl

Wesley F. Kubichek, nationally known photographer of wild life, will show color motion pictures and lecture on waterfowl at 3 o'clock next Sunday at the Chicago Academy of Sciences in Lincoln park. Mr. Kubichek is a member of the United States fish and wild life service, which recently was moved to Chicago from Washington, D. C. Sunday afternoon lectures at the academy are free to the public.

Are you doing something about that voluntary meat rationing? So far it is voluntary, but soon rationing of meat will be enforced and controled, probably right after the first of the year.

Civilian supplies of veal right now are normal, supplies of beef are only 70 per cent of what they were the last of 1941; pork is 85 per cent; lamb 95 per cent. So it is wise to emphasize veal and lamb in your menu planning, and to cut down on the beef and pork you use.

Out of every pound of meat produced, 12 ounces go to civilians, 4 ounces to our armed forces and allies. So you see that we still are getting the biggest share of meat.

Sixty per cent of this year's salmon pack was sold to the government. Twenty per cent will now be made available for civilian use, and the remaining 20 per cent will be held until the government decides where it is most needed.

We may be seeing more of margarine than ever before. Manufacturers are being permitted 10 per cent more fats for its manufacture, even tho fats allocated for other uses are being cut in most instances. If there is a butter shortage, this will be a boon. Modern margarines are scientifically made, pure, delicate in flavor, and nourishing. They are a far cry from the "oleo" of the last war.

There's a lot in that "apple a day" stuff. The juicy, refreshing apple is a little mineral mine, and is claimed by some nutritionists to be the most healthful of all fruits. I wouldn't put it ahead of the orange in nutritive value or refreshing quality, but the two fruits are so different that each has a distinct place in the diet.

In most cases apples shouldn't be peeled before eating or cooking. There are lots of minerals and vitamins next the skin. Use the skin even in piemaking, when the apples are fresh. You won't need as much sugar if you use the peels, either, strangely enough!

You've noticed that you can't get a lot of the old familiar canned soups, haven't you? Well, there are still 21 kinds you can get, all condensed, and most of the soup makers are working hard to improve the quality of the kinds they are now permitted to can. One big soup maker, for example, is putting 50 per cent more chicken into its chicken soups. They really taste of chicken. This same company has done wonders for its tomato soup, too. Canned tomato soup used to taste so terribly canned, but now you might think it were homemade.

If there's a little potential cook in your home, better provide her with the "Fannie Farmer Junior Cook Book," brand new and fine for any culinary beginner. It's illustrated helpfully by drawings which show how to do various kinds of food preparation. Latest Scarfs Warm in Color and in Texture

BY REA SEEGER.

New scarfs and shawls are vividly colorful and warm, with emphasis on the latter quality. Soft, fine wool lighter than any breeze but warm as a blast furnace comes in luscious pastels, brilliant colors and eye catching plaids. Brand new arrivals include the foot wide scarfs of authentic plaids for modest sums. There are a few subdued plaids but most of them are audible for blocks. The ends are finished with a short tasseled fringe, and, for once, they're equal to doubling for either women's or men's use.

Shawls rival any paint sample card for color and contrast. Six to a dozen colors are combined with dash and daring, and the results are high spirited enough to brighten the dullest weather. Most of them are crocheted in a loose open mesh, so they'll crush softly and luxuriously around the shoulders if you wear them like a scarf. They're certainly too good looking to be tied unimaginatively over the head.

In the same department you'll find the snazziest of new gilets—fake fronts to highlight a dark costume. Gilets in red, peacock blue, beige, jade green and black have flashing contrast of sequin embroidery high around the neckline. Altho there are a few all black models, the brilliant colors are ideal accents to change the daytime dullness of a simple suit or dress, making it a shining example of what can be managed with a small sum of money. The white gilets have dazzling designs worked in gold, silver or multicolored sequins or beads and assure dress parade swank with any dark suit or dress.

Thru the Looking Glass

Just when most of us had mastered the trick of applying liquid leg makeup, along came the chill breezes of winter and we had to don stockings. Those who were loathe to go back to regulation leg coverings will rejoice over a cosmetic hose that affords the protection and warmth of silk or nylon.

Made of a fiberlike material that insulates, the liquid stockings ward off chill. The new cosmetic also has elasticity and clings to the legs. There is always the hazard of chapping, with the resultant redness and discomfort, but this product has a softening base which assures a smooth, unroughened skin. To many women, this quality will be almost as important as warmth since there is nothing more distasteful looking or uncomfortable than chapped skin. The cosmetic may be left on as long as the wearer likes without harm to the skin.

There is no special trick in applying the new leg makeup. Shake the bottle well and pour a little of the contents into the cupped palm; then slather it on the legs, making sure to bring it well down on the foot and around at the back of the heel. We have found a quick, up and down application most satisfactory and efficient. The liquid dries quickly and there should be no streaking.

Naturally, you will want to use the little foot coverings with which we all became familiar last summer. Your toes will appreciate their warmth and they help eliminate the discomfort caused by shoes rubbing against tender skin.

The tints in the liquid hose are suitable for winter wardrobes and will harmonize with the currently fashionable colors.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MACKAY.

Love and Kisses.

The girls in one of Chicago's most dignified banks have been getting quite a boot, of late, out of the romantic messages which often accompany remittances from overseas service men who cable money to their wives at home. One such message came thru last week. Along with the sum of money and the necessary information was a succinct phrase: "More love than lucre."

More Collector's Items.

In line with the answers to examination questions for the position of air line hostess [printed as "collector's items" in this column a few days ago] F. B. provides some extracts from a file of social worker reports culled by the Colorado Bar association.

"Couple breaking up home, friends helping."

"Couple's only source of income is four boarders all out of work."

"Woman is ailing at present—eyesight poor—does housework when able to find it."

"Applicant has one child, Lillian, who is 3 months old and owes 12 months' rent."

Data.

"I believe that 'these data' cannot be considered correct in this advanced age," writes Regimentatum. "Data is a collective plural and therefore a single entity and must be treated as such. This data refers to singular control of a multitude."

Webster's International dictionary says: "Altho plural in form, data is not infrequently used as a singular: as 'this data has been furnished for study and decision.'"

Fowler's Modern English Usage states: "Data is plural only. [The data are, not is, insufficient. . . . What are the data? . . . We have no data.] 'My intelligence department has furnished me with so much valuable data' illustrates the mistake of taking the plural for a singular."

So, professors of English, purists and perfectionists, one and all, please come to the rescue! What, in contemporary usage, is the proper form—this data or these data?

Girl on a Lunch Hour.

"I don't know the solution to the problem of the 'untipped' waitress whose letter signed 'One of Them' appeared recently in the White Collar Girl column," writes Kay, "but neither do I know the solution to the white collar girl's problem of eating in restaurants or at lunch counters with the price of food advancing and our salaries at the prewar level. To date, I've solved it by reverting to the time-honored custom of bringing my lunch. It's okay now, but what about wintry days? Am I not going to long for a hot lunch? And, can I afford it, plus a tip? No, ma'm.

"I'm told that in England the Women's Voluntary service serves meals in government operated restaurants at low cost for workers. It may seem a far-fetched idea for America, but while there is great talk of nutrition and an adequate diet, the question still goes unanswered for many of us—'How to get it?'"

The Answer.

The answer to yesterday's puzzle of the magic square of numbers 1 to 9 is; Top row: 4, 9. 2. Second row: 3, 5, 7. Third row: 8, 1, 6. The rows across, the columns and the diagonals each add up to 15.

Program Auditions.

Mrs. Charles C. Wells will conduct program bureau auditions at 10 o'clock tomorrow at the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs, 30 West Washington street.

Ovation Given Grace Moore as Marguerite

"FAUST."

Opera in four acts with music by Charles Gounod, libretto by Barbier and Carré. Presented in French by the Chicago Opera company at the Civic Opera house Monday evening, Nov. 23, 1942.

THE CAST.

Faust	Armand Tokatyan
Mephistopheles	Alexander Kipnis
Marguerite	Grace Moore
Valentine	Richard Bonelli
Siebel	Margery Mayer
Martha	May Barron
Wagner	Stefan Kozakevich
Conductor	Fausto Cleva
Stage director	William Wymetal

BY CLAUDIA CASSIDY.

Grace Moore's Marguerite—her first in Chicago—was the news of last night's repetition of "Faust," and on the whole it was good news. In the strict sense of brilliant vocalization, Miss Moore is not equipped to sing the Jewel Song with traditional splendor, but in the wider sense of sympathetic and persuasive performance, she had what it takes to fill an opera house.

For one thing, her Marguerite was bewitching to the eye. She was Gretchen with a French dressmaker, and with the guile to touch off that demure blue and white with artful black bows and a chic facing of scarlet on a white lace bonnet. For another, her Marguerite was engaging to the ear, with a piquancy that came in the sensitive turn of a phrase and a warmth that took the cardboard out of the love scenes and made them human.

Nor would it be fair not to admit that she scored an ovation with the Jewel Song, despite its lack of flashing brilliance. She had the customers shouting because she sang it with such charm, with such delight at those jewels — and because she had so deftly paved the way for it with an exquisite performance of the musing ballad, "The King of Thulé." It was, you might say, a triumph for Grace Moore rather than for Gounod, but it was nevertheless a triumph.

Most of the major rôles had been changed from the first "Faust" to surround Miss Moore, and the most shining success was scored by Richard Bonelli for the flowing beauty of his vocal way with Valentine—that most enviable of baritone rôles, which has a short life and a melodious one, climaxed by a superb death scene. Mr. Bonelli sang it with resonant bravura that brought back memories of his debut performances years ago.

For some odd reason, Alexander Kipnis never has been a good Mephistopheles, tho in Russian temperament and voice he ought to be. Reviving the rôle last night he missed its fire and brimstone, and he sang the "Calf of Gold" as if he were choking. Not until the sinister garden scene did anything like his true stature as an artist emerge from disappointing disguise.

Mr. Tokatyan is not a Faust by voice or temperament, but he has perception, and his voice in the garden scene took on a dusky amorousness that had its own fascinations. It is, of course, a beautiful voice in the right rôle, and he is an excellent actor in any rôle. That first scene bit of impatiently tapping fingers was eloquent testimony of impatient old age waiting for an intruder to state his business and be gone.

Miss Mayer is trying to use her voice more lightly to vault Siebel's range, and when she succeeded, the result was interesting indication of her future. Miss Barron was a Martha who did not find it necessary to be maudlin, and the chorus was in high spirits, singing with a good deal of verve. Tho some entrances and exits were sadly confused, the stage looked attractive, despite a gardener's nightmare of jumbled seasons in flowers. Mr. Cleva's conducting was clear, forceful, and helpful.

Opera Patrons Don Satin and Sables to Greet Miss Moore

BY HARRIETT PRIBBLE.

Opera going Chicago turned out enthusiastically last night to welcome Grace Moore in her first performance here this season. To many veteran subscribers it was a festive occasion calling for one's best satin and sables. Others, like the wearer of the pair of slacks seen disappearing balconywards, evidently believed that down to earth comfort and grand opera can go hand in hand.

Uniforms ranged from the dress blues of Lieut. [j.g.] Henry T. Kramer, who squired his winsome dark haired wife, in a garnet velvet dinner gown, to the jackets of two Australian airmen. The latter, who had "scrouged a few days' leave," in their own vernacular, made their appearances in trim dark blue uniforms with Australia" embroidered across the sleeves in pale blue.

Among those who applauded Miss Moore as Marguerite were Mr. and Mrs. W. Homer Hartz, the Arthur G. Cables, Mrs. William D. Saltiel, Mrs. Mark A. Brown, Mrs. Otho F. Ball, Mrs. Edward G. Leight, Mrs. Charles F. Cutter, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Spurgeon, the Herbert J. Lorbers, Mrs. James H. McMillan, with a drove of white gulls in flight across her black velvet skirt, Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed, the Abner J. Stilwells, and Mrs. Alfred P. Shaw.

Mrs. Merrill C. Meigs sold a defense bond to Miss Moore just before the opening curtain from her booth in the lobby. Miss Moore's protégé, Dorothy Kirsten, who may be appearing with her later this season on the operatic stage, arrived with a silver fox jacket about the shoulders of her sylvan green gown, her hair bound up in an apricot chiffon scarf.

Hull House Sale Today at Mrs. Bowen's Home.

Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen, president of Hull House, will open her house at 1430 Astor street from 10 to 6 o'clock today for the annual Christmas sale of the Hull House shop. Inexpensive Christmas presents, blanket covers, maid's aprons, wedding presents, and hand made baby gifts will be offered for sale by Mrs. William McCormick Blair's committee. Among those helping Mrs. Blair, who is Mrs. Bowen's daughter, are Mrs. John Andrews King, Mrs. Laurence B. Robbins, Mrs. Philip D. Armour Jr., Mrs. Anthony Ryerson, Mrs. Ambrose Cramer Jr., Mrs. Byron S. Harvey, Mrs. Louise de Koven Phelps, and Mrs. Donald F. McPherson. Mrs. Phelps and Mrs. McPherson are among those entertaining at luncheon and taking their guests on to the sale.

With the man of the house away in service there will be a rush of busy housewives to match an exhibition of carving skills this afternoon at the School of Domestic Arts and Science. The home management students are giving the party at 3:30 o'clock, with Jean Munteau, formerly of the Stevens and now chef de cuisine of the new Casserole room at the Seneca, giving the demonstration. Tea will be served. Some of the young women who have a hand in the arrangements or who will be acting as hostesses for the party are Miss Dale Bogert, Miss Eleanor and Miss Nancy Cochran, Miss Shirley Hopkins, and Miss Patricia McLaughlin.

The Evanston senior board of the Northwestern University settlement is hoping that its friends will respond liberally to the dollar letters it is sending out requesting contributions. The letters replace the board's customary Easter Monday card party as its large money raising project, as the party has been abandoned for the war's duration. At the board's last meeting in the home of Mrs. Chester D. Tripp, members received material to make Christmas stockings for the settlement children. At the Dec. 8 meeting the stockings will be filled to be given to the children, along with sweaters and shoes.

For Joyful Cough Relief, Try This Home Mixture

Saves Big Dollars. No Cooking.

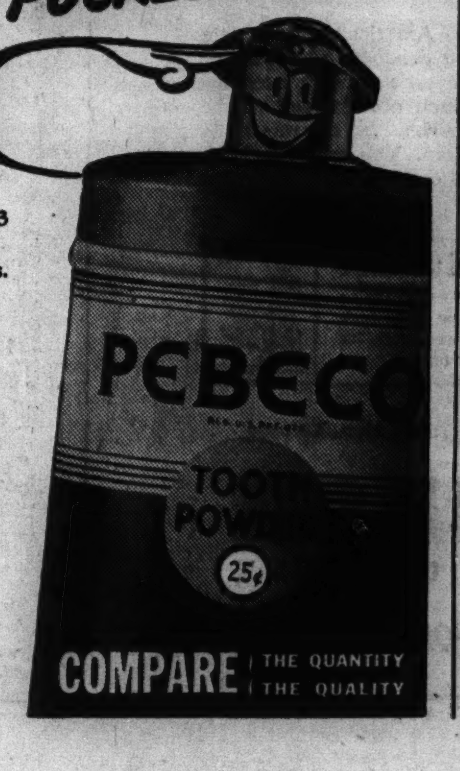
This splendid recipe is used by millions every year, because it makes such a dependable, effective medicine for coughs due to colds. It is so easy to mix—a child could do it.

From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex, a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well-known for its soothing effect on throat and bronchial membranes.

Then make a syrup by stirring two cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking needed. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.

Put the Pinex into a pint bottle and add your syrup. This gives you a full pint of cough medicine, very effective and quick-acting, and you get about four times as much for your money. It never spoils, and is very pleasant—children love it.

You'll be amazed by the way it takes hold of coughs, giving quick relief. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.



PEBECO PETE SAYS:

"I'M A BOON TO WARTIME POCKETBOOKS!"

1: Pebeco gives you 1½ to 3 times as much tooth powder as other leading brands.

2. Pebeco brightens your smile (tastes peppy, too).

3. No other dentifrice cleans teeth better. And Pebeco contains no grit.

If Parents Are Loyal, Children Reciprocate

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1942: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

My young visitor was telling me:

"So daddy and mother simply raved about the house. They got back last night and they talked until past midnight about it and had pictures to show us, too. It's just what they want to buy, but it is awfully far away. They love it and they're rather afraid it will be snapped up. Only they said they talked it over and they decided they shouldn't buy it until they consulted us girls. So they drove back to do that very thing. Now, how many parents would have done that?", she ended up, and her eyes shone.

Those girls have an intense loyalty to their parents. And why? Because their parents are so loyal to them. There is a tremendous amount of intelligent freedom given to those daughters and a great interest shown in their talents and ambitions and even in their temporary experiments, as in earning money or in social contacts. There is mutual interest, respect, and solidarity in that family.

As we said yesterday, in discussing the matter of parents and their children's mail: Respect begets respect; trust begets trust.

So, too, loyalty begets loyalty. A mother I know told me how surprised she was to see her son, who is a most undemonstrative youth in his teens, fly to her defense one day when a visiting relative made some mild criticism of her. "Of course, I suppose I'm almost fiercely loyal myself. I never have discussed or criticized Ralph with any one except his father. It wouldn't occur to me to do such a thing. But I was surprised to see him fire up for me like that, and pleased, I must admit."

Of course in all these matters we who are mature must make allowances for the age of our child and the degree of his understanding. The girl I quoted is 20 and growing old enough to understand her parents more and more. It is different with the younger children. Take two instances. A child may respect his parents but slip up on some "form" of respect and need suggestion or correction. Just so a child may be deeply considerate and caring but thoughtless, or too young and inexperienced to have imagination about an older person's hurts or feelings. Let's not make the mistake of trying to put old heads on young shoulders.

What seven conditions will cause a child to have tantrums? Tantrums in children and tested remedies for them are given in "You and Your Young Child," by Gladys Huntington Bevans, Tribune child training editor. Mothers find this book invaluable. Get your copy today at either of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street, and Tribune Tower, 435 North Michigan avenue. Price, 15 cents. Postpaid, 18 cents.

The Stage

By Cecil Smith

A couple of weeks ago this column carried tidings of the San Francisco opening of "Adamant Eve," a musical version of Sardou's "Divorcons." The production was said to be heading Chicagoward after a Pacific coast tryout.

It is now a sad necessity to read the obsequies of this well intended production. San Francisco's critics gave it very little house, despite the fact that it had almost no competition in a city that is enjoying a fantastic amusement boom. It lasted out two weeks, but virtually no money changed hands between public and box office, and the project was permitted to die a pauper's death.

Another musicalizing of an old, but not quite so old, play has been undertaken in Detroit by Henry Duffy, the onetime Pacific coast producer who has moved the scene of his activity inland. "The Life of the Party," a modernized musical version of "The Patsy," in which Claiborne Foster appeared here in the 1920s, has been running for several weeks, and may be brought to Chicago if Mr. Duffy decides that it is strong enough to stand the gaff.

Citizens of Milwaukee will see "Papa Is All," the Pennsylvania Dutch comedy, at the Pabst theater for the rest of the week, beginning tonight. Jessie Royce Landis is still featured, tho most of the rest of the cast has been changed. Last season "Papa Is All" played two separate engagements in Chicago—two weeks at the Harris, under Theater Guild auspices, and five weeks at the Blackstone later, under local management. This fall the Theater Guild resumed its grip on the play and sent it out to cities which did not see it last year.

Grace George and C. Aubrey Smith in "Spring Again" will be seen in the following Michigan cities next week: Monday, Nov. 30, Keith's theater, Grand Rapids; Tuesday, Dec. 1, State theater, Kalamazoo; Wednesday, Dec. 2, Michigan theater, Ann Arbor. The play begins a Boston run on Christmas night.

PAINTERS' UNION REFUSES OUSTER OF YOUNGBLOOD

Reply to Courtney Calls Agent 'Satisfactory.'

The general executive board of the Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers of America has declined to remove Charles Youngblood as business agent of local 147 of the union, as requested several months ago by State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney.

Charles Youngblood.

Meeting at the union headquarters in Lafayette, Ind., the board has issued a formal decision that Youngblood's services to local 147 as business agent "have been entirely satisfactory; as a result of which he was reëlected in 1936, '37, '38, '39, and '40, and in 1941 was again reëlected for a three year period.

Plea Follows Killings.

"Therefore the general executive board, upon advice of our counsel, and in view of the thoro investigation made, has ruled that it is not within the power of the general executive board to remove Charles Youngblood as business agent of local union 147, which position he now holds."

Courtney's request that Youngblood be removed came after Youngblood, who has a long police record, killed Arthur W. Wallace, head of the Painters' district council, in a gun battle last July. Youngblood's wife, Loretta, was killed in the same battle.

Courtney's removal request also included George Henneman, also a business agent for the union, who is now on trial on a charge of malicious mischief and conspiracy in connection with the smashing of a window in a south side restaurant.

Await Trial Outcome.

In announcing the whitewashing of Youngblood, L. P. Lindelof, general president of the international, said no action would be taken in Henneman's case because of the fact that his trial has not ended. The case therefore will not be acted on until the next meeting of the general executive council next March.

Henneman was one of three men seen outside the restaurant of James Cappany, 232 West Garfield boulevard, just after three bricks were hurled thru the window last September, the state charges. Henneman says his presence was purely coincidental and that he was on his way to meet his wife and two companions, who were eating in the restaurant at the time the window was smashed.

A jury of seven women and five men was chosen in Criminal court yesterday to hear the trial of Henneman. Testimony will begin today before Judge Harold G. Ward.

Jail Suspect as Thief Who Tore Up $1,500 War Bonds

James Hall, 24 years old, 537 West 45th street, said by police to be on probation for automobile larceny, was held to the grand jury in bonds of $5,000 by Judge Joseph B. Hermes in the Felony court yesterday on a charge of burglary. Police accused him of stealing $1,500 in war bonds, jewelry valued at $150, and a crucifix from the home of Mrs. Mary McCaffery, 539 West 45th street. Police recovered the bonds, which has been torn in two, in an alley.

[This department will answer questions covering problems related to the social welfare of relatives of service men, both in the column and by mail, if stamped, addressed envelopes are sent with inquiries.]

W. H. asks: "Is it true that a wife cannot divorce a man who is in military service? I have been informed to that effect, but it seems unlikely. In the case where a couple have been separated and both are willing to have the divorce, does that hold true?"

ANSWER: Unless the husband voluntarily appears in the proceedings, the wife cannot divorce a soldier. In order to obtain a divorce by default a wife must sign an affidavit that the husband is not in military service. However, if the divorce proceedings were started, the husband notified of it, and if he voluntarily had a lawyer enter his appearance, the court will have jurisdiction to grant a divorce.

Mrs. G. M. writes: "My husband and I were separated when he was inducted into the service, but his commanding officer has written to me stating that he took out an allotment for me and also for his mother. She is under the impression that I am taking what rightfully belongs to her. However, I have not received anything as yet, but I am in need of it as I am under a physician's care and unable to work. She threatens to write to the government and stop any allowance for me. Is it possible for her to do so?"

ANSWER: I doubt very much if your mother-in-law can stop a family allowance to you. If your husband is willing to pay his share of it and has filed an application for it, there is no reason why you should not receive it, if you are legally married. She is also mistaken in believing that you will be given what belongs to her. Benefits for mothers and wives are entirely separate, and she could not, under any circumstances, receive the same amount of government assistance which you, as a wife, could obtain.

S. S. writes: "I have a friend now in the army whom I have known for years. Can he make what they call an allotment to me each month, so that his relatives cannot touch it?"

ANSWER: If the man you mention is not related, it will not be possible for him to make an allotment to you.

H. V. writes: "My husband has been in the army for the past year. He had intended to file an application for me, but before he did so he was made a staff sergeant. He promised to send me some financial help when he obtained that promotion and the raise in pay to help me pay off debts which had been incurred before he entered the army, but to date I have not received anything. I have been able to support myself, altho I could not clear up the bills, but I am now faced with a serious operation and I will not be able to work for several months. Is there anything I can do; is there any one I can contact for information about obtaining some financial help?"

ANSWER: I believe it would be best for you to go to the headquarters of the Army Relief society, room 521, 433 West Van Buren street, and explain your situation. It is possible that that office can make some suggestions as to the possibilities of obtaining support from your husband, or how you can obtain financial assistance while you are unable to work.

Mrs. L. M. asks: "I would like to know if I am eligible for a government allowance. My husband is a ship's cook, first class, in the navy but he has not said anything about a government allowance for me. Can I obtain the $50 a month which some wives are receiving?"

ANSWER: Your husband is not eligible to apply for benefits for you under the service men's dependents' bill, since he is in the second pay grade of the navy, and such allowances are restricted to dependents of men in the 4th, 5th, 6th, and 7th pay grades.

BUS SCHEDULES WILL BE CHANGED WITHOUT AIRING

Changes in schedules of buses of the surface lines and the Chicago Motor Coach company, which must be made Dec. 1 to comply with an order of the Office of Defense Transportation to eliminate 15 per cent of bus mileage, are to be received and filed by the Illinois Commerce commission without the customary hearings on such matters, John D. Biggs, commission chairman, said yesterday.

The companies were reported working out their schedules. A point not yet covered is whether new service by buses to war plants will be regarded as separate from the 15 per cent cut order or must be met by further reduction on established routes. The commission, Biggs said, hopes for an early decision on this.

ROBERT CARR JR. CONTESTS WIFE'S SUIT FOR DIVORCE

Both Seek Custody of Their Little Boy.

Mrs. Vesta Culbertson Carr's divorce suit against Robert Franklin Carr Jr. will be contested, and Carr in turn will file a cross bill for divorce, it was announced yesterday at a preliminary hearing of her suit before Judge Ralph J. Dady in the Lake county Circuit court in Waukegan. The Carrs are well known in north shore circles.

Figuring largely in the threatened contest is a fight over custody of the Carrs' son, Robert Franklin III., 2 years old, who is now living with his paternal grandparent, Robert F. Carr Sr., 545 East Deerpath, Lake Forest, president of the Dearborn Chemical company.

Married in 1938.

Mrs. Carr is the daughter of Craig Culbertson, a retired stockbroker, and Mrs. Stanley Mitchell of the Lake Shore drive hotel. She lives at 301 Rose terrace, Lake Forest. Her husband is a coast guard boatswain's mate, 2d class, stationed in Waukegan, and living with his father. Their marriage in January, 1938, was a major event of the social season.

Mrs. Carr sued for divorce last Wednesday, charging desertion. The case came up before Judge Dady yesterday on her motion for temporary alimony and custody of Robert III. Both she and her husband were in court as was his father.

Propose Guardian for Child.

During discussion of the child's custody one of the attorneys for Mrs. Carr said "the other side" had proposed that a guardian be appointed for the boy, with the parents to be privileged to see him. The attorney objected to such an arrangement as treating the youngster like a mere chattel. It was finally agreed that the boy remain temporarily with his Grandfather Carr.

Mrs. Carr was awarded temporary alimany of $150 a month after Carr testified his income in 1941 was $18,000 and will be $15,000 this year. Her lawyers said she will waive almony when the divorce is settled.

First enlisted WAVE to arrive at the United States Naval Training station at Great Lakes was Miss Julia Zelenka, 30 years old, of 7143 South Talman avenue. Miss Zelenka's arrival yesterday will be followed by a group of enlisted WAVES at Great Lakes this week, where they will take over duties designed to release men for active service. Miss Zelenka is rated as a yeoman, third class.

Wage Ceiling Not to Halt Policemen's Hero Awards

Federal wage stabilization legislation does not affect payment of extra compensation to policemen for heroism or especially meritorious service, Bernet Hodes, city corporation counsel, informed Police Commissioner Allman yesterday. Such payments, not to exceed $300 a man during a year, are made from a special fund of $30,000 provided annually by the city council.

Museum, Aquarium Open Free Thanksgiving Day

Thanksgiving will be a free admission day at the Field museum and the Shedd aquarium. The museum will be open from 9 a. m. until 4 p. m., according to Orr Goodson, acting director. Doors will open at the aquarium at 10 a. m. and close at 5 p. m., Director Walter H. Chute said. The usual admission charge of 28 cents [including federal tax] will be made at the planetarium on Thursday.

HOLDS ALIMONY CONTEMPT PLEA NOT VALID HERE

Circuit Judge Thomas J. Lynch refused yesterday to follow a downstate appellate court decision which would make alimony delinquents of any state liable to punishment in Cook county courts if they made their homes here.

The judge dismissed the case of Mrs. Ruth Niekerk, 40 years old, 7019 Kimbark avenue, who asked the court to issue a contempt citation against her former husband, Franklin Niekerk, 42, a war plant worker, of 5628 South Hermitage avenue. Her petition charged that he was $1,800 in arrears in allimony of $15 a month ordered by the Edgar county Circuit court.

Mrs. Niekerk's lawyer, Ira Silver, cited a decision handed down last March by the Illinois Appellate court in Galesburg, in the 2d district, holding that an alimony order entered in Elko, Nev., was valid in Illinois.

FREED FROM JAIL IN INFANT DEATH, WOMAN IS WED

Mrs. Betty Jane Sheehan finished serving a 90 day term in the Lake county jail at midnight last night. A few minutes later she and Joseph Philip Clayton, 38 years old, of Marengo, McHenry county, walked across the street and were married by Justice of the Peace Michael J. Haney.

Mrs. Sheehan was sentenced to jail by County Judge Perry L. Persons after a jury found her guilty of concealing the death of an infant, whose body was taken from the Des Plaines river last July. She said the child was born dead and that Clayton was the father.

Clayton was divorced Nov. 7 by Mrs. Linda Clayton, who was granted custody of their two children and allimony of $15 a week.

VARIPAPA PUTS ON PRELUDE TO ALL-STAR MEET

Second Session at Bryn Mawr Today.

School Days

Facts of today's second Chicago Tribune Bowling school session conducted by Andy Varipapa follow:

Place—Bryn Mawr recreation, 2015 East 71st street at Jeffery avenue.

Schedule—2 to 5 p. m., lecture and instruction; 11 p. m., match, Varipapa vs. Barney Grogan, followed by exhibition of difficult shots.

Admission—Free.

BY C. H. BEUKEMA.

Afternoon bowling has been off in Chicago establishments this season. But it wasn't off yesterday at Bryn Mawr Recreation, formerly Ted Lyons, where Andy Varipapa opened his second Chicago Tribune Bowling school.

Andy came to Chicago not only to teach the fundamentals of tenpins during the next 10 days, but also to use that period to put a fine edge on his game for the National All-Star tournament, which opens a week from Saturday in the Auditorium Theater Service Men's center. He will be one of the starting field of 100 in that event.

Attendance Nearly Tripled.

Long before Varipapa put in his appearance at Bryn Mawr yesterday most of the 32 alleys were busy, which is unusual in any Chicago establishment this season. Not only were women who were to shoot in a league a little later getting their practice, but men were sprinkled generously along the lanes that the league was not to use. And by the time Andy was ready for his lecture, all lanes were occupied. They remained that way the rest of the afternoon as boys and girls from high school leagues came over to get the benefit of Andy's teaching also. The ordinary attendance was nearly tripled, according to Charley Schaflein, manager of the center.

Despite the conditions outdoors, which were such that only the really interested bowler or bowling fan would be attracted, several thousand visited the center at 2015 East 71st street. Andy demonstrated all the moves up to and including delivery of the ball, then worked with bowlers who were on the lanes. In the course of the afternoon he renewed many acquaintances made last spring when he conducted the first Tribune school, which proves that his pupils of six months ago received benefit from his teaching.

Wins from Batchelor.

Last night Varipapa beat Jay Batchelor, Bryn Mawr Major league star, 642 to 593, in an exhibition match, his best game being 225. Then Andy returned to display his fancy shots. He is to put on a like program today, except that he will meet Barney Grogan in his special 11 p. m. match.

Andy is not the only All-Star who is to figure in Chicago's pre-tournament picture. Four of the outstanding bowlers of the city, all members of the All-Star field, are to meet in a tune-up doubles match at Rolaway recreation, 4840 North Pulaski road, at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Paul Krumske and Herb Freitag will meet Adolph [Swede] Carlson and Joe Sinke in a four-game competition. No admission will be charged, but a collection for the benefit of the USO will be taken. It will be recalled that Sinke and Freitag paired to roll the greatest doubles total in history, 1,563, in the spring of 1940.

Ticket Demand Increases.

The demand for All-Star tickets stepped up yesterday, with the heaviest call for the opening two days, Saturday, Dec. 5 and the following day. The formal opening is to take place the first night, and that fact, plus the realization that bowling is to be seen in an entirely different setting than at any time in the past when it moves into the Auditorium have caught the fancy of the tenpin fans.

ALVIN GOMEZ WINS DECISION OVER PARRATTO

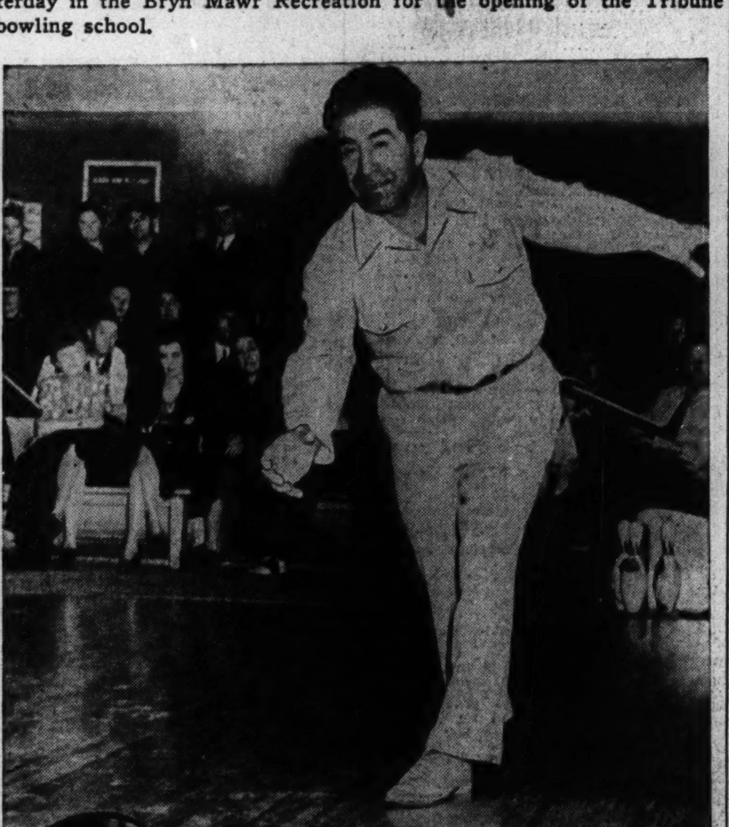
Alvin Gomez, Chicago lightweight, was awarded a split decision over Sammy Parratto of Pittsburgh in an eight round bout in Marigold Gardens last night. Referee Bernard Weisman voted for Parratto, but Judges Henry Froula and Capt. Romaine A. Goudie scored for Gomez.

A crowd of 1,323 contributed to a gross gate of $1,865.

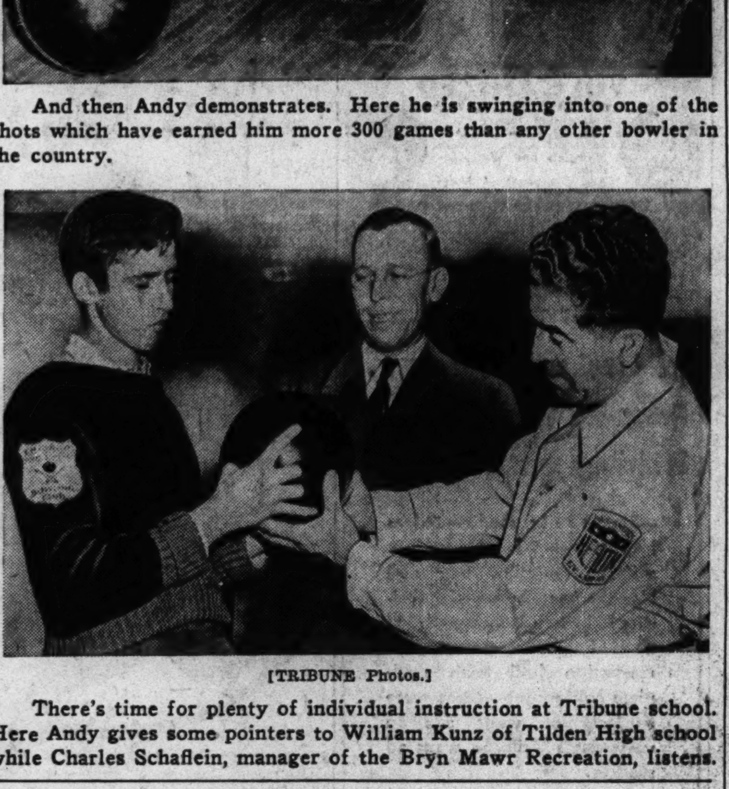
Jimmy Joyce, Gary junior lightweight, hammered out a decision over Bill Jordan in a six round semi-windup despite a 10 pound weight disadvantage. In four round preliminary matches Teddy Lewis, fighting bellhop, defeated Paul Carbetta, Pittsburgh, and Sam Scully conquered Jerry Pittro. Zack Robinson, Pittsburgh middleweight, stopped Cairo Hodges in the third round of a scheduled four round opener.

Master and Pupils at Bowling School

Andy Varipapa, one of the nation's most celebrated bowlers, gives instructions and advice to a portion of the crowd which assembled yesterday in the Bryn Mawr Recreation for the opening of the Tribune bowling school.



And then Andy demonstrates. Here he is swinging into one of the shots which have earned him more 300 games than any other bowler in the country.



[TRIBUNE Photos.]

Mother of Frank Thomas, Alabama Coach, Dies at 82

Mrs. Elizabeth Thomas, 82 years old, mother of Frank Thomas, football coach at the University of Alabama, died yesterday after an illness of 11 months. Mrs. Thomas died in the home of a daughter, Mrs. Frank Dooley, in East Chicago. Another daughter, Mrs. C. H. Dixon, also lives there.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Blackhawks, who swooned themselves out of undisputed possession of first place in the National Hockey league Sunday night, have another chance to gain the top rung by themselves tonight. They will play the Boston Bruins in Boston and the Detroit Red Wings, one of the two teams now tied with the Hawks for first place, will be engaging the Canadiens in Montreal.

Inasmuch as the Toronto Maple Leafs, who are tied with the Hawks and Wings, will be idle, the Hawk task of assuming the league lead is simplified but still not exactly simple. The Chicagoans beat the Bruins, 5 to 1, in the Chicago season opener, but the Bruins, after losing four straight, now have won four straight. The Hawks had a run of four straight in their grasp Sunday night when they were leading the Canadiens, 3 to 0, one-eighth of the way thru the final period. Thereafter they folded and had to settle for a 3 to 3 tie.

Three Chances for First.

There are three possibilities for the Hawks to go into first place tonight. If the Hawks beat the Bruins and the Canadiens tie the Wings, the Chicagoans will be atop the heap. If the Hawks and Boston tie and the Canadiens whip the Wings, the Chicagoans will lead Detroit and Toronto by one point. If the Hawks win and the Wings lose, then the Chicagoans will be in first place by a margin of two points.

Maybe you think the prospects aren't worth all the foregoing calculating, but please remember that the Hawks have journeyed clear to Boston for just the one engagement. Thursday night they will be back home to entertain the New York Rangers.

14 Hawks Make Trip.

The Hawks took 14 players to Boston, the new National league limit. Those who made the trip are: Bert Gardiner, Earl Seibert, Aud Tuten, Red Mitchell, Joe Matte, Doug and Max Bentley, Bill Thoms, Mush March, Bob Carse, Red Hamill, Fido Purpur, Cully Dahlstrom, and George Allen.

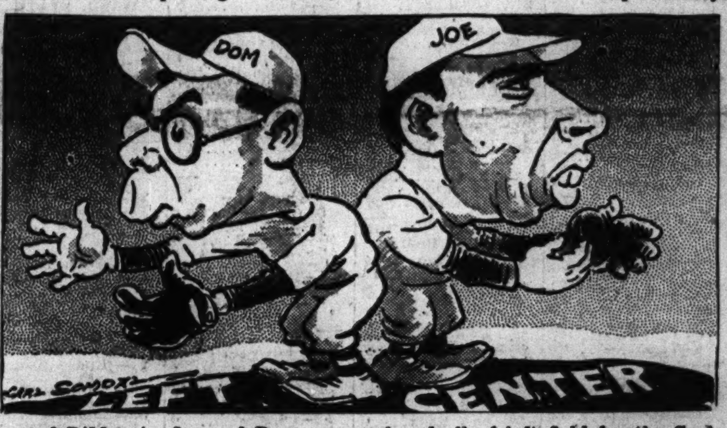
FIVE of the first six names on the Harvard football roster are Walter C. Wilson Jr., W. Gordon Lyle Jr., Cleo A. O'Donnell Jr., Ray W. Guild Jr., and F. Barton Harvey Jr. . . . There are others on the list whose names indicate they are named after their pappies. . . . Then, too, there is Stephen Gifford III. and William Barnes III. . . . All of which indicates that a lot of proud parents have been trying to keep a football team going at Harvard, expensively, if not too successfully. . . . The fence that for years guarded the little plot of grass adjoining the right wing of the Wrigley field grandstand has been yanked out and turned over to the metal scrap pile. . . . The Chicago division of the Denver Sanatorium is trying to sell 25,000 tickets for the Bears-Rams game at Wrigley field Sunday. . . . They will be turned over to men in uniform. . . . The Sanatorium unit will receive part of the purchase price of each ticket and the proceeds will go for the maintenance of indigent Chicago tuberculosis victims at Denver. . . . Dispatches from San Francisco say Ralph Hodgin, recently drafted from the San Francisco Seals by the White Sox, "was generally accepted as the best left fielder the Seals have had since the team moved into their present stadium in 1931." . . . Lest this confuse Sox fans into expecting too much, we hasten to mention a couple of boys named DiMaggio, Joe and Dom, never played all of left field for the Seals, tho both usually played half of it while officially assigned to center field. . . .



The eighth place Athletics drew 539,000 fans to home games in 1942, only 32,000 fewer than the world champion St. Louis Cardinals. . . . Abe Goldberg, former president of the Sugar Bowl committee, predicts the normal attendance of 70,000 at the New Year's day game will be reduced to 50,000 this year because of transportation curtailments. . . . Clint Castleberry of Georgia Tech probably will be the first freshman ever to make the All-Southeastern conference eleven. . . . Dr. Frank A. Beu, president of Western State Teachers college, Macomb, Ill., won monograms in three sports during his undergraduate days at Northwestern. . . . Bill Dickey has purchased an airplane. . . . It is reported any one interested in purchasing the Phillies can do it without an extensive bankroll. . . . The National league, which is on the cuff for an amount estimated between $50,000 and $100,000, is anxious to unload. . . . The American league office is taking down its star studded service flag and replacing it with an ornate plaque which will carry the names of all its players in service. . . . The list now includes 92.

That broke her heart with pain and tragedy.

NAME OFFICIALS, COLORS FOR CITY PREP TITLE GAME

90,000 Expected to See Contest Saturday.

BY FRANK NORRIS.

The Leo Lions' impressive victory over Fenwick High school of Oak Park, 33 to 13, Sunday afternoon completed determination of opponents for the ninth annual prep title and charity game Saturday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock in Soldiers' field. Tilden Tech qualified as the City league representative last Saturday with a convincing 20 to 0 victory over Taft High school.

This battle between two finely conditioned elevens will be played for the benefit of the Chicago Servicemen's center. Barnet Hodes, secretary of Chicago's Own Christmas Benefit fund, yesterday announced that advance sales have reached $75,000. An attendance of 90,000 is expected.

Jack Anderson, director of the game for the committee, after a meeting yesterday with A. L. [Whitey] Cronin, coach of the Lions; Charles L. Harvey, coach for Tilden, and A. H. Pritzlaff, director of physical education for the board of education, announced other details, including officials, for the contest.

Colors and Benches Announced.

Leo, which will wear royal blue jerseys with white and red shoulders, has been alloted the bench on the east side of the field. Tilden's jerseys will be white with red and blue shoulders. The squad will be quartered on the west sidelines.

Sam Pecoraro of Dallas has been named referee. He will be assisted by William F. McHugh of De Paul as umpire; Ike Craig of Illinois Wesleyan, field judge, and Nate Wasserman of the American College of Physical Education, head linesman.

The contest is taking the aspects of a grudge battle as fans wrangle over the respective merits of each on offense and defense. Each team has an imposing record. Tilden has been waiting since Nov. 29, 1941, to gain revenge for its 46 to 13 lopsided defeat by Leo.

Leo, on the other hand, has been defeated only once since 1939 when Fenger dealt it an 18 to 0 beating in the annual charity game. Leo now has won 38 of the last 39 games it has played.

Tilden Has Sturdy Line.

Sports fans are speculating whether Leo's deception or Tilden's power will prevail. It has been proved that it is easier to score upon Leo than upon Tilden. The Lions have yielded touchdowns to four of their six south section opponents and two touchdowns in the championship game. Tilden's charging line has stopped all opponents with the exception of two strong central section teams, Phillips, which scored twice, and Lindblom, which scored in the final quarter when the Blue Devils were coasting along with a 21 to 0 lead.

Each school has exceptional stars in the back field. Leo's back field of Bob Kelly, Bob Hanlon, Bob Carr, and Don Murphy is outstanding. Tilden counters with an array of stars just as proficient in Eddie Uvodich, Ray Schumacher, Frank Maratea, and Mike Bracken.

Lines May Decide Battle.

The battle probably will be decided by the lines. Tilden's line averages in the neighborhood of 185 pounds while the Lions' forward wall hits the scales at about 177. One advantage resting with Leo is its wealth of reserves, three deep in every position. Tilden has able substitutes, but its forte is its splendid condition and the ability of its starting lineup to play thruout.

Tickets at $1 for adults and 35 cents for children may be purchased at any of the public high schools and all Catholic high schools. Tickets also will be placed on sale at gate O at the south end of Soldiers' field on Saturday.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Who are the most valuable football players to their teams in the Western conference? And when these nine young men are selected by their teammates, which one of them will win the sterling silver football which will be awarded this season for the 19th time by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE?

Minnesota and Wisconsin have completed their schedules. Northwestern finishes its season Thursday against Great Lakes. The other six conference squads end play Saturday in a series of contests highlighted by the Iowa-Michigan game at Ann Arbor.

The most valuable player award has come to be the highest a boy can receive. Its particular merit is that he is chosen by his own teammates who know far better than any one else his value to the squad thruout the year. In the customary mine run of All-American and All-Conference selections, there is the tendency to spread out the honors to cover as many elevens and as many sections as possible.

Squads to Vote.

Moreover, the upper classmen, particularly the seniors, generally are given more consideration. None of these factors enters in the selection of the nine most valuable players in the Western conference.

Ken Rouse [1927.] Tom Harmon [1940.] Nile Kinnick [1939.]

Three former winners of most valuable player award.

As soon as possible each Big Nine football squad will meet and vote secretly on the most valuable player award. Announcement will be made of each in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. Each of the nine players will receive a white gold miniature football with his university's insignia.

There are no restrictions on the voting by the individual football squads. All varsity men are eligible and the most valuable player may be a sophomore, junior, or a senior. He may be a substitute if his play has contributed largely to the team.

Jury to Pick Most Valuable.

When the nine nominations have been made, the most valuable player in the conference then will be determined by a group of 21. This group includes the nine football coaches of the conference, nine prominent officials, Maj. John L. Griffith, commissioner of athletics for the conference; Arch Ward, sports editor of THE TRIBUNE, and the writer.

The Big Nine football teams may be hard put this season to select their most valuable candidates. Consider Wisconsin, for instance. Did Elroy Hirsch, Pat Harder, Jack Wink, Dave Schreiner, or Fred Negus contribute most to the success of the Badgers, who lost only one game and who defeated Ohio State, conference champion? Last year Harder was chosen by his teammates as Wisconsin's most valuable. He was one of two sophomores in the list of nine. The other was Billy Hillenbrand, Indiana university half back.

Candidates Are Numerous.

Among the possible most valuable player candidates at Ohio State are Paul Sarringhaus and Les Horvath, the regular half backs; Gene Fekete, the sophomore full back; Chuck Csuri, tackle; Bob Shaw, end; Capt. George Lynn, quarter back, and Bill Vickroy, center. This does not exhaust the list by any means.

Michigan has Capt. George Ceithaml, Al Wistert, Julius Frank, and Bob Wiese, among others.

In making the final award, the committee of 21 will not consider the final standing of the teams. The award is given for the greatest contribution to the team regardless of the number of games won and lost. In fact, the conference football champions have not contributed a majority of the winners in the 18 years the silver football has been presented.

FINE BASKETBALL TEAM IS TRAINING AT GREAT LAKES

Newcomers May Outshine Last Season's Stars.

Only two members of the Great Lakes basketball team of a year ago will be present when the Bluejackets open their 1942 season a week from tonight, but Coach Lieut. Paul Hinkle has the personnel available to produce another powerful team.

When the sailors take the floor before approximately 5,000 recruits at Great Lakes in the opener against the Milwaukee Teachers only Dick Klein of Northwestern and Forrest Anderson of Stanford will be on hand from the touring 1941-'42 squad which compiled a record of 31 victories against only 5 defeats, despite the handicap of playing several days in succession on some occasions.

Another Crop of Stars.

However, to be found on Lieut. Hinkle's present roster of 19 candidates is an assortment of basketball talent that seems the equal, if not the superior of the former group.

The midwest has contributed more than its share to the current crop. Purdue is represented by Forrest [Frosty] Sprowl, the former Oblong, Ill. athlete, and Charley Caress, while Notre Dame has three former stars on the roster in George Sobek, John Hiller, and Eddie Riska.

Former Butler Players.

A pair of Hinkle's former pupils at Butler, who have resumed their competition under his tutelage are Wilbur Schumacher and Bob Dietz, Rudy Soderquist, who played at Iowa, and Chet Aubuchon, the former All-American from Michigan State who came back to play his final year there after a serious illness had caused doctors to predict he never again would be able to compete, are other members of the squad familiar to midwestern fans.

Tennessee and Long Island university, which met in the Sugar bowl basketball classic last New Year's day in the contest that snapped the New Yorkers' winning streak at 23, are represented by Gilbert Huffman and John Hofmann, respectively. Seton Hall, another eastern leader year in and year out, has contributed Bob Davies, while the west coast's bid for recognition will be made by Pete Newell of Loyola of Los Angeles.

Follows Dad's Footsteps.

George Glamack, who paced North Carolina to a conference championship and a berth in the NCAA eastern tournament in Madison, Wis., two years ago, will carry his All-American laurels into a Bluejacket uniform this season.

Rounding out the Great Lakes roster will be a young man from the University of Colorado who sparked his team to a Rocky Mountain championship a year ago with a record that included only one defeat and that by a single point. He is George Hamburg, a great guard, who led his team into the Western NCAA tournament at Kansas City. His decision to join the navy was a natural one for his father was a member of Great Lakes athletic teams in the first World war.

Hi-ya, Soldier.

Speak to that kid with the overnight bag,
There by the bus station door;
With his khaki cap and his boyish air—
It wouldn't be much of a chore.
Well, supposing you have never met him,
What difference does that make?
After all, he's somebody's brother or son,
You'll not make any mistake.

Say hello to that sailor over there,
Waiting alone for his train;
Why, he almost looks like a kid dressed up,
Sort o' lost in the drizzling rain.
Whether we know them or not, what harm
In a friendly word or a smile;
It may come at the very moment to help
With the pull down a long hard mile!

—Jazbo of Old Dubuque.

Do You Remember 'Way Back When: This was the time of year father put plenty of 'taters in the cellar, because it was going to be a long, cold winter on account of the way squirrels were storing nuts?
—Esther V. N. of Muscatine.

Evening brought the parents and children into the parlor with reading material in hand and the entire family clustered around the stand table which bore the coal oil lamp with its gaudy green shade? —S. G. Wick.

We Give Thanks.

Here at the Rock of Ages, thanks we give;
Thanks for the things we love, and life we live;
Thanks for a faith of fathers down the line,
Passed on to us, now yours and yours and mine.
Thanks for a country Eden-like in phases,
Thanks for the brave and resolute, strong faces;
Thanks for our emblem of red, white and blue,
But mostly, dear Lord, we're thankful we have You.

—Helen Baird Le Monte.

Ten Years Ago Today—The league leading Green Bay Packers whipped Brooklyn, 7 to 0, before a crowd of 30,000 in New York. . . . The Chicago Bears won the city title by defeating the Cardinals, 34 to 0, in Wrigley field. . . . Colgate's undefeated football team captured the eastern title by beating Brown, 21 to 0.

BADGERS PLAY BEFORE 316,000 IN TEN GAMES

Madison, Wis., Nov. 23 (AP).—The 1942 Wisconsin football team played before larger crowds than any other in the university's history, William Aspinwall, athletic business manager, announced tonight.

Aspinwall said the Badgers, who finished in second place in the Western conference, attracted 316,000 fans during a 10 game schedule. He said the mark surpassed by 6,000 the precious high set last year for eight games.

The Camp Randall stadium record was broken twice, with 45,000 attending the Ohio State game and 46,000 on hand for the Minnesota tilt. Six home games drew 199,000 spectators, Aspinwall said, and 117,000 attended four road contests.

MARTIN'S V.V.O.

It's just a rumor

We're riding down this rumor that Martin's V.V.O. is hard to get. For a while it's true that we had to ration some of our best dealers, and it's also true that many people who swear by V.V.O. decided to play safe and stocked up.

Now, however, V.V.O. is arriving from the other side of the Atlantic in regular fashion. You can get all of this famous liqueur Scotch that you want, at your favorite tavern, or at your dealer's. And remember, you pay no more for V.V.O. quality, including the advantage of 88 proof, instead of the usual 86.8.

NOTRE DAME TO LEAVE TONIGHT FOR USC GAME

Leahy Seeks Improved Pass Defense.

Notre Dame, Ind., Nov. 23 [Special]. —The Notre Dame football squad held its first Monday practice session since the season opened today when Coach Frank Leahy started preparations for the 17th annual Southern California game to be played next Saturday in Los Angeles.

The players will leave tomorrow evening after practice to start their trip west from Chicago. They will work out Thursday in El Paso, Tex., and arrive in Pasadena, Cal., Friday night. Consequently, only three practice sessions can be held before the game.

Regulars Take It Easy.

Most of the regulars played 45 minutes or longer in defeating Northwestern, 27 to 20, Saturday, and held only light drill today, but all the others went thru a two hour session devoted mainly to defense against Southern California plays, particularly passes. Both Michigan and Northwestern passed almost at will against the Irish in the last two games, and Leahy was seeking to improve this weak spot in the Notre Dame armor thru which 52 points have poured in the last two games.

Coach Leahy said today that Lou Rymkus, regular left tackle who was out of the Northwestern game with an injured elbow, might be able to play against the Trojans, and that Pat Filley and Tom Brock would retain their starting positions at left guard and center, respectively.

PURDUE TO PICK STAR.

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 23 [Special].—Purdue's football squad and coaching staff will be the guests of honor of the Lafayette Kiwanis club at the annual gridiron banquet here tomorrow night.

Highlights of the evening will include the selection of the most valuable player for the season just closed, election of the 1941 honorary captain, and the announcement of letter awards.

Simon Heemstra, president of the local Kiwanis club, will preside as toastmaster for a program that will include addresses by Guy Mackey, athletic director; Elmer Burnham, head football coach, and Prof. Frank C. Hockema, representing President E. C. Elliott.

INDIANA FACES FORT KNOX.

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 23 [Special].—Indiana's football team, with one of its best season records in many years—six victories in nine starts—was given a rest today following the 20 to 0 triumph over Purdue's Boilermakers in Lafayette Saturday.

The Hoosiers, who won the Old Oaken Bucket for the third straight year in the annual conference battle, will begin preparing tomorrow to meet Fort Knox in the season final at Louisville, Ky., Saturday. Indiana's triumph over Purdue marked the first time since the inaugural of the bucket series in 1925 that a Hoosier team had won three straight. Earl Dolaway, triple threat full back, suffered a wrenched knee in the contest, but probably will be ready Saturday.

Writers Name Beazley 1942's Best Rookie

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Johnny Beazley, who leaped into the headlines with 21 league victories followed by some fancy pitching in the recent crash of the Yankees, was, in the opinion of the Chicago baseball writers, the outstanding major league rookie last season. The balloting, as announced yesterday showed the Cardinals' flashy freshman leading the field with a total of 192 votes.

The award, in the form of the J. Louis Comiskey memorial plaque, will be presented during the baseball writers' fifth annual diamond dinner next Tuesday evening in the Morrison hotel Terrace casino, either to Beazley personally or a representative.

He Hopes to Attend.

Beazley, now in training in the south with the army air corps, is awaiting action from his superiors on a request for time off to make the trip.

In the voting, which was spread over 22 players considered as freshmen, Beazley was named first on 11 ballots, second on 2 and fourth on 1. Johnny Pesky, the Red Sox' sprightly shortstop who totaled 136 points, attracted two first place mentions, nine seconds and two thirds. One first choice went to Vernon Stephens, the youngster whose fielding and hitting contributed considerably to the rise of the St. Louis Browns into the first division.

Here Is Result of Poll.

The leaders' points were distributed as follows:

	Points.
John Beazley, Cardinals	192
John Pesky, Red Sox	136
Vernon Stephens, Browns	112
Stanley Musial, Cardinals	72
Cecil Hughson, Red Sox	54
George Kurowski, Cardinals	38
Leslie Fleming, Indians	35
Henry Borowy, Yankees	35
Ray Lamanno, Reds	23
Leonard Merullo, Cubs	21
Froilan Fernandez, Braves	19
Stanley Spence, Senators	15
Willard Marshall, Giants	12

DU SABLE SWIM TEAMS CONQUER PHILLIPS IN MEET

DuSable's junior and senior swimming teams extended their victories in dual meets to 51 in a row by turning back Phillips yesterday in the latter's pool. The juniors triumphed 39 to 18, and the seniors, 46 to 11.

Farmer Named Iowa Captain for Michigan

Iowa City, Ia., Nov. 23 [Special].—Tommy Farmer, Iowa's accurate passing quarter back, has been named game captain of the Iowa Hawkeyes Saturday in their season final with Michigan at Ann Arbor.

Farmer, one of the 13 seniors who will be playing their last college game, is Iowa's leading offensive threat, having accounted for half the team's total yardage. His passing record already has surpassed that of Nile Kinnick, Iowa's 1939 ace.

Iowa Seeks Share of Third.

Iowa will be playing for a third place tie in the conference standings when they clash with Michigan, and Coach Eddie Anderson today began tuning up the aerial offensive he hopes will subdue the Wolverines.

Anderson indicated there would be no radical changes in the lineup, but said he may use Roger Keane and Bruno Niedziela, a bair of bulky tackles, at the guard posts.

MICHIGAN SQUAD RESTS.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 23 [Special]. —A sad Wolverine squad this afternoon took a look at movies of the Ohio State game and the mistakes which cost it a chance for the Big Ten title last Saturday in Columbus. The team rested today before launching a three day practice session for the season final this week-end against Iowa here.

Both clubs have a 6-3 record and should stack up just about the same. Michigan will be in good physical condition for the contest.

The Iowa-Michigan series started in 1900 and in 11 games, Michigan has won eight and Iowa two. One game ended in a tie.

GOPHERS TO NAME CAPTAIN.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 23 [Special].—Routine business remained for the Minnesota football squad today as it reviewed its worst season since 1939.

The letter list was being drawn up and will be turned into the committee tomorrow, then will come the impressive torch passing ceremony before the student body when the 1943 captain will be named and letters awarded.

The sole casualty resulting from the Wisconsin game was Wayne [Red] Williams. He suffered a bone fracture in the elbow early in the game Saturday and his arm has been placed in a cast.

GILLS TAKE AN UNDISPUTED LEAD IN WINDY CITY

The Joseph L. Gills bowling team last night took over undisputed possession of first place in the Windy City league by sweeping its three game match with the T. W. Samuels on the Windy City recreation alleys. The Budweisers fell out of a first place tie when they were able to win only two of their games with the None Better Ice Cream squad. The Mineralites posted games of 1,066, 1,122, and 1,095 for a 3,283 and high team series. Bud Wright of the Mineralite squad rolled three games of 247, 278, and 214 for 739 and individual honors. ALL-STAR FIVES AGREE TO PLAY COLLEGE RULES

Collegiate rules will govern the third annual All-Star basketball game between the Oshkosh world champion five and the college aces in the Stadium Friday night. This was decided at a meeting last night between Manager Lonnie Darling of the pro quintet and Head Coach Arthur Lonborg and his assistant, Jack Tierney, of the All-Stars.

Only one exception to the college rules was agreed on. That is the personal foul rule. As in the two previous games, a player will be disqualified with five instead of four personal fouls. Fort Wayne will meet Camp Grant in the opener.

500 SEE MOVIES OF OHIO STATE'S TITLE VICTORY

The largest crowd of the year turned out to see moving pictures of the crucial Western conference game of the season at yesterday's luncheon meeting of the Wailing Wall. The contest was Saturday's Ohio State-Michigan affair in Columbus, O., which the Buckeyes won, 21 to 7, for the Big Nine title. The crowd of more than 500 filled the Sherman hotel's Bal Taberin to capacity.

On hand to explain the pictures and furnish an authoritative touch to the showing of the pictures was Hugh McGranahan of the Ohio State coaching staff.

Cubs Will Start Spring Training in Mesa, Ariz.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 23 (AP).—The Chicago Cubs will do their preliminary spring training next season in Mesa, Ariz., President Clarence Rowland of the Los Angeles Pacific Coast league club said today. After preliminary training in Mesa, the Cubs will come to Los Angeles to complete it.

Rymkus and Schoonover to Play with North Team

Montgomery, Ala., Nov. 23 (AP).—Two additional players were announced today for the northern Blues in the annual intersectional Blue-Gray football game here Dec. 26. They are Lou Rymkus of Notre Dame and Kenneth Schoonover of Penn State, tackles.

Bears, Lions Are Headed for Opposite Goals

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Football fans who like to garnish their sport with a dash of statistics will be watching both the Bears and the Detroit Lions during the next two weeks. If the Bears continue at their present pace and beat both the Cleveland Rams and the Cardinals in their remaining games, they will be concluding a regular National league season unbeaten and untied for the second time. They accomplished it previously in 1934.

No other team has been able to do this. Green Bay was undefeated in 1929, but was tied once in that season. Canton went thru 1922 and 1923 unbeaten, but was tied twice in one of these seasons and once in the other.

Unhappy Ending in 1934.

The Bears won 13 games in establishing that 1934 record. This season their limit is 11, nine of which they already have accounted for. There was an unhappy ending to that 1934 season, for the Bears lost to the New York Giants, 30 to 13, in the playoff.

That was the year of the famous tennis shoe strategy. The Bears were leading at the end of the first half, which was played on a frozen field. During the intermission, the Giants cast aside their regulation foot gear and they came out for the second half wearing tennis shoes. While the Bears were slipping and sliding thru the remainder of the game, the Giants outran them on play after play.

The league championship game this season will involve the Redskins as the Bears' opponents. The Chicago organization anticipates no such sad end to this campaign.

Lions Have No Zest for It.

As for the record which the Lions are likely to make—the Detroit players are looking forward to it with no zest whatever. If they are beaten by the Redskins next Sunday in their one remaining game they will become the first team to go thru an entire season without a victory since the Dayton eleven performed this feat in 1929. Dayton, however, lost only six. If the Lions fail again next Sunday, their total of defeats will be eleven.

Chicago followers of the Bears will get two more opportunities to see their team in action this season. The champions will encounter the Rams on Wrigley field next Sunday and the Cardinals in Comiskey park the following week.

3,000 Service Men See Tennis Exhibition at Pier

In a tennis exhibition before 3,000 sailors and marines at Navy pier last night, Mary Hardwick, English star, defeated Mrs. Dorothy Round Little, 7-5; Bobby Riggs beat Charles Hare, 6-3, and Riggs and Mrs. Little defeated Hare and Miss Hardwick, 6-4, 6-1.

BLUEJACKETS' GAME TO REVIVE N. U. MEMORIES

Famous Players Battled Purple in 1918.

When Northwestern entertains the Great Lakes football team at Dyche stadium Thanksgiving day the Wildcats will be repaying a visit they made to the Bluejackers' home grounds in 1918, when the two teams met in their only previous game. The first game, which was played on a rainy afternoon 24 years ago, resulted in a 0 to 0 tie.

That tie game and a 7 to 7 deadlock with Notre Dame were the only marks on an otherwise perfect season for the Bluejackets who continued on to win the 1919 Rose bowl against the Mare Island Marines by a score of 17 to 0.

Famous Players on Squad.

Then, as now, the Great Lakes team was composed of many of the famous players of the period. Heading up the all-star cast was Paddy Driscoll, Northwestern's great half back, who was selected on Walter Camp's All-American team of that year. Others included George Halas, owner-coach of the Chicago Bears; Jimmy Conzelman, coach of the Chicago Cardinals, and Charlie Bachman, Michigan State football coach.

This year's Great Lakes team is rapidly acquiring a reputation equal to its predecessor of World War I. After a somewhat shaky start the Bluejackets have been unscored on in their last five games while their rugged line has held opponents to an average of less than 80 yards by rushing over the entire season.

N. U. Is Outweighed.

The Great Lakes line which averages 214 pounds from end to end will outweigh the Wildcat forwards nearly 20 pounds per man. The Wildcats, who haven't been too successful in gaining along the ground this year, will probably find it necessary to resort early to Otto Graham's passes in an attempt to make headway against their heavier opponents.

SAILORS SHIFT MUCHA.

Rudy Mucha, the giant Chicagoan who has starred at quarter back for the Great Lakes naval training station football team all season, yesterday was shifted to center in an effort to bolster the weakened spot in the Bluejackets' powerful line for the game with Northwestern's Wildcats in Dyche stadium Thursday.

Lieut. Paul D. [Tony] Hinkle, head coach of the Sailors, made the change when it became doubtful that Basil Petry, formerly of Purdue, would be available against the Wildcats. Petry was injured against Marquette two weeks ago, shortly after Bob Nelson, ex-Baylor center, was hurt against Camp Grant. The loss of the two players left the Bluejackets with only one center—George Vogler of Oklahoma A. and M.

Back at Old Position.

The shift returned Mucha to his old position. While playing at the University of Washington in 1940 Mucha was rated as one of the nation's leading centers. He started for the west against the east in San Francisco on Jan. 1, 1941, and also opened at center for the College All-Stars in Chicago in the summer of that year.

During the 1941 season Mucha became a blocking back for the Cleveland Rams in the National Football league. Lieut. Hinkle decided to keep him in the backfield and he divided quarter back duties with Herman Schneidman, former Iowa star. The quarter backing against Northwestern will depend upon Schneidman and Eugene Ball, a member of Duquesnes undefeated squad last year.

MUSCATO AND GREEN MATCHED FOR MARIGOLD

Sergt. Joe Muscato, Buffalo heavyweight, has been matched to meet Frank Greene in an eight round bout in Marigold Gardens next Monday. . . . Nate Bolden, Chicago light heavyweight, who defeated Johnny Colan in the Stadium on Nov. 13, is being sought to head a show in Milwaukee New Year's afternoon. Bolden also has received offers to meet Anton Christoforidis, former world 175 pound title holder, in the Stadium and Cleveland next month. The date in the Stadium is Dec. 11 or 18. . . . George [K. O.] Brown, the old middleweight fighter, has resigned his position as inspector for the Illinois Athletic commission.

Men Who Whistle While They Work

Michigan State Punt Made Premonition True

[This is the last of a series on Western conference football officials' toughest decisions and biggest thrills in sports.]

FOOTBALL officials sometimes have premonitions and sometimes they come true. . . . Roy Knipschild of Chicago will subscribe to this. . . . He was head linesman of the Marquette-Michigan State game in East Lansing in 1939. . . . State was a topheavy favorite to win over Paddy Driscoll's team, but when six minutes remained the teams were tied, 14 to 14. . . . Michigan State punted, but the ball went high and not very far. . . . The Spartans' center and captain got in the way of the Marquette safety man who was trying to make the catch. . . . "I could see this penalty building up," says Roy, "as soon as I saw the kind of kick it was. . . . I saw that a 15 yard penalty for interference from the spot of the foul would put the ball about on State's 20 and give Marquette a chance for a free kick. . . . Well, that's how it worked out. . . . Marquette tried a field goal from the 20, made it, and won the game, 17 to 14. Usually you have to make decisions so quickly you haven't time to reflect on how costly they'll be." . . . Roy's big thrill came when, as a 135 pound sophomore, he started at quarter back for Chicago in 1914 in the big game with Michigan. . . . The Maroons' captain and center, Paul Des Jardines, 6 feet 4 and weighing well over 200, virtually eclipsed Roy as he stood behind center to get the ball. . . . The Gophers won, but it was a hard fought game.

Roy Knipschild.

Florek, Sucic Dropped from U. of Illinois

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 23 [Special].—Ray Florek, quarter back, and Steve Sucic, right half back, were dropped from the University of Illinois today for failure to attend classes. This action followed the issuing of the eight weeks reports on scholastic standings.

Florek, sophomore from Fenger High school, Chicago, has been an outstanding player as blocking back and line backer. Sucic, a junior, alternated with Buck Correll at right half back.

Coach Ray Eliot was busy today reorganizing his lineup for the final game of the season against Camp Grant in Rockford Saturday. The loss of Florek leaves him only one quarter back, Myron Pfeifer, unless Roy Hoppe is able to play, which is not certain.

GRAHAM RECORDS ARE HIGH SPOTS IN WILDCAT YEAR

Northwestern Back Sets Passing Marks.

To Northwestern must go the most unusual distinction of a football team representing the low in won and lost accomplishments but the high in record breaking achievements for the season.

With Otto Graham showing the way, and at the same time receiving superlative coöperation by Team Mate Bob Motl, the Wildcats, cellar representatives of the Western conference, already have written three modern records into the books, official figures released yesterday by the American Football Statistical bureau reveal.

Another Chance for Mark.

And that's not all, Coach Lynn Waldorf's boys have the matter of a Thursday date with Great Lakes to keep, and when that is over Graham and Motl probably will have really done this record dispensing up right.

Graham and Motl coöperated in their passing duties against Notre Dame last week to establish new marks and Otto is now just a shade away from two other feats for the books. Motl's act of catching 19 passes to date earned him the honor of receiving more aerials than any other gentleman in Big Nine modern football, for the best previous accomplishment was 18 by Archie Harris of Indiana, gathered in 1940.

Meanwhile, Graham was erasing Angelo Bertelli's midwest marks of passes attempted and completed, while Bertelli looked on from across the line. Looking back upon the Notre Dame quarter back's best of a year ago, which rated as the greatest in modern annals, there stands a total of 124 attempts, 70 completions for a total of 1,037 yards. Now Otto already has exceeded both of the first two phases, with 155 pitches that netted 79 completions, and his total for the year of 1,012 should easily surpass Bertelli's best with the benefit of the Great Lakes game.

May Surpass Harmon.

Just a mediocre day against the Bluejackets Thursday can also put Graham ahead of Michigan's Tom Harmon as the greatest ground gainer in modern Big Nine competition. Touchdown Tommy compiled 1,356 yards his junior year in 1939 for the best the Big Nine has had to offer of late, but Otto already has compiled a mark of 1,253, thanks mainly to his passing ability, to outdistance by far his nearest pursuers in the midwest this season.

CAN A WINTER THAW FREEZE YOUR CAR?

When the thermometer goes up, how much of your anti-freeze goes out? "Protection" isn't protection if it's chased so fast by heat, that your radiator might be sacrificed to the next blast of COLD! (And repairs these days can cost you even more in time than in money!)

But Super Pyro is anti-freeze that's neither very expensive, nor very easy to lose in mild weather. Super Pyro is made not to take quick leave—not even up around an engine's normal 160 degrees of hotness!

The way Super Pyro can largely stay right in there, despite the heat to be expected, it can still be on hand to do good duty when cold hits. You're not always adding big batches, nor adding much cost. And best of all is your peace of mind—good, sound, economical safety for the car you can't replace at any price. Today get this highly heat-safe, cold-safe Super Pyro.

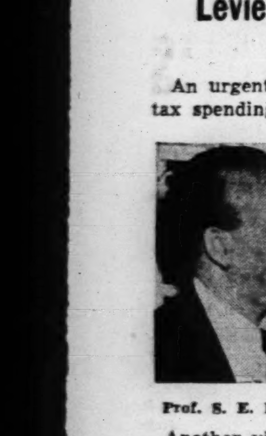
REALTY DEALERS ASK 21 MILLION CUT IN CITY TAX

Professor Says: Retain Levies, Pay Debts.

An urgent request that the major tax spending bodies in Cook county slash their budgets severely and reduce the amount of 1942 tax levies 21 million dollars under 1941 for the city of Chicago alone was contained in a letter sent to public officials yesterday by the Illinois Association of Real Estate Boards.



Prof. S. E. Leland.

Another viewpoint on the tax and budget muddles now confronting the city and the county was expressed by Prof. Simeon E. Leland of the University of Chicago at the annual luncheon of the Civic federation in Hotel La Salle. He said it was the duty of the taxing bodies to continue their levies at the same levels, operate economically, and use surpluses to pay off debts.

Suggests City Tax Cuts.

Charles E. Fox, executive secretary of the real estate association, said 170 million dollars would be an ample levy for Chicagoans to pay, and specified places where large cuts could be made from the 1941 levy of 191 millions against Chicago property.

The letter recommended, among other items, the elimination of 6 million dollars in poor relief and a reduction of 3 millions in corporate [operating] expense. The city schools, it was suggested, could reduce their educational fund spending by 2½ millions, and their building fund outlays at least 5 millions.

The county was requested to consider cutting its highway spending from $2,419,000 to $483,800, and the Cook county forest preserve was urged to reduce its road expenditures from $454,000 to $363,000.

Fox indicated that if the realty boards' suggestions were carried out a tax rate of $8.58 would be ample in Chicago, compared with $9.89 in 1941, and gloomy guesses of $10.12 for 1942 unless the cuts are drastic.

Professor Defends Workers.

Prof. Leland, who is chairman of the board of the Chicago Federal Reserve bank, said there were many underpaid public servants, usually important workers, and that care should be used in ordering economies. It is necessary for the city and county to plan for postwar years in an effort to convert huge war plants to civilian use, he added.

Most of the benefits, he said, might go to the suburban areas unless action is taken to prevent Chicago "dying at the center." Efficient spending of tax money, he added, is one of the best ways of preventing municipal deterioration. As a "pipe dream" he advanced the idea that Cook county might absorb the city of Chicago and plan county-wide operations with economy.

The Civic federation reëlected Newton C. Farr president, Douglas Sutherland executive director, and Harland C. Stockwell assistant executive secretary.

MOTORIST KILLED BY AUTO-TRUCK CRASH; 3 HURT

A. P. Collins, 52 years old, 329 Concord place, died in St. Francis hospital last night of injuries suffered when his automobile collided with a truck driven by James Zeilenga, 32, of 304 West 108th street, at 124th street and Elizabeth avenue yesterday.

Zeilenga was taken to Jackson Park hospital with back injuries, and two passengers in Collins' car, Salvatore Tesson, 47, of 860 North Sacramento avenue, and Leonard Zeman, 47, of 5117 Kimbark avenue, are in St. Francis hospital with internal injuries.

Angel Petere, 51, of 244 South Lake street, Aurora, was killed last night when his automobile careened off the fender of a truck he was attempting to pass on route 30, near Plainfield, into the path of an oncoming truck, loaded with steel. W. H. McFadden, 50, of Industry, Ill., a passenger in one of the trucks, received a fractured kneecap and was taken to the Silver Cross hospital in Joliet.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday, 609 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 462 died in Chicago, where 17,854 were injured during the same period.

Boy Visits Grandparents; Swallows Liniment, Dies

Ronald Darling, 2 years old, 1626 South Komensky avenue, died yesterday in Little Company of Mary hospital apparently from the effects of liniment he had swallowed. The child became ill Sunday while on the way home from his grandparents' home near La Porte, Ind. His father, Earl Darling, said it was probable the youngster had swallowed the liniment at the grandparents' home. A bottle was lying on a table during their visit, the father said.

OBITUARIES

Howard C. Knotts.

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 23 (AP).—Howard C. Knotts, 47 years old, aeronautical supervisor of the Illinois Commerce commission and an authority on aviation law, died today. Knotts was general counsel for the American Aeronautical association and editor of the Journal of Air Law, publication of the Air Law institute of Northwestern university. A lieutenant in the 17th aero squadron during the first World war, Knotts was credited with downing eight enemy aircraft. He was twice wounded and was awarded the American distinguished service cross and the distinguished flying cross of Great Britain.

Mrs. Ada McWilliams.

Mrs. Ada McWilliams, 62 years old, wife of the Rev. Mr. H. E. McWilliams, pastor of Shiloh Baptist church, 1821 Wabash avenue, died yesterday at her home, 4518 Wabash avenue. She was a former schoolteacher at Pinkeyville and Marion, Ill. Her husband, two sons, and a daughter survive. Funeral services will be held tomorrow evening at Shiloh church.

Mrs. Sarah H. Short.

Mrs. Sarah H. Short, a resident of Chicago for 65 years, died yesterday in her home at 3450 Walnut street. She was 78 years old and a native of Scotland. Mrs. Short was a sister of William Lormier, former banker and United States senator, who died in 1934. She is survived by her husband, Daniel Short; three daughters, a sister, and a brother.

John R. Cella.

Services for John R. Cella, past president and charter member of local No. 1 of the Bill Posters' and Billers' union organized in 1895, will be held at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow at St. Viator's church. Burial will be in Calvary cemetery. Mr. Cella, who was 75 years old, died Sunday at his home, 3827 North Hamlin avenue. He is survived by his widow and one son.

Elmer T. Peterson.

Funeral services for Elmer T. Peterson, retired Kane county business man, who died Saturday, will be held tomorrow afternoon in the Baptist church in Wasco, where he lived. He was 66 years old. Mr. Peterson was township treasurer for 20 years and supervisor of Campton township for nine years. His widow survives.

Edward Yeomans.

Word of the death of Edward Yeomans, 77 years old, retired manufacturer of pumping machinery in Chicago, was received yesterday by friends here. Mr. Yeomans died on Sunday after a short illness in Ojaii, Cal. He formerly lived in Hubbard Woods.

Miss Catherine Smith.

Services for Miss Catherine Smith, an employé of Rand McNally & Co. for 52 years until her retirement in 1935, will be held at 10 a. m. tomorrow in Blessed Sacrament church. She was 74 years old. Miss Smith, who lived at 7019 South Michigan avenue, died Saturday in St. Bernard's hospital.

FLASH! SHERIFF O'BRIEN MAKES ARREST AT LAST

Sheriff Thomas J. O'Brien, who will leave office on Dec. 7 to become congressman of the 6th district, made an arrest, unassisted, yesterday. His prisoner was Peter Lavorata, 50 years old, 1817 North Winchester avenue, who is accused of filing the fraudulent and disqualified petition nominating Ted [Bartek Bieda] Kantor, radio comedian, as an independent candidate for sheriff in the recent election.

The sheriff said he had known Lavorata for years, and when they met accidentally at La Salle and Madison streets greetings of "Hello, Tom" and "Hello, Peter" were exchanged. Then, the sheriff said, he recalled that Lavorata was wanted, and invited him to O'Brien's office. Since no judges were around to approve Lavorata's $500 bond, he had to go to jail.

'43 APPLICATIONS FOR AUTO PLATES REACH CHICAGO

Application forms for 1943 automobile license plates were released yesterday by Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes. A supply has been received by THE TRIBUNE Public Service offices at 1 South Dearborn street and in Tribune Tower, and are available to motorists. An additional requirement this year is that of the federal government that all motorists show their specific occupations on the application for license plates. Altho the Illinois forms had been printed when the federal request was received, the information can be written in the space designated "Remarks."

THROWS OUT SUIT ASKING $40,000 FROM 4 TAVERNS

M'Kinley Says All Not Equally Liable.

Judge Michael L. McKinley in the Superior court yesterday threw out a suit filed under the dram shop act, asserting that numerous cases of the same kind are becoming a notorious racket. The decision opened the way for an appeal to the Supreme court which would decide whether all tavern keepers who sell drinks to a person are liable for the injuries or damages caused by that person.

The high court never has ruled on this point altho it has upheld the validity of the act in a case involving the joint liability of tavern keepers and the owners of buildings occupied by taverns. The late Gov. Horner vetoed a legislative measure which would have limited liability under the dram shop act to tavern keepers who sell drinks to intoxicated persons.

$40,000 Suit Involved.

Judge McKinley acted in a suit for $40,000 damages filed by Mrs. Vera O'Rourke and Mrs. Anna O'Rourke, widow and mother of Robert O'Rourke, 522 West 42d street, who was fatally injured in a fight on May 3, 1941. His alleged assailant was cleared of blame by a coroner's jury.

O'Rourke's widow and mother charged that his death was a result of intoxicating liquor served to him by four tavern keepers they named defendants. These defendants were Inga Cole of Fox Lake, Raymond Skibb of route 12, near the County Line road, Lake County, John Fleming of 815 West 47th street, and Robert E. Carroll of 4637 Wentworth avenue.

In sustaining a motion to dismiss the suit, Judge McKinley held it was never the intent of the legislature to hold a series of tavern keepers liable. The purpose of the dram shop act, he said, was to restrain taverns from selling drinks to intoxicated persons.

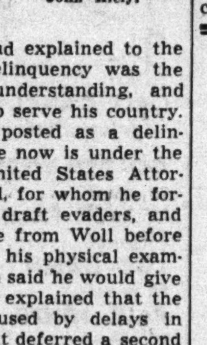
Recalls Old Sidewalk Suits.

"The filing of suits under this act," said Judge McKinley, "is becoming a racket as notorious as the personal injury suits involving the wooden sidewalks of Chicago years ago. Those suits caused such a scandal that the legislature had to pass special legislation to prevent them.

"Now the courts are being burdened by suits under the dram shop act. It is not legally sound to hold equally liable the tavern keeper who sells a man the first drink and the tavern keeper who sells him the drink that causes intoxication and damages."

KIELY IRONS OUT DRAFT TROUBLES; READY FOR ARMY

Assistant United States Attorney John Kiely, who was listed as a draft delinquent last week, went before draft board No. 55 at 360 North Laramie avenue last night for a 30 minute private meeting and emerged with the statement that he would undergo a blood test today and would be inducted into the army Wednesday.



John Kiely.

Kiely said he had explained to the board that his delinquency was the result of a misunderstanding, and that he is ready to serve his country. Since Kiely was posted as a delinquent, however, he now is under the jurisdiction of United States Attorney J. Albert Woll, for whom he formerly prosecuted draft evaders, and must get a release from Woll before he can appear for his physical examination. Woll, who said he would give the release gladly, explained that the "mixup" was caused by delays in having his assistant deferred a second time. Kiely was granted a 60 day deferment until Nov. 3 at Woll's request. Woll's plea for a second 60 day deferment to find some one to replace Kiely failed to reach Local Board 55, however, in time to prevent Kiely being posted as a delinquent.

After reviewing the case, Col. Paul G. Armstrong, state selective service director, said the local board had acted according to law, and that Kiely should appear for induction.

AL MAKES NUTS WITH SQUIRRELS AND IS CRACKED

New York, Nov. 23 (AP).—Alfred Felardo is a fellow even a squirrel can't trust.

Felardo, a 50 year old carpenter, was in Yorkville Court today, because, said the arresting policeman:

1. He brought eight cloth decoy squirrels to Central park yesterday, each holding a peanut in front paws—which can't be done without a park permit.

2. Felardo set them up and then proceeded to tantalize the live nut crackers by waving a tree branch on which he had tied—yes, tied—nuts and grapes.

3. Some of the squirrels leaped toward the tree branch and made it; others missed because Felardo yanked the branch away just at the opportune moment.

Magistrate Thomas A. Aurelio fined him $5, which was suspended.

$50,000 DE LEE MEMORIAL FUND IS GIVEN U. OF C.

A gift of $50,000, ultimately to be increased to $100,000 and to be known as the Joseph B. De Lee Memorial fund, was accepted by President Robert M. Hutchins of the University of Chicago at a meeting held yesterday evening in Leon Mandel hall.

The fund will provide for young doctors wishing to specialize in obstretrics fellowships at the Chicago Lying-In hospital, where Dr. De Lee, who died on April 2, devoted half a century to establishing obstetrics as a medical science.

Importance of postnatal care was stressed by Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the American Medical Association journal.

President Hutchins said the gift "will enable the university and the hospital to take one more great step along the path—the highest standard of obstetrical practice—marked out by Dr. De Lee."

CITY WILL TEST RAID SIRENS AT 8 A. M. TOMORROW

Chicago's 20 Victory air raid sirens will be tested at 8 a. m. tomorrow, Ralph H. Burke, deputy defense coordinator, said yesterday. Factories and institutions wishing to test their sirens at that time may do so. The Victory sirens will sound a 2 minute alarm which will be followed by 2 minutes of silence, and then another 2 minute alarm. This second alarm will be followed by 4 minutes of silence, and finally 4 minutes of all clear signals.

BOY, 17, ADMITS SLAYING BOSS FOR $20, AUTO

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 23 (AP).—Police said today they would ask a first degree murder warrant for a 17 year errand boy who, they said, confessed that he beat to death with a poker and chair his benefactor, Wellington J. Beam, 65 year old secondhand dealer, for the $20 proceeds of a sale of a second hand stove, and then took the man's car for a two state joyride with young friends.

The killing occurred Friday and the boy was in custody of traffic police 24 hours before it was discovered. The car theft and slaying were linked when the boy, arrested in suburban Dearborn after leading police a 70 mile an hour chase, broke down in a confused story of how he obtained the auto.

Police discovered the battered body yesterday afternoon, lodged between several ice boxes and stoves in the rear of Beam's store, a bloody trail indicated it had been dragged from the place of attack. The boy had run errands for Beam, who had frequently let him use his car.

2 WIVES HE WED IN MONTH CHARGE MATE IN SWINDLE

Desplaines street police last night were holding two warrants for the arrest on confidence game charges of Joseph Japich, 51 years old, whose address is unknown.

The warrants are signed by Mrs. Albie Kroupa Japich, who accused him of mulcting her of $6,850 after marrying her in an Indiana justice court last July, and by Mrs. Anna Sebor Japich, who charges that Japich, whom she married in Indiana the previous month, took $1,880 from her.

Japich was arrested in 1933 by state's attorney's police, who accused him of swindling insurance companies of thousands of dollars, and who at that time called him the "champion insurance swindler."

Yesterday Mrs. Albie Japich filed a suit for separate maintenance against Japich in the Superior court.

YOU WIN, GORGEOUS! BUT WHERE'D YOU DIG UP ALL THAT BOUNCE? YOU USED TO BE SUCH A RUN-DOWN, SCRAWNY, LITTLE THING
"USED TO BE" IS RIGHT! BUT I LEARNED I HAD A "VITAMIN B COMPLEX DEFICIENCY"
SAY THAT AGAIN IN LITTLE WORDS
IT JUST MEANS I WASN'T GETTING ENOUGH OF THOSE AMAZING VITAMINS FOUND SO PLENTIFULLY IN YEAST. LACK OF THEM KEEPS MILLIONS BELOW PAR. SO-I STARTED DRINKING 2 CAKES OF FLEISCHMANN'S YEAST A DAY
YEP-DRINKING FLEISCHMANN'S IN NICE, COOL TOMATO JUICE. THERE, MISTER, IS A REAL VITAMIN COCKTAIL! CONTAINS EVERY VITAMIN KNOWN TO BE NEEDED FOR HUMAN NUTRITION, BUT YOU GOT TO STICK TO IT A WEEK OR LONGER. MANY SEE RESULTS IN ABOUT SEVEN DAYS
BY GOLLY-MAYBE FLEISCHMANN'S WOULD DO THINGS FOR ME, TOO!
THAT'S TALKING, MY LAD! GET A WEEK'S SUPPLY OF FLEISCHMANN'S; IT KEEPS PERFECTLY IN THE REFRIGERATOR! BUT DON'T JUST DROP A CAKE IN TOMATO JUICE. MASH THE CAKE IN A DRY GLASS, ADD A LITTLE JUICE, STIR TILL BLENDED, THEN, FILL UP THE GLASS AND DRINK! DEE-LICIOUS!
If you bake at home, remember that the vitamins in Fleischmann's Yeast go right into whatever you bake with no great loss in the oven.

ADOPT UNIFORM BANK POLICY TO SPUR FINANCING

Examiner Agencies Agree on Rules.

BY LELAND FORRESTER.

In one of the biggest steps yet taken to facilitate the sale of government securities to help finance the war, all the state and national examining agencies yesterday agreed on a uniform policy in examining banks. The action, bankers said, lifted a cloud of uncertainty that has been worrying banks as the pressure for participation in the government financing increased. Policies of the various agencies differ to a large extent.

The policy, in effect, is this: All the examining agencies have agreed not to criticize a bank for holding large amounts of government securities, for borrowing from the federal reserves to buy them, or for lending to individuals who wish to buy such securities but have only anticipated income with which to do so.

Uncertainty is Removed.

Many banks subject to more than one examining agency were reported much concerned over the possibility that one agency would refuse to approve an investment and loan condition which another had sanctioned. The announcement of the adoption of a uniform policy removes such uncertainty.

The announcement was made by Chester Morrill, secretary of the federal reserve board, Washington, D. C., in a message to C. S. Young, president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago, and to other reserve bank presidents, containing a joint statement of the examining agencies. The agencies are the controler of the currency, the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation, the federal reserve board, and the state bank examiners as represented by the executive committee of the National Association of Supervisors of State Banks.

Pledge No Deterrents.

The joint statement said in part:

"There shall be no deterrents in examination or supervisory policy to investments by banks in government securities of all types, except those issues which are ineligible by the terms of their issue.

"In connection with government financing, individual subscribers relying upon anticipated income may wish to augment subscriptions by temporary borrowing from banks. Such loans will not be subject to criticism, but should be made on a short term of amortization [installment] basis fully repayable within periods not exceeding six months.

"Banks will not be criticized for utilizing their idle funds in making such investments and loans, and availing themselves of the privilege of temporarily borrowing from, or selling treasury bills to the federal reserve banks when necessary to restore their required reserve position."

Plan to Notify Banks.

All banks will be notified of the joint action by one or the other of the four agencies, and the federal reserve banks will send a copy of the statement to members of the Victory Fund committees which are pushing the sale of government securities thruout the nation.

One effect of the joint policy will be to remove any inequalities or disadvantages in relation to the bond program in the matter of examinations as between reserve system member and nonmember banks or between state and national banks, banking authorities said.

Meantime there were indications that reserve board and treasury efforts to increase the sale of securities to banks outside Chicago and New York is making headway. The weekly report of the reserve board showed that banks in 99 cities outside Chicago and New York increased their holdings of treasury bills by 110 million dollars during the week ended last Wednesday. That was the largest such gain ever reported for one week for those banks, officials of the reserve bank said.

BARRETT CONSIDERS SUING KENTUCKY FOR BACK TAX ON BRIDGE

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 23 (AP).—Attorney General George F. Barrett said today that he is "considering" filing suit in the United States Supreme court, possibly within the next 30 days, to collect over $27,000 from the state of Kentucky.

The amount is an estimate of unpaid taxes on the Paducah-Brookport bridge which extends into Massac county.

Teagle Retires as Chairman of Standard Oil

New York, Nov. 23 (AP).—The resignation of Walter C. Teagle, long a driving force in the vast operations of the billion dollar Standard Oil company [New Jersey] from the position of chairman of the board was accepted today by directors.

Walter C. Teagle.

R. W. Gallagher, who started out in the gas business, was advanced to succeed Teagle as chairman. He had been a vice president and director in charge of finance.

Teagle asked to be relieved of his duties under the company's retirement age policy, President W. S. Farish announced. He will be 65 years old next May.

Two other directors retired at the same time, having elected to permit their replacement by younger men. Board members may retire at 60, but must retire at 65.

Changes Stir Speculation.

Beside Teagle, those leaving the board are E. J. Sadler, also a vice president, and D. L. Harper.

The changes in high executive positions stirred speculation that they might be connected in some way with the recent federal inquiry into Standard's prewar relationship with the big German chemical trust, I. G. Farbenindustrie, but company spokesmen denied this.

Backing the denial was the elevation to a directorship of Robert T. Haslam, who as a technical expert made the company's original investigation of German oil-chemistry processes and recommended the contracts which the government criticized. Haslam, also a vice president, recently had moved from research work to general manager of domestic sales.

Agreements Defended Again.

Standard long has defended those pre-war agreements, and Teagle asserted again today that thru them the United States gained valuable formulas for the manufacture of synthetic rubber, aviation gasoline, and toluol, a component of modern explosives.

The other replacement was Frank W. Pierce, former executive assistant to Farish, who has headed the company's industrial relations work for nine years.

Eugene Holman and Wallace E. Pratt, both directors, were named to succeed Sadler and Gallagher as vice presidents.

This was Teagle's third attempt to retire. He first asked to be relieved when Farish succeeded him as president in 1937, but continued with the understanding he be freed from active work and receive his regular annuity rather than a salary. He became associated with the old National Defense Mediation board and only last September, on the advice of his doctors, left the War Labor board.

SOUTH. PACIFIC REPORTS HIGHER OPERATING NET

Southern Pacific railroad yesterday reported net operating income last month was $13,425,047, compared with $7,663,328 in October, 1941. Net operating income for the 10 months ended Oct. 31 amounted to $78,150,756, against $52,463,526 in the corresponding period last year.

October net operating income of the Gulf, Mobile & Ohio railroad was $650,748, compared with $338,877 a year earlier. Net operating income for the 10 months ended Oct. 31 was $4,447,372, against $3,217,487.

PRIORITIES REVOKED FOR FIVE LARGE TVA POWER GENERATORS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 23 (AP).—WPB today revoked priority ratings which had been granted the Tennessee Valley Authority for construction and installation of five power generating units at three locations. Their total capacity was to have been 190,700 kilowatts, and completion had been scheduled for 1944.

Stoppage of work, said WPB, was in line with its policy of curtailing the flow of critical materials to construction projects.

Projects ordered stopped were: Hydro generating Nos. 3, 4, and 5, each with capacity of 32,000 kilowatts, at Kentucky dam on Tennessee river near Paducah, Ky. [units 1 and 2 not affected and completed in 1943.] Steam turbine unit No. 4, 60,000 kilowatts, at Watts Bar plant in East Tennessee. [Units 1 and 2 in operation and No. 3 to be completed in 1943. Hydro unit No. 3, 66,700 kilowatts, at Fontana dam on Little Tennessee river in North Carolina. [Units 1 and 2 not affected.]

LIMIT DELIVERIES OF CANNED FRUIT TO BAR HOARDING

Washington, D. C., Nov. 23 (AP).—In an order designed to minimize consumer hoarding, the WPB today limited deliveries by wholesalers to their customers of canned fruits, vegetables, and fruit and vegetable juices.

A previous order restricted deliveries to wholesalers from canners in specified periods. The amendment today extends the quotas to cover sales by wholesalers, without changing the amount of canned goods available to civilian consumers.

Monthly deliveries of canned fruits were limited to 9 per cent of sales in the base period [between Jan. 1 and Aug. 31], and deliveries of vegetables and fruits and vegetable juices to 10 per cent.

The WPB directed canners to set aside approximately 6,300,000 cases of the 1942-'43 pack of grapefruit segments, grapefruit juice, orange juice, and blended orange and grapefruit juice combinations for the armed forces and lend-lease.

WLB DRAWS UP ELIGIBILITY FOR FORD VACATIONS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 23 (AP).—Eligibility rules for vacations for 115,000 Ford Motor company employés were drafted by the War Labor board in a directive order supplementing a decision of Oct. 16, which ordered vacations ranging from 40 to 80 hours as part of a collective bargaining contract.

The first vacation period is to end Nov. 30, following which eligible employés who have not received time off for vacations are to receive vacation allowance. The company is empowered to pay the allowance instead of granting time off with pay when production does not permit vacations.

Full time employés of one to five years employment, as of July 1, are entitled to one week's vacation with pay for 40 hours. Those with five years or more will receive two weeks or 80 hours pay.

Hart Schaffner & Marx to Make Women's Clothes

Hart, Schaffner & Marx, Chicago clothing maker, will begin the manufacture of women's coats, sport jackets, and skirts after a lapse of two years, Meyer Kestnbaum, president, said yesterday. They wil be sold only to regular customers with established women's clothing departments.

Karker Terms Renegotiation Act Necessary

Maurice H. Karker, chairman of the war department price adjustment board and chairman of the Jewel Tea company, Barrington, Ill., pleaded last night for support of governmental contract revision powers as a means for perpetuating the American system of free enterprise.

The law passed by congress last April was necessary, he told the Economic club of Chicago in the Palmer House, to protect the vast majority of business men and industrialists from the "unscrupulous 1½ per cent" who sought to profit unduly from war contracts.

Had the minority been allowed to realize exorbitant profits on their orders, public wrath would have arisen against all businesses with war orders, he said, and "the dangers facing private enterprise and the free system of American economy" would have been accentuated.

Act to Bar War Millionaires.

"It is a mistake to construe the act as criticism of the vast majority of American business and industrial organizations," he told an overflow audience at the club's 61st dinner meeting. "It is simply a reflection of the people's determination that there shall be no war millionaires this time."

Altho reaction to the renegotiation of war contract law has been bitter because of fear and dislike of its principles Karker asserted there was nothing new in the statute except the power to recapture profits which the government board considers excessive. The principle of reconsideration of unit prices before the expiration of a contract is common both in industry and government, he said.

"The greedy minority is responsible for this and other types of restrictive legislation," he said. "We finally have an instrument to prevent the 1½ per cent from tarring the rest of us. We intend to remove the cause for retaliation by the people which would result if this war produced another crop of millionaires.

Seek to Avert Inflation.

"We hope, thru keeping the cost of producing war materials down to a reasonable level, to lessen the amount which must be raised eventually to pay for the war, and to minimize the danger of disastrous inflation."

There is no rule of thumb in arriving at reasonable profits, but each contract is considered on its own merits and contract prices are revised only after the exercise of sound judgment, he assured his audience.

Karker sought the aid of business in obtaining capable men for the boards of the price adjustment agencies operating thruout the country and warned that if production costs are allowed to rise unduly America will suffer in the scramble for world markets after the war.

OPA TO EXTEND RATION BANKING THRUOUT U. S.

Not to Have Effect on Consumer.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 23 (AP).—"Ration banking," a system to facilitate the handling of ration coupons which consumers turn in to dealers, will be placed in operation thruout the nation some time in January, Price Administrator Leon Henderson announced tonight.

The 14,000 commercial banks which offer checking accounts will handle ration coupons in similar checking accounts. They will act as agents for OPA and will be reimbursed by the government for their expenses.

How New System Works.

The system provides that a grocer, for example, may deposit with a bank all the sugar ration coupons he collects from his customers. When the grocer wants to replenish his sugar stock, he can draw a "check" on his rationing account for the requisite number of coupons and deliver the check to his supplier. The latter, in turn, deposits the check in his own rationing account to be cleared thru the banks the same as checks for money.

Dealers in more than one rationed commodity will have separate accounts for each. A general store thus might have separate rationing accounts in the same bank for sugar, coffee, and gasoline. Accounts will be kept in pounds or gallons instead of dollars and cents.

No Direct Effect on Consumer.

The system will affect only retailers, distributors, and large users of rationed goods, such as restaurants, who buy from wholesalers. It will not affect the householder directly.

Under the present system, stamps, coupons, and various forms of certificates must be taken to local ration boards to be exchanged for certificates of larger denomination to be used to replenish supplies of rationed goods.

The decision to use "ration banking" thruout the nation to simplify ration transactions for business concerns and to relieve local boards of an increasing clerical burden was made on the basis of a successful test of the plan in the Albany-Schenectady-Troy area of New York. Thirty-three banking offices are coöperating in the test which began Oct. 28 and will continue until it is merged with the national program.

OPA Judgment "Confirmed."

Henderson said the New York test has confirmed OPA judgment that banks are able to handle the millions of ration documents that are exchanged monthly better than the local ration boards, and that they are better able to safeguard ration paper.

"Minor changes will be made in the system now in operation in the 18 cities and towns in the Albany area," said Henderson. "They are being worked out in coöperation with local bankers and representatives of the American Bankers associaiton. But in the main the system has proved its practicability, and will be extended as soon as possible to the entire country."

Tenders for Half Billion in Treasury Bills Accepted

Washington, D. C., Nov. 23 [Special].—The treasury announced tonight that tenders have been accepted for $501,722,000 of 91-day treasury bills to be dated Nov. 25 and to mature Feb. 24. The total applied for was $1,149,026,000 with bids ranging from 99.925 to 99.906. The average price was 99.907.

Ships and Planes to Get Call in Production Program Shift

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

Aircraft and ship construction will be given new emphasis in a revised war production program, Washington, D. C., officials said yesterday. Output of tanks, certain types of ammunition and some other items in which large stocks have been built may be reduced in order to get a more balanced program.

Plants in the Chcago area as well as in other parts of the country are expected to be affected by the revised program and it is likely there will be some temporary curtailment of employment. A few instances already have been reported but censorship regulations prevent the publication of details.

Plan to Improve Products.

THE TRIBUNE on Sunday pointed out that important war production changes were to be expected. Among the reasons for the changes cited were to enable the fighting forces to take stock of what they had on hand, to permit a changeover from production to more needed goods, and to permit improvements in war products.

Washington officials said that the program is still under study. Orders have been issued to stop construction on some plants—including a large castings plant at Hammond—to expedite the speeding up of facilities already in existence. Construction programs are being whittled down in many lines, new plant construction being concentrated chiefly on aircraft, high octane gasoline, alumnium and alloy steels, the officials said.

Pause to Take Inventories.

Among other Chicago area plants said to be affected by changed plans are two huge steel products plants in the Gary district.

The government's action was described in Chicago war production circles as "a pause for contemplation," a pause which will enable the army and navy to take an inventory of stocks on hand so that they can determine what is most needed for the future.

Experiences under fighting conditions on actual battlefields are now enabling the armed forces to decide what things are most needed.

Production of certain war items, it was said, is now sufficiently large to effort the demand was for speed in production.

The inventory taking period will enable the diversion of materials to relieve shortages and permit diversion of man power to points where needed most.

DAVIS ASSERTS POWER OF WLB SHOULD DIE WITH ENDING OF WAR

New York, Nov. 23 (AP).—William H. Davis, chairman of the War Labor board, urged tonight universal adoption of arbitration clauses in collective bargaining contracts.

Speaking at a banquet of the American Arbitration association at which he was awarded the association's 1942 medal for distinguished service in industrial relations, Davis also asserted that in his opinion the powers of the WLB were not suitable for adjusting labor disputes in times of peace.

"The foundation upon which the War Labor board machinery is erected is the 'no strike-no lockout' agreement for the duration of the war," he said. "If and when that agreement ends, the foundation will be withdrawn and it will be necessary, in my judgment, to abandon the structure; perhaps with the erection of a new structure on the basis of a new agreement."

Davis said that in normal times the economic strength that lies behind the right to strike or lockout "is by all odds the most effective single agency for settling labor troubles."

REVEALS OUTPUT EXCEEDS QUOTAS FOR GUN MOUNTS

Jersey City, N. J., Nov. 23 (AP).—Westinghouse Electric Elevator company, in accepting its third official citation for outstanding war production, today disclosed it is exceeding contract quotas in turning out mounts for rapid fire anti-aircraft guns.

Frank C. Reed, president, also made public a letter from Rear Adm. William R. Furlong, commandant of the navy yard at Pearl Harbor, in which the 1.1 inch anti-aircraft gun was called "a wonderfully useful piece of work."

"They were the most effective and accounted for quite a number of Japanese planes," said Adm. Furlong, referring to the attack last Dec. 7 on Pearl Harbor.

Continue 'Coupon Credit' for Fuel Oil Until Nov. 30

Washington, D. C., Nov. 23 (AP).—The OPA today extended to Nov. 30 the fuel oil "coupon credit" system which permits rationed consumers to buy fuel oil by giving promissory coupon notes in lieu of coupons. Sales by this method were to have stopped tonight.

RULES ELECTRIC UNION'S BOYCOTT WAS UNLAWFUL

New York, Nov. 23 (AP).—Special Master John Kirkland Clark held in a decision filed in federal court today that the boycott activities of local No. 3, the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers [AFL], are unlawful and contrary to provisions of the Sherman anti-trust act.

His decision said that the plaintiffs, 11 manufacturers of electrical equipment engaged in interstate commerce, are entitled to a declaratory judgment against the union.

The special master maintained the boycott imposed by the defendants against electrical equipment manufactured by the plaintiffs had the effect, in many instances, of trebling the costs of installing similar equipment in the New York metropolitan area.

Plaintiffs in the case included Allen Bradley, Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing comany, Clark Controller company, and Cutler-Hammer, Inc., all of Milwaukee, Wis.; General Electric company, New York, and Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, Pittsburgh, Pa.

The suit against the union was filed in 1937 and trial of the action was held in 1937 and 1938 before the special master.

Truck Operators, Unions Open Wage Negotiations

Representatives of the Cartage Exchange of Chicago and two unions opened negotiations yesterday in the offices of the exchange at 343 South Dearborn street on a new wage scale contract covering 10,000 truck drivers. The unions are local No. 705, International Brotherhood of Teamsters, AFL, and local No. 705, Chicago Truck Drivers' union, an independent organization. The drivers are seeking higher wages.

NELSON NEARS SHOWDOWN ON RULE OF ARMS

Acts to Take Power from Military.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 23 (AP).—Conflict between military services and the War Production board over control of munitions production has reached a new showdown stage, informed sources disclosed tonight.

Charles E. Wilson.

The clash which some officials feel may determine whether WPB Chairman Donald M. Nelson or the military authorities shall be boss of the war economy was touched off by Nelson's action Thursday in naming his vice chairman, Charles E. Wilson, as top man over aircraft production.

This move would withdraw from the army and navy their sole authority to schedule and expedite warplane output and would vest it in Wilson, president of General Electric company, now on leave.

First Show of Power.

The announcement was Nelson's first such assertion of power over a field which has been strictly military, and was taken despite the fact that Nelson had not succeeded in obtaining the countersignatures of Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox and Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson on the letter establishing Wilson's new aircraft powers.

Counter signatures were sought because the proposed aircraft board is a joint operation of the army, navy, and WPB, and because it would throw into partial discard previous joint memoranda under which authority over production and procurement was defined.

Nelson even went to the length of naming the army and navy men who would sit under Wilson on a new top aircraft board which would wield the policy making power in achieving the new 1943 aircraft goal—double the present output. They are Maj. Gen. Oliver P. Echols, chief of the material command of the army air forces, and Rear Adm. Ralph E. Davidson,

1 does it—in Philadelphia

There are some things which do not increase their efficiency in relation to the number used at the same time. Tooth brushes are one we think of. Newspaper advertising in Philadelphia is another.
For instance: An independent check made among customers of 7 Philadelphia stores in a large national drug chain showed that 75% of the customers turned to The Bulletin when looking for advertising of products sold in drug stores.
More and more advertisers are pursuing this policy: A thorough advertising job in The Bulletin is the primary requisite to a thorough job in the important Philadelphia market.
In Philadelphia—nearly everybody reads The Bulletin

WAR BENEFITED STOCKS HIT MOST IN WIDE RETREAT

'Peace' Issues Also Fail to Get Anywhere.

New York, Nov. 23 (AP).—War stocks again were the principal casualties in a stumbling market today, but most peace issues also were unable to get anywhere.

The list sold off from the start and recoveries were few in all departments. Declines of factions to 1 point were general, with a few isolated sufferers down about 3. Only about one in five issues traded managed to do better than hold even.

The Russian offensive, combined with generally good war news from Africa and the South Pacific, continued to give some traders the impression that the war might be shortened, and accounts were adjusted in many instances on this basis. Profit cashing restrained post-war favorites.

Average Takes Tumble.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was down 0.4 to 39.7, equaling its big drop of last Tuesday. Transfers totaled 632,210 shares, compared with 658,980 in last Friday's previous full session.

Steels, motors, rails, coppers, aircrafts and "Blue Chip" industrials were notably backward.

Brokers reported some trimming of accounts by institutions and individuals to switch into the 9 billion dollar treasury financing in December.

American Telephone lost 1⅝ in the wake of the federal action toward reduction in long distance rates.

CHICAGO STOCKS SAG.

Losses predominated on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday. Of the 126 issues in which trading volume was 31,000 shares, 38 closed higher, 61 were lower, and 27 were unchanged.

Chicago corporation and Sterling Brewers, low priced issues which led in volume, both were unchanged. Midland United preferred lost ½ point, closing at 8⅝ on turnover of 1,650 shares. Commonwealth Edison was down ¼ to 20½. Montgomery Ward common sold up ⅜ to a new 1942 high of 33¾, and Eddy Paper moved ahead 2¼ points to a new top of 22 in limited trading.

RAIL BONDS WEAK.

New York, Nov. 23 (AP).—Declines of fractions to a point or so in a sizable number of railroad issues unsettled the bond market today.

Losses in industrial and utility sections were mostly small and partly offset by scattered gains, but most rails closed at the day's lows. Comparatively light dealings were taken to indicate most of the selling was by speculative elements with profits made on the recent advance.

TREND TO EASING IN STEEL SUPPLY PINCH INDICATED

Officials Caution Against Too Much Optimism.

"Slight indications of a trend" toward an easing of the steel situation are noticeable, Chicago steel men said yesterday. They agreed, however, that definite forecasts are impossible because conditions may change for the better or worse over night depending upon changing war production needs.

Officials of the big steel companies turning out war materials in the Chicago area said the brighter outlook in the steel supply situation was caused by recent reductions of lend-lease requirements for steel as well as requirements for steel used for structural purposes. Because much of the war construction program has been completed, "structural mills soon will be looking for work," one source said. Better distribution of products was listed as a contributing factor.

Favorable Signs Reported.

The fact that light gauge sheets and smaller sizes of bars are more readily available was said to indicate a more favorable situation. Mills now are in a position to take properly rated business in light gauge sheets, altho this is not true of heavy gauge sheets. Demand for alloys and special products is still heavy.

An official of the WPB regional office said the scrap situation is much better in the Chicago area now than it was last summer when most mills had only about a two week supply and one big company had only enough to last a day and a half. A 30 day supply now is on hand, but a 90 day stock is needed by the first of the year to assure capacity production thruout the winter.

Full Production Needed.

Meanwhile, Hiland G. Batcheller, director of the WPB steel division in Washington, D. C., announced that recent reports of an easing of the steel situation were likely to prove misleading without a complete explanation. "All the steel this nation can produce is needed now and will continue to be needed until the war is won," asserted Batcheller.

"It is true that the backlog of orders on books of producers is lower than it was several months ago," he said. "However, this is a direct result of action by WPB to restrict the tonnage of steel which can be purchased so that it may be related more closely to the available supply.

"Under such a program it is only natural that demand for certain steel products will be much lighter than for others. However, demand for other types of steel is steadily growing."

HOGS ARE STEADY ON BIG DEMAND; SUPPLIES HEAVY

The broadest buying of the season yesterday held hog prices at the stock yards steady. Despite the heaviest Monday receipts since last January, supplies moved rapidly to packers and the clearance was the earliest in recent weeks.

Prices averaged $13.60 a hundred pounds, even with Friday and Saturday prices. Top loads, at $13.70, were even with Saturday's high. Farmers shipped 28,500 hogs, including direct shipments to packers, compared with 25,207 a week ago.

SELLING PUSHES DOWN NOVEMBER POTATO FUTURES

November potato futures declined 4 cents to close at a five week low of $2.87 per 100 pounds on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday, and January eggs broke 0.25 cent a dozen from ceiling levels to 37.65 cents. Liquidation depressed the potato delivery, which dropped 8 cents at one time from the ceiling of $2.95 established by the exchange, effective yesterday.

Onions for January delivery eased a cent in light trading to $1.59 a 50 pound sack. All butter futures, January potatoes and November and December eggs were steady at ceiling prices. January egg prices were influenced in part by reports of relatively unfavorable storage movements.

Cotton Futures Prices Fall Under Heavy Liquidation

Cotton futures prices plummeted $2.30 to $2.60 a bale yesterday under heavy selling attributed to peace hopes in the wake of the Russian attack near Stalingrad and allied advances elsewhere. Brokers said the liquidation apparently was in anticipation of a falling off of war inflated demand for cotton textiles.

WPB, MILITARY NEAR SHOWDOWN OVER ARMS RULE

Nelson Takes Bit in Teeth as Munitions Boss.

assistant chief of the navy's bureau of aeronautics.

From reliable government sources who can not be named, it was learned that Nelson sent copies of the letter outlining the new setup to the war and navy secretaries early last week to be countersigned.

After waiting three or four days for a reply and receiving none, Nelson announced the aircraft program at a press conference. It was generally understood that Wilson would get equally sweeping powers shortly over other key branches of military production.

Two significant meetings followed Nelson's announcement. On the following day, Lieut. Gen. Brehon Somervell went into conference with the WPB chief. Gen. Somervell is chief of the army's services of supply and frequently has been mentioned in recent months as ready to step in and take over war production when and if the Nelson regime failed. Nothing but rumors followed the Nelson-Somervell parley, but the rumors said the conversation was direct and meaningful on both sides.

Goes to White House.

The second conference took place today; Nelson went to the White House. An authorized WPB spokesman gave the only hint of what went on there when he was asked if Nelson went to offer a resignation.

"The hell he did," the spokesman replied.

It is now a week since the letters went to Stimson and Knox and a considerably longer time since the discussion of the new aircraft program began with the army and the navy. The countersignatures have not yet been received.

Whether Nelson will be successful in withdrawing the aircraft scheduling and expediting powers will be shown when and if an aircraft board is set up on the Nelson pattern.

The WPB chief has frequently stated his belief that spotty production records in aircraft and several other military items can be blamed largely on faulty scheduling; that is, on the failure to balance output of component parts of a plane, tank or other weapon, so that they flow to the assembly point on time and in ample supply.

Fundamental Issue.

There was every indication that Nelson considered the point important enough to stand upon as a fundamental issue. He is relying on the Presidential executive order which created WPB and made him production administrator. It declares the "federal departments . . . shall comply with the policies, plans, methods, and procedures in respect to war procurement and production as determined by the chairman [of WPB]."

The functions which Nelson now seeks to remove from the army were assigned to them on March 18, in a joint memorandum signed by Nelson and by Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson. The army at that time was given the authority to produce war goods, "including the preparation of schedules," and "to expedite production."

If the new aircraft plan goes thru, those two powers would be taken away and handed over to Wilson. Other functions delegated to the army by the March memorandum—such as contract making, inspection, acceptance, and issuance of delivery instructions—undoubtedly would remain in the army's hands.

FEDERAL PROBE OF FRAUD IN WAR ORDERS STARTS

Boston, Mass., Nov. 23 (AP). — The federal grand jury here today began a nation-wide investigation of war contract frauds involving the abuses of priorities by manufacturers and contractors, with more than 40 witnesses summoned for questioning.

The investigation was instituted by the department of justice with Edmund J. Ford, head of the regional office of the anti-trust division, assigned to handle the case.

About 3,000 documents have been subpenaed for examination. The alleged war frauds involve manufacturers in Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Connecticut, New York, Maryland, Ohio, Kentucky, and California.

American Airlines, Grumman Report Increase in Earnings

American Airlines, Inc., yesterday reported net profit for the nine months ended Sept. 30 was $2,407,480, equal to $3.91 a common share after preferred dividends, compared with $2,106,234, or $3.39 a share, in the corresponding 1941 period. Federal income taxes took $1,847,100, against $1,040,600 last year.

Profit from the sale of aircraft and other property, which accounted for $216,811 a year ago, was not included, instead, the company said, the $1,086,389 excess of proceeds over book value for "involuntary conversion" of aircraft is to be credited to replacement reserve for future purchases of aircraft equipment.

Operating revenues was $20,093,175 in the nine months, compared with $19,393,769 in the corresponding part of 1941. Revenue miles flown shrank to 21,665,771 from 23,766,559, but revenue passenger miles rose to 309,745,343 from 302,145,244.

Grumman Estimates Profit.

Grumman Aircraft Engineering corporation, Bethpage, N. Y., yesterday reported indicated earnings were $4,558,944 for the six months ended June 30, before taxes and subject to contract renegotiation. This compared with a profit of $747,218 in the first half of 1941. The company is handling large government contracts.

This year's earnings include profit on fixed price contracts computed according to the corporation's established practice on contracts completed "cost plus" contracts. In addition, 5 million dollars estimated earned before taxes on uncompleted fixed price contracts which are expected to be finished within the year.

"Because of the uncertainty of the amount of reduction of gross earnings which will result, the company believes that no accurate estimate of earnings for the six months ended June 30 can be derived from the foregoing information," the report said.

CIPSCO Earnings Decline.

Central Illinois Public Service company reported net earnings declined to $583,565 in the quarter ended Sept. 30 from $630,697 in the corresponding quarter last year. During the 12 months ended with September profits were $2,154,040, compared with $2,032,131 in the 1941 period.

Net income of the Brown Shoe company, St. Louis, declined to $919,515, or $3.73 a common share, in the fiscal year ended Oct. 31, from $1,012,118, or $4.11 a share, the preceding year. Federal and state income taxes were $595,000 this year and federal excess profits taxes were $1,030,000, compared with $580,000 for federal and state income taxes a year earlier.

People and Events

Theon Wright, director of public relations for Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc., has been commissioned a major in the army. Maj. Wright, who has been with TWA since 1938, will serve on the staff of Col. T. B. Wilson, chairman of TWA, who is in charge of the service of supply for the Southwest Pacific area under Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Maj. Theon Wright.

John H. Morse, former chief of the commercial and economic information division, bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, Washington, D. C., has rejoined the Buchen company, Chicago advertising firm, as economic consultant.

Harold C. Bull, Gertrude H. Hellenthal, and Harold A. Shircliffe have been appointed trust officers of the Chicago Title and Trust company.

A priorities training course, presented thru coöperation of the WPB's Chicago priorities district, bureau of field operations, will begin tonight at the Central YMCA college, and continue each Tuesday and Thursday thru Dec. 17.

CEASE CURBING UTILITIES, SAYS BANKERS' GROUP

"Needless hampering" of public utility operations should be suspended for the duration to allow the industry to contribute its utmost to the war effort, the Investment Bankers Association of America recommended yesterday. A committee of bankers studying the utility industry reported that the most disruptive influence of government has been the forced dissolution of holding companies.

The committee urged that governmental reform of the industry be sidetracked for the more important job of winning the war and that policing be confined to existing powers under fraud provisions of state and federal laws.

Arbitrary dissolution of holding companies under "death sentence" provisions of laws administered by the Securities and Exchange commission was termed the most acute factor "seriously retarding the industry's war effort."

SIX DAY MEETING TO SHOW ROLE OF CHEMIST IN WAR

Conference to Open at Sherman Tonight.

The vital part in the war program played by chemists and their efforts to improve efficiency and increase production will be emphasized at the national chemical exposition and conference opening in the Hotel Sherman tonight and continuing for six days. The events are sponsored by the Chicago section of the American Chemical society.

More than 100 companies identified with the business will present exhibits calling attention to new ideas in chemistry, developments in the industry, and inventions in various stages of commercial utilization. Four war agency exhibits are included.

Seek to Save Chemicals.

The War Production board's industrial salvage section will show methods of saving essential chemicals for war production. The alien property custodian's office will exhibit some of the items manufactured under patents seized from the enemy. The Chicago quartermaster depot will display concentrated rations developed by the subsistence research laboratory. The army's Chicago ordnance district will emphasize the conservation of critical materials.

Synthetic rubber products, substitute and alternate items for critical materials, and new and rare chemicals will be included in the exhibits of private manufacturers.

First Session Tomorrow.

The first session of the conference is scheduled for tomorrow afternoon. Speakers at the various sessions will include Dr. Vladimir K. Zworykin, research specialist for the RCA Manufacturing company, Camden, N. J.; Dr. G. L. Clark of the University of Illinois; S. Donald Perlman of the WPB chemical section, and F. W. Mohlman, director of laboratories for the Sanitary District of Chicago.

Offer 2½ Million Refunding Bonds of Sanitary District

Halsey Stuart & Co. and a group of associated investment bankers today are offering $2,500,000 of Sanitary District of Chicago 2 per cent refunding bonds, series F, due 1963. The bonds are callable at the rate of $125,000 a year beginning in 1944. Offering is being made at prices to yield 0.80 to 2.00 per cent, according to optional maturity dates.

GRAIN PRICES DIP FRACTIONALLY ON BREAK IN COTTON

Government's New Corn Loan Rate Effect Small.

Closing grain futures prices on the Chicago Board of Trade were fractionally lower yesterday on selling attributed largely to a break in cotton and weakness in securities. The corn market showed little reaction to the announcement of the government loan rate for 1942, apparently since the rate was about in line with trade expectations.

At the close wheat was down ⅜ to ½ cent a bushel and corn was off ⅛ cent. Oats declined ⅜ to ⅝ cent and rye ⅞ cent. Soy beans were unchanged to ½ cent higher in a nominal market.

Rye Futures Most Active.

Rye futures were the most active. The grain, which showed independent strength Saturday, was firm at the opening, with gains ranging to ⅛ cent when an accumulation of overnight buying orders disclosed a lack of offerings. Profit taking and local selling developed, however, and depressed prices more than a cent at one time. Little change was reported in cash rye, with purchases said to be limited to small lots of milling quality grain.

Wheat was easy at the outset on selling credited to large Chicago operators. Brokers with milling connections gave the market some support on the decline, but demand was not active. At the extreme, prices were off about ¾ cent. Trading remained restricted pending announcement of the government plan for the sale of loan wheat in the open market.

Corn was off ¼ to ⅛ cent at the opening under selling by local and cash interests. The later demand was not sufficient to rally prices.

FIX CORN LOAN RATES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 23.—The department of agriculture announced today that the Commodity Credit corporation would lend farmers in commercial corn producing counties in the corn belt from 73 to 89 cents a bushel on their 1942 corn crop. Rates in Illinois will range from 79 to 85 cents.

These rates average about 6 cents per bushel higher than in 1941, officials reported. Outside the corn belt states loans will be available at rates varying from 57 to 74 cents.

All loan rates are based upon corn grading No. 3 or better, except for moisture content and test weight. The rates for corn grading "mixed" will be 2 cents less than the announced rate. The loan rate this year is 85 per cent of the parity price for corn on Sept. 15, as computed by the department of agriculture. The corn parity price for the entire country was 98.2 cents per bushel. Loans will be made only to farmers who have complied with the 1942 corn allotment provisions.

25 CENT DIVIDEND IS ORDERED PAID BY SOUTHERN AIR

Directors of Chicago and Southern Air Lines, Inc., yesterday declared dividend of 25 cents on the common stock and a regular quarterly payment of 17½ cents on the 7 per cent cumulative convertible preferred stock. The previous disbursement on the common was 50 cents on June 30. No payments were made on the common stock last year.

The Hall Printing company, Chicago, authorized an extra dividend of 25 cents and a quarterly payment of 25 cents a share on the common.

NEW CROPS.

The United States Sugar corporation is said to be experimenting with new crops in the everglades of Florida. What is the nature of these experiments, and how is the company financing them? Please provide a brief report on recent operations.—F. S. W.

Answer: The United States Sugar corporation has been experimenting with the extraction of oil from lemon grass for use in the making of cosmetics and perfume. As a by-product of this process stock feed is obtained by combining the grass with molasses after the oil is extracted. Experiments are also being made in the extraction of high grade starch from sweet potatoes. The company has found certain areas of the everglades suited for growing peanuts for oil, flour, and meal. The company normally extracts raw sugar from cane grown around Lake Okeechobee in the Florida everglades.

Stockholders of the company in 1941 authorized a new preferred stock issue of 200,000 shares of series A 6.4 per cent $25 cumulative participating convertible preferred stock, of which there are 128,389 shares outstanding. Of proceeds from the sale, approximately $2,800,000 is to be used to finance the everglades expansion and diversification program.

Capitalization of the company consists of 1,511,436 outstanding shares of $1 par common stock, 7,343 shares of $5 cumulative preferred no par stock, and the new issue of 128,389 preferred shares. The funded debt totals $283,791.

A record of financial operations for recent years ended June 30 follows:

	Sales.	Net income.	Div's com.
1942	$7,587,375	$ 876,633	$ .30
1941	6,386,194	1,050,805	.25
1940	5,299,241	846,680	...
1939	4,688,653	798,841	.10
1938	3,223,434	621,688	.30

Current assets on June 30, 1942, totaled $6,792,745, compared with current liabilities of $1,861,944. Total assets were $15,092,439.

The company was incorporated in 1931 in Delaware as a successor to the Southern Sugar company. Property and other assets of the Everglades Sugar Plantations, Inc., recently were purchased.

DIVIDEND.

Has Hecker Products corporation paid dividends on its common stock this year? What did it pay in 1941?—G. C.

Answer: Hecker Products has paid 15 cents per share on its common stock this year. Dividends for 1941 totaled 60 cents.

The Gumps
Mama Is Angry
OH, BIMBO, DEAR! IN MY EXCITEMENT, I FORGOT TO PHONE MAMA TO TELL HER ABOUT LITTLE FERDINAND'S FIRST TOOTH!
AND I, IN MY JOY, FORGOT TO INVITE HER TO OUR NEW HOME—I'LL ASK HER TO DINNER! WE'LL SHOW HER HOW WELL WE'RE GETTING ON IN OUR NEW HOME!
11-24
SO THIS IS WHAT I RAISED MILLIE FOR, EH? SO YOU COULD MAKE A POT-WRESTLER OUT OF HER?
NO, NO, MAMA—YOU MISUNDERSTAND—WE'RE LEADING AN IDYLLIC LIFE—WE'VE NO ROOM FOR A MAID HERE, AND FURTHERMORE, I'M DOING THE COOKING!
WHAT? YOU, THE WORLD'S RICHEST MAN DOING YOUR OWN COOKING, EH? HONEYMOON NEST, EH? IT'S MORE LIKE A CUCKOO'S NEST! YOU USED TO BE JUST AN ORDINARY WHACK, BUT NOW YOU'VE GRADUATED!! GOOD-BY!!!
MAMA! MAMA!! REMEMBER YOUR BLOOD PRESSURE!

DON'T BORROW
Borrowing is not always the proper solution to a money shortage. But there are times when a loan is both provident and wise. For instance you might borrow to move into a more economical house, nearer to work . . . to pay cash for medical and dental attention before your favorite doctor is called into the armed forces . . . to buy winter fuel and clothing . . . to clean up past due charge accounts and other bills . . . to buy tools, to pay union dues, or to take special courses for a new job on war production . . . and for many other purposes equally worthy. Loans $10 to $300. "While you wait" service to those who phone ahead or come prepared to present proper identification and evidence of employment.

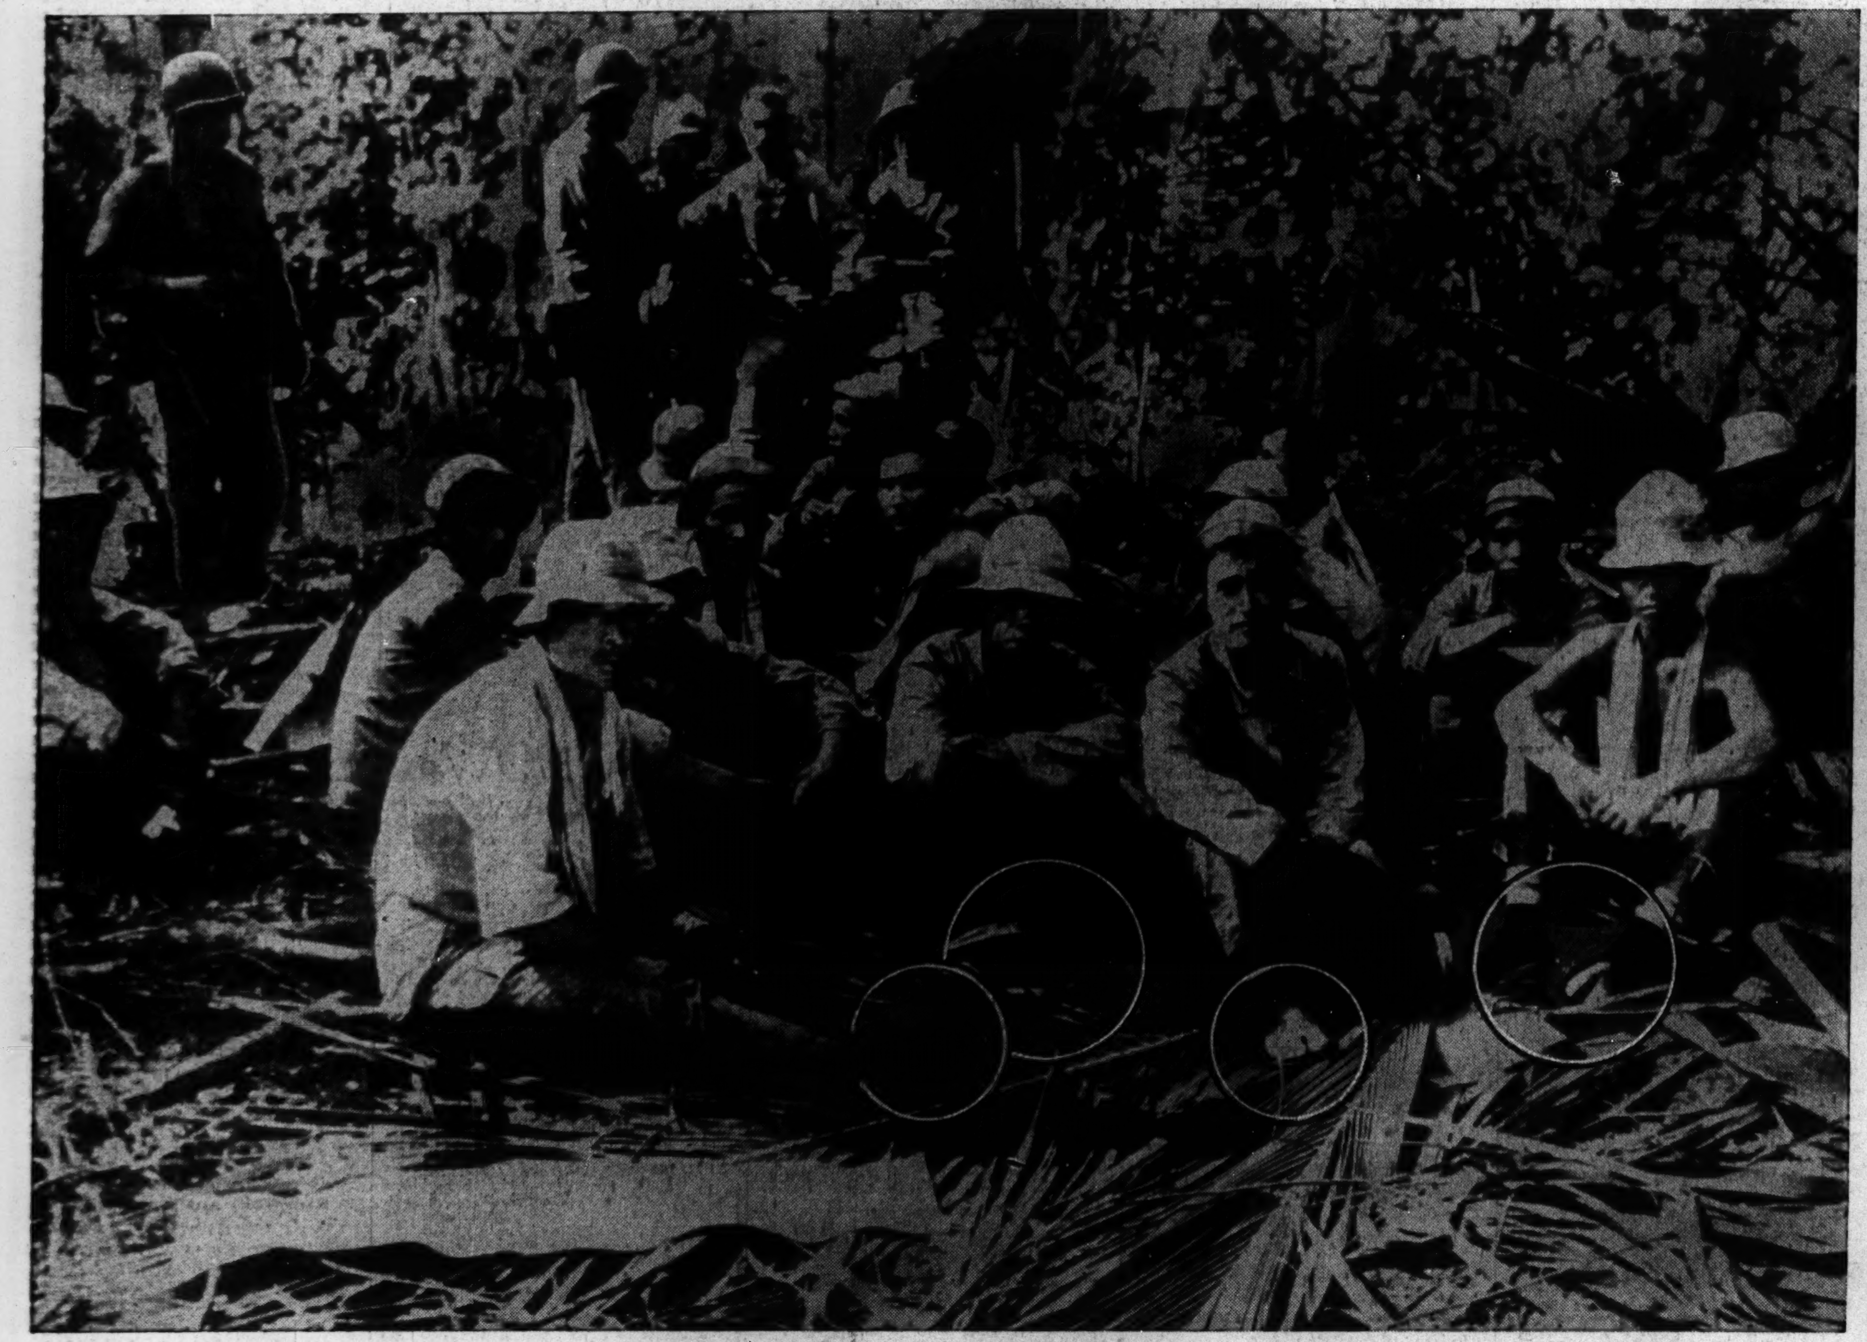
Cloven Toed Shoes Help Jap Snipers—Fined $5 for "Tantalizing" Squirrels—Sen. Bilbo Is Exultant



[Associated Press Wirephoto: From U. S. Marine Corps.]

This group of Japanese prisoners wearing cloven shoes (in circles) was captured by marines on Guadalcanal Island. All wore the split-toed shoes, which are common to the Japanese. The official description, passed by censors, says the shoes made it easier for the Japs to climb trees for sniping.
